Designing is an art that Mother Nature has learned well. This is the pattern she created on one person's plate glass door during the recent cold wave that struck this area.

New Year's message from Premier Strom

As we cross the threshold into a new year, it is with pleasure that I extend, personally and on behalf of my colleagues, sincere best wishes for a happy, purposeful and prosperous 1969. Before we close the door on 1968, I truly trust that the old year left you some measure of joy, happiness and pleasant memories.

As a province, we experienced positive progress during the past year, characterizing the dynamic growth of Alberta's economy which we have every confidence will continue through and beyond 1968. All major areas of our economy, with the exception of grain farming, showed substantial gains. As a result of weather conditions, crop yields were variable and grades suffered due to wet harvest weather and early frosts. While the cash return to farmers showed a 25 million-dollar increase for live stock and dairy products, the over-all farm cash income is expected to be down about 2% on the figures presently available.

In other economic developments, mineral production, basically crude oil, natural gas and sulphur, registered an increase of 11% to 1.1 billion dollars and the outlook for coal production is bright for 1969 and future years, in view of the firm contracts which have been signed with Japanese interests.

Construction programs in the province registered a 16% investment increase during the year and there will be a substantial carry-over of work for the winter months and well into 1969.

Manufacturing shipments were 5% higher than in 1967, indicating a total for the past year of 1.8 billion dollars — double the volume of only ten years ago.

While the incidence of strikes was abnormal in Alberta, unemployment during 1968 was minimal and labour income 10% higher than the previous year. In dollar terms for Alberta, most figures have been encouraging but it is early, as yet, to determine to what extent the apparent increases represent inflation and to what extent they are "real". Nevertheless, 1968 was characterized, in Alberta, by its continued dynamic growth which, as mentioned earlier, should continue through 1969 and beyond.

Before closing, I would like to pay tribute to the Honorable Ernest C. Manning, whose vision inspired the development of our social and economic life to its present position. Few men have devoted so much of their life to the services of the citizens of any realm. His leadership, diligence, honesty and interest in the freedoms and involvement of

Annual 'pot-luck' supper is on Jan. 7th in Tofield

Jack Lampitt, president of the Tofield Community League, has extended a cordial invitation to all members of the community to attend the annual "pot-luck" supper and annual meeting of the Community League.

The meeting and supper will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 7, beginning at 6.30 p.m., with the meeting to be held in the meeting-room of the Community Centre.

The meat for the "pot - luck" supper will be purchased by the League; guests are being asked to bring contributions for the rest of the meal as well as supplying their own dishes and cutlery.

The annual "pot-luck" suppers have proven to be popular events in the past, and directors of the League are hoping that such will be the case this year. The outgoing executive will report on its activities during the past year and a new slate of officers elected to serve for the coming year.

Mr. Lampitt pointed out that this meeting is more important than ever as, in 1969, Tofield will celebrate her Diamond Jubilee, and much planning is necessary to insure that all celebrations will be entertaining and smoothly run off. Some plans have already been submitted, but much more planning is needed.

HANS LEITER

New Year's message from Grant MacEwan

To the people of Alberta and those who live beyond, I offer my best wishes for a happy and healthful year in 1969. May the New Year holiday be a time of great joy and may the months to follow bring the fulfillment of high hopes in Canada and throughout the world.

And what are those hopes? I hope there will be peace, real peace, the kind that springs from understanding and good will. I hope Canada will be able to play a big part in the promotion of peace and understanding. I believe the world is waiting for unselfish leadership. It does not follow that it must come from the most powerful or the most prosperous nations. It might be Canada's role to provide an example and promote understanding in a needy and troubled world community. We have been strikingly fortunate in the resource gifts we have inherited but we cannot isolate ourselves and live alone with those treasures. More than ever, we must live as citizens of a world community in which the neighbours are virtually within gunshot of each other.

We as Canadians are in the food business. It may not seem like the most profitable of enterprises but it is the one of maximum importance and it can be the means of extending the Canadian influence. And while we are exporting wheat and fertilizers and other food essentials perhaps we could be exporting,

Democratic license

One of the great dangers of democracy was seen the other day almost immediately after the breathtaking achievement of the United States in sending three men orbiting around the moon, when Madalyn Murray O'Hair announced she would take steps to have aeronautical authorities ban prayer from space.

Her move came after the three astronauts took turns in reading verses from the first chapter of Genesis, dealing with the creation of the world, and winding up with a fervent prayer for peace on earth and a Merry Christmas to all. To millions of television viewers and radio listeners, it was a most moving and a most profound experience.

After successfully challenging the program of prayers in American schools, Miss O'Hair now proposes to ban prayer from space, without acknowledging there is at least one fundamental difference, in that while school prayer carries some element of compulsion with it, there is absolutely no need for her or anyone else to listen to prayers broadcast from outer space. She is perfectly free to tune out, shut off the set, simply to ignore it.

But in no way conceivable to us does the democratic freedom of the individual's right to worship or not worship confer on Miss O'Hair the right to deny someone else the right to follow his own conscience. It is intolerable that restrictions should be sought against these intrepid and courageous men, who, surrounded with all the finest engineering skills and prowesses of this technological period, could still find it within themselves to acknowledge a still higher intelligence, and a still higher conscience.

If later astronauts, or indeed Miss O'Hair herself wish to soar into space and preach atheism, this should be their privilege. Yet at no time should she ever forget that the democracy which permits her to object in this exceptional manner can be found only in those countries which accept and support the Christian belief she so assiduously tries to knock down.

Have their points

The following article, from an editorial service of the United Church of Canada, is one which appeals to us strongly, and not, we think, merely because it is somewhat kind to the newspaper. The point is one which is worth making, and is well written.

RESOLUTIONS HAVE THEIR POINTS

New Year's resolutions used to be as much a part of the holiday season as turkey and mince pie, but in this era of "the organization man" they have gone out of fashion. Amid committees, commissions, and other social structures that engulf us, where 'they' do things rather than 'I', we tend to avoid responsibility, even for ourselves. While this anonymity may be comfortable, in a very short time it makes life meaningless.

This year let's bring back the personal resolution, if only as a gesture of defiance against the corporate lump that so depressingly sucks us under.

Here are a few for consideration. Resolve to be committed to something — be it ever so small — and see it through. It may be canvassing for United Appeal, or the Red Cross; visiting a shut-in regularly, giving leadership to a group of youngsters; even adding to community integrity by paying bills on time.

Develop a healthy skepticism about what is on TV. Every shot of every situation does not automatically contain the truth; photography can be as slanted and shallow as some verbal reporting. (Since you can go back and re-read what is in the print, the newspaper doesn't 'hit-and-run' in the same devastating way.)

Refuse to be a slave of the 'newest' just because it makes the most noise, whether it be art, politics or morals. For every genuine insight there are ten sterile, blind alley bypasses whose misdirection has to be corrected before we can progress. Will and Ariel Durant, who won the Nobel prize last year for their final volume of the "History of Civilization" wrote recently: "It is good that new ideas should be heard for the sake of the few that can be used; it is good also that next ideas should be compelled to go through the mill of opposition. This is the trial heat which innovations must survive before being allowed to enter the human race."

This year, let's not shrug helplessly before every problem: let's stand up and be counted.

Show holiday spirit...

"While driving this holiday season, show the holiday spirit, don't consume it" says the Dominion Automobile Association, writing a series of catchy slogans to impress the need for every driver to help stop the human slaughter on Canadian highways and streets.

President of the association, R. W. Trollope urges motorists to seek "more recreation and . . . less wreckreation." Another catchy item: "The morgue stays open all night — but so do the cab companies. Keep yourself out of the headlines by adopting a sane and sensible attitude when behind the wheel, or when drinking."

Crop insurance

Enclosed is a copy of my letter to the editor, Lacombe Globe, which I ask you to re-publish, including this letter.

With the extension of crop insurance to almost all areas of the province this spring, it is important that farmers be made aware of the shortcomings of the plan. Soon they will be approached by agents of Alberta Crop Insurance Corporation, who will exist in glowing terms the benefits to be derived from insuring.

They will carefully refrain from pointing out that in the present form the contract is a stacked deck, subject to the whims and bias of agents and appraisers, too often blindly backed by the corporation and even members of the government.

Yours truly,
K. A. Robins,
R.R. 1, Tees, Alberta

To The Editor,
Tofield Mercury.
Sir:

Farmers should note that the term "all risk" as used by Alberta Crop Insurance Corporation, is at best a misnomer; at its worst, fraudulent and misleading.

Section 12 of the contract states: "The corporation shall have the power to declare that the loss or damage caused in the crop year of the insured is due to negligence, misconduct, or poor farming practices of the insured".

Not satisfied with this power over the life of the insured, the corporation goes on to insist that the insured shall be liable in any case for the full premium.

Corporation literature states: "You will not be kept waiting for an appraisal", section 5E of 1966 policy contract stated, "The corporation may at its discretion defer until a date later in the crop year the appraisal of an insured crop that has been damaged".

Mr. Patching, general manager of the corporation, in a letter dated December 9, 1966, attempted to evade the responsibility of appraisal in the crop year by quoting section 5E out of context, stating: "The corporation has the right to defer the appraisal of an insured crop that has been damaged".

Hon. Mr. Patrick, a minister of the Alberta cabinet, condoned this evasion in a letter of May 4, 1967, stating: "It is true that the contracts of the insured did not make specific provision for delaying unsettled claims on unharvested acreage until spring, but on the other hand, it did not specifically preclude deferment, and thereby it became the policy of the board and will be spelled out in future contracts".

Note well here that what is not said, and even more, has been blessed by the honorable cabinet minister.

Farmers will readily draw the proper conclusion when a written insurance contract can be evaded in such a manner.

From the Rimbey Record of November 27, 1968, under Bluffton Agricultural Society news, Alberta Crop Insurance Corporation Agent Harvey Hillis is reported as stating the insurance program was not a government program, and must stand on its own feet.

From "all risk" pamphlet:

Q—Why are the Alberta and federal governments jointly sponsoring crop insurance?

A—Because no commercial all risk insurance is available.

H. A. (Bud) Olson, federal agricultural minister, states: "I should first indicate to you that while the federal government contributed 25 per cent of the necessary premiums and 50 per cent of the cost of administration incurred by the province in the operation of the crop insurance programs, the actual administration of the scheme is a provincial responsibility dealt with entirely by the crop insurance agencies".

It would appear that agent Hillis has either failed to do his homework, or ACIC is a private corporation with operating costs borne by both governments and free to make any amount of money.

Mr. Hillis was also quoted as saying: "It should be used as insurance, not as a method to make money".

—gasp, from an "all risk" pamphlet, "Even in the worst of years, Alberta all risk insurance provides assurance that you will at least break even; that you won't be out of pocket for your year's work".

As the program was only designed to return costs, not to provide a profit, it is difficult to understand agent Hillis' thinking on the matter. It could mean that if an insured farmer's claim was $1,000, agent Hillis and appraisers might think he should only receive $400, just to make sure that he did not "make money".

From an ACIC news letter of November 16, 1966: "In a nutshell, crop insurance is beneficial because the insured farmer knows that come what may, he has a guaranteed income from his grain crops".

Many farmers will be inclined to agree with the shell part, remembering the old shell game in which the players always came up losers.

Yours truly,
K. A. Robins.

Japan develops new rice

Japanese scientists are using gamma rays to develop a kind of rice which contains as much as double the amount of protein found in the normal varieties.

A project of the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry, the experiments in the production of this "high protein" rice are being carried out at the Radiation Plant Breeding Farm at Omiya in the Ibaraki Prefecture, north of Tokyo.

Several hundred varieties of rice plants were planted during 1962-63 and were subjected to gamma rays from Cobalt 60 for 28 hours a day during the growth period. In addition to a higher protein count, the mutations caused by the gamma rays produced short-stem plants, circular rice grains and even plants that grow in a prostrate condition.

The government proposes to continue improving the new type of plant during the next five years until varieties are fixed. The seeds from these plants will then be distributed generally to farmers. The government hopes that within the reasonably near future this high protein rice will be used for the daily meals of the Japanese people.

In addition to improving the diet of the people, the growing of this rice will make a significant contribution to the national agricultural economy because fishing and livestock industries, the main source of animal protein, tend to be depressed in Japan.

Also, the production of high protein rice will have significance beyond Japan. It will be beneficial to the millions of people living in countries where rice is the food staple.

Yurkowski-Hallett vows exchanged November 16

A lovely November wedding took place in the Tofield United Church on November 16th when Rosemary Hallett, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hallett, became the bride of Joseph Yurkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Yurkowski. Rev. S. Bessey performed the double-ring ceremony.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white point de elegance fashioned in simple lines with empire waist. A lace coat which fell into a train at the back completed her costume. Her shoulder-length veil was caught with a crystal tiara and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only jewellry was a cultured pearl pendant.

The bride's sister Margaret was bridesmaid and wore a blue velvet gown and carried pink and white carnations. The groom was attended by his brother Gary. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Roy Brown of Calgary sang beautifully "The Lord's Prayer" at the beginning of the service and "Lord Most Holy" during the signing of the register. Mrs. Stinson played the wedding music.

The bride's mother wore a suit of teal blue with a corsage of pink carnations and the mother of the groom wore a red suit with a white corsage. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the basement of the church after which a wedding dance was held at the Lindbrook Hall. For her going away costume the bride chose a purple suit with white fur trim.

The bride and groom will make their home in Edmonton.

Goodman - Kauffman rites solemnized on November 9th

The Salem Mennonite Church near Tofield was the scene of a lovely fall wedding on November 9, when Grace Lavonne Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyal J. Kauffman of Tofield and Edwin Laverne Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Good of Carstairs, were united in marriage.

Pastor Harold Boettger performed the ceremony, and Pastor Gordon Burchert of Carstairs gave a short meditation.

Nuptial music included several numbers by a quartette consisting of Gwen Boettger, Lucille Wideman, Dennis Boettger and Calvin Laufer, a trio number by Gwen Boettger, Lucille Wideman and Sharon Sider, and a solo by Ellen Lauber, sister of the bride, during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of white lignda. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses with streamers of rosebuds.

Miss Eunice Sitter, friend of the bride, was maid-of-honor and the bride-maids were Miss Gloria Good, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Audrey Martin, friend of the bride. They were matching floor-length, empire waist dresses of turquoise peau-de-soie, and carried crescent-shaped bouquets of bronze and yellow 'mums.

Attending the groom were Glen Buschert of Carstairs, as best man, and Edward Buschert of Carstairs and Joseph Kauffman, brother of the bride, as groomsmen. Gaylord Kauffman, cousin of the bride, and Donnie Hurt served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kauffman wore a navy dress with a corsage of yellow carnations and bronze 'mums. Mrs. Good, mother of the groom, chose a peacock blue suit, and her corsage was also of yellow carnations and bronze 'mums.

A reception for the guests was held in the Tofield Community Centre. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink roses. On either side were candles centered in lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. Walter Lutz, brother-in-law of the bride, served as master of ceremonies. Mr. Merlin Rauhfer proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Misses Eunice and Sharon Sitter sang and recited a very excellent account of the lives of Grace and Edwin thus far. The quartette also sang an other number.

Miss Dianne Stauffer, niece of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

For going away, the bride chose an olive green three-piece suit, with autumn brown accessories and a corsage of autumn colored 'mums.

Out - of - town guests included relatives and friends from Blue Sky, Carstairs, Didsbury, Olds, Red Deer, Edmonton, Three Hills, Kitchener, Ontario, and Kalispell, Montana.

After a short honeymoon the couple will reside in Carstairs.

Hans Mueller, ice Capades comedy star, like most ice comedians, started as a serious competitor. From Zurich, Hans won the Swiss Championship before turning professional. Everitt named prexy of Com. League

by Grace Phillips

More than fifty people attended the Tofield Community League's potluck supper and annual meeting on January 7 in the Community Centre. The supper, as has been the case for many years, was arranged by "Madge" Jacobs and Reed Burchard.

Following grace by Father Serriere and the supper itself, the annual meeting took place, with president J. C. Lampitt in the chair.

The treasurer's report, given by Rita Halvorson, revealed that the debt on the Community Centre has been reduced to $6,300. This reduction was made possible by the various League enterprises. Bingos brought in $944; July 1 celebration, $1,475; theatre operations, $380.14. Hall rentals and popcorn sales also contributed.

Mrs. Georgia Christensen read Mrs. Freebury's library report, stating that 145 books per week went out of the library, twice the number issued weekly in 1962; 3,087 books are on hand. The library membership is 194, 70% of whom are country residents. $1,400 has been spent during 1968 on books and supplies.

Mrs. Hazel Patterson's Cancer Campaign report showed a total of $700.50 remitted from this area.

Mr. Lampitt, in his president's report, reviewed a successful year's activities. The Scouts had received support; a debenture driving course sponsored; the library had been refurbished; repairs to the hall roof had been completed; cutlery and dishes had been brought up to 300 settings at the hall kitchen; junior sports had been supported; a cup presented to Donald Rudolf at

MacDuff Ottawa Report

Stroke of fate

OTTAWA, — Postponement of the constitutional conference to February is an apt symbol of new uncertainties that cloud the prospects for national unity. Scheduled for mid-December, the conference had to be put off when the Premier of Quebec, Jean-Jacques Bertrand, was rushed to hospital with mild circulatory trouble and was ordered to rest for a few weeks.

Mr. Bertrand's illness was a stroke of fate, as unpredictable as it was unfortunate. But that's the way it seems to be in the Quebec political scene just now, with social and nationalistic forces beyond the control of the elected Government.

The most striking example is directly linked with Mr. Bertrand's absence from the capital. Under the leadership of Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal, the Union Nationale Government caved in to nationalistic pressure and shunted Mr. Bertrand's Bill guaranteeing the school rights of the English - speaking boys in Quebec City would rather have Mr. Cardinal as Premier.

It even had second reading—approval in principle—in the Assembly.

CHARGE TREACHURY

Opposition Leader Jean Lesage, whose Liberals voted against sending the Bill to committee where it could easily die without ever becoming law, said the manoeuvre smacked of treachery against Mr. Bertrand. He was at least not far wrong in suggesting that some of the back-room boys in Quebec City would rather have Mr. Cardinal as Premier.

Daniel Johnson, premier for just over two years until his death in September, worked best in Bind situations and his regime spawned a group of influence brokers centred in his own office and in the Quebec Information Office. Some observers felt that Mr. Bertrand was moving them out, and that they have been striking back by promoting Mr. Cardinal, whom they apparently feel would be more manageable.

The language Bill was a clear case where the Government was not in control of events. The Bill was drafted in response to the situation in the Montreal suburb of St. Leonard where Catholic school trustees in September started to phase out English-language classes attended largely by Italian immigrants.

TIDE OF VIOLENCE

Then it was sidetracked in response to nationalism opinion that reached its climax with the celebrated children's march when high school students in their late broke windows at the legislature to register their disapproval of the Bill.

This vandalism was only an example of a broader tide of violence that seems to be sweeping Quebec. Goons broke up voting by Quebec Liquor Board workers on settlement of their lengthy strike. Bombs have become almost routine in Montreal. Strikers near Sherbrooke occupied their factory, just like the French workers last Spring.

The movement surrounding Mr. Bertrand's leadership of the Union Nationale Party is also part of a pattern. Mr. Lesage has been contending with the ambitions of some of his fellows — notably former education minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie and Pierre Laporte, the former Minister of Cultural Affairs and of Municipal Affairs—ever since his election defeat in 1966.

CONTINUING CHANGE

Nor is even Rene Levesque secure as leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois. Disfundment of the move initially assembled pour l'Independance Nationale has liberated a wave of determined separatists that is entering his party and could overthrow him in favour of a more militant leader, like former MDN leader Pierre Bourgault, when they feel the time is ripe.

There are also some encouraging elements in the picture, although they could easily be upset. For example, under Mr. Bertrand, Quebec's intergovernmental policy seemed to be turning from France and French Africa to more limited goals in North America.

RECOMMEND INTERVENTION

The war is not yet over, but Ottawa seems to have won a couple of major battles with its invitations to international conferences in Niamey, capital of Niger, and Kitshasa, capital of Congo-Kinshasa, early this year. The Niamey conference has been billed as an important step towards establishment of la Francophonie as a cultural community of French-language nations. The Kinshasa talks on education are successor to the Gabon and Paris conference last year attended by Quebec ploys.

The Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism has also issued a new report, giving new impetus to the recognition of cultural equality won at the first constitutional conference, last February. Its recommendations could be historic if they are acted on. The Royal Commission told Ottawa, in effect, to abandon its historic policy of non-intervention in minority education rights. The federal government should pay part of the cost for providing minority education, it said, among many other detailed recommendations.

CONFERENCE IS INDICATOR

This is in line with the new minorities policy being elaborated by Secretary of State Gerard Pelletier. Designed to help official language minorities—English in Quebec as well as French elsewhere—maintain their cultures, it is part of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's master plan to give Ottawa a more vital role in French Canadian eyes. But overhanging all this is the fluidity in Quebec, as much depends on 2nd MacDuff Report (Cont'd) — the control of party and government that Mr. Bertrand is able to assert when he comes back to his desk.

The clearest indication of what lies ahead may come in February, when the 10 provincial premiers join Mr. Trudeau around the horseshoe table in the Confederation Room on Parliament Hill. If Mr. Bertrand is able to take an active role and commit his province, there will be reason for encouragement. If he looks like a caretaker premier standing pat and spouting the nationalist rhetoric, the present uncertainty could continue for some time.

A winning team

The Tofield High School Girls' basketball team made quite an impression on viewers when they went down to Camrose on Saturday, to participate in an eight-team invitational tournament. The Tofield girls had no trouble in winning all three games they played to emerge as tournament champions. No trouble, may be a bit misleading, because the girls were able to relax in the second half of each contest and let their opposition play themselves out.

Coach Ken Eastlick professes the belief that this year's team is much stronger than was the case last season, and after watching the girls on Saturday, one is inclined to agree. Last season, the girls lost out by a hair in the zone finals, but this year's team look like they could go all the way. Just a little more than a month's time and we'll find out for certain.

The girls certainly were good-will ambassadors for Tofield, as Camrosians were high in their praise, not only regarding their basketball ability but also their excellent conduct and behaviour. Way to go, gals. Now, if only I could collect my hamburger, everything would be A-Okay.

Tourism struggling

The Battle River Tourist Association is making rapid plans for another year, having had their annual meeting and elected a new slate of officers.

This Association, only one year old, sent out 50,000 brochures describing this region to all parts of Canada and the United States as well as countries in Europe. Results of these brochures has been better than expected with the Association's secretary receiving many requests for more information, and estimates are that many more people visited this region in 1968 than ever before. It is almost a certainty that more Albertans from other areas came to visit and went home much impressed.

Two communities in this area, Holden and Ryley have shown a progressive nature in regards to the tourist trade potential by joining the Association, but up until now, the Town of Tofield and the County of Beaver have dragged their feet and are NOT members.

Success is a venture such as this is not an overnight affair. It will be an uphill struggle, but one that should prove successful over the years to come. Tourists have been brainwashed for years to go to the mountains and many feel that there is nothing else to be offered in this province, which of course, is decidedly untrue. People growing up in an area take everything, including some very beautiful scenery for granted and are often surprised when someone (a stranger) comments in a favourable fashion. It is going to be a fight to lure the tourist dollar, but it will be a successful fight if everyone joins in and works together.

Farm situation and outlook

Canada Department of Agriculture says that farmers' total cash receipts declined in 1968 while operating expenses increased.

This year total cash receipts will likely increase, but expenses will increase even faster, resulting in another year of declining profits, says the economists.

Last year farmers spent 13 cent more for pest control and a similar increase is forecast for 1969.

The demand for crop insurance appears to be increasing and total coverage is expected to be greater this year than last.

New math unsuited to modern needs

The new math may not be suited to modern needs for mathematical skills, suggests Canadian University in its report on a recent mathematics conference in Ottawa.

Curt Moser, head of mathematics at Algonquin College's school of technology in Ottawa, maintained that high schools are graduating students with a low mathematics skill — they can't do things like simple interest, percentages and fraction problems even though, through some of the techniques used in the new math, they have high abstract mathematical skill.

New apples

Two new apples of the Golden Delicious type have been developed by the Canada Department of Agriculture's Summerland, B.C. Research Station.

The two apples, as yet unnamed, are similar to Golden Delicious but mature earlier. One is ready to harvest three to four weeks earlier than Golden Delicious, the other, one to two weeks earlier.

For consumers it will mean that fresh apples of the Golden Delicious type will be available over a longer period. Growers will benefit, too, especially in those areas where Golden Delicious does not develop its full quality because of a short growing season.

MacDuff Ottawa Report

Stroke of fate

OTTAWA — Postponement of the constitutional conference in February is an apt symbol of new uncertainties that cloud the prospects for national unity. Scheduled for mid-December, the conference had to be put off when the Premier of Quebec, Jean-Jacques Bertrand, was rushed to hospital with mild circulatory trouble and was ordered to rest for a few weeks.

Mr. Bertrand's illness was a stroke of fate, an unpredictable as it was unfortunate. But that's the way it seems to be in the Quebec political arena just now, with racial and nationalistic forces beyond the control of the elected Government.

The most striking example is directly linked with Mr. Bertrand's absence from the capital. Under the leadership of Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal, the Union Nationale Government carved in to nationalistic pressures and shunted Mr. Bertrand's Bill guaranteeing the school rights of the English - speaking minority into a committee before it even had second reading—approval in principle—in the Assembly.

CHARGE TREACHURY

Opposition Leader Jean Lesage, whose Liberals voted against sending the Bill to committee where it could easily die without ever becoming law, said the manoeuvre smacked of treachery against Mr. Bertrand. He was at least not far wrong in suggesting that some of the back-room boys in Quebec City would rather have Mr. Cardinal as Premier.

Daniel Johnson, premier for just over two years until his death in September, scorned best in final situations and his regime spawned a group of influence brokers centred in his own office and in the Quebec Information Office. Some observers felt that Mr. Bertrand was easing them out, and that they have been striking back by promising Mr. Cardinal, whom they apparently feel would be more manageable.

The language Bill was a clear case where the Government was not in control of events. The Bill was drafted in response to the situation in the Montreal suburb of St. Leonard where Catholic school trustees in September started to phase out English-language classes attended largely by Italian immigrants.

TIDE OF VIOLENCE

Then it was sidetracked in response to nationalism opinion that reached its climax with the celebrated children's march when eight school students in their teens broke windows at the legislature to register their dislike of the Bill.

This vandalism was only an example of the tide of violence that seems to be sweeping Quebec. Gangs broke up wedding by Quebec Liquor Board workers on settlement of their lengthy strike. Bombs have become almost routine in Montreal. Strikers near Sherbrooke occupied their factory, just like the French resistance had Spring.

The uncertainty surrounding Mr. Bertrand's leadership of the Union Nationale Party is also part of a pattern. Mr. Lesage has been contending with the ambitions of some of his fellow-ex—including former education minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie and Pierre Laporte, the former Minister of Cultural Affairs and of Municipal Affairs—ever since his election defeat in 1966.

CONTINUING CHANGE

Nor is even Rene Levesque secure as leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois. Redoubtment of the more militant Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale has liberated a wave of determined separatists that is entering his party and could overthrow him in favour of a more militant leader like former RIN leader Pierre Bourgault when they feel the time is ripe.

There are also some encouraging elements in the picture, although they could easily be misread. For example, under Mr. Bertrand, Quebec's inter-governmental policy seemed to be turning from France and French Africa to more limited goals in North America.

RECOMMEND INTERVENTION

The war is not yet over, but Ottawa seems to have won a couple of major battles with its invitations to international conferences in Niamey, capital of Niger, and Kinshasa, capital of Congo-Kinshasa, early this year. The Niamey conference has been billed as an important step in towards establishment of la Francophonie as a cultural community of French-language nations. The Kinshasa talks on education are successor in the Gabon and Paris conference last year attended by Quebec alone.

The Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism has also issued a new report, giving new impetus to the recognition of cultural equality won at the first constitutional conference last February. Its recommendations could be historic if they are acted on. The Royal Commission told Ottawa, in effect, to abandon its historic policy of non-intervention in minority education rights. The federal government should pay part of the cost for providing minority education, it said, among other detailed recommendations.

CONFERENCE IS INDICATOR

This is in line with the new minorities policy being elaborated by Secretary of State Gerard Pelletier. Designed to help official language minorities—English in Quebec as well as French elsewhere—maintain their cultures, it is part of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's master plan to give Ottawa a more vital role in French Canadian eyes. But overhanging all this is the Bertrand-Quebec, and much depends on 2nd MacEwan Report (Cmd'd) — the control of party and government that Mr. Bertrand is able to assert when he comes back to his desk.

The clearest indication of what is to come may come in February, when the 10 provincial premiers join Mr. Trudeau around the horseshoe table in the Confederation Room on Parliament Hill. If Mr. Bertrand is able to take an active role and commit his province, there will be reason for encouragement. If he looks like a caretaker premier standing pat and spouting the nationalist rhetoric, the present uncertainty could continue for some time.

The Tofield High School Girls' basketball team made quite an impression on viewers when they went down to Camrose on Saturday, to participate in an eight-team invitational tournament. The Tofield girls had no trouble in winning all three games they played to emerge as tournament champions. No trouble, may be a bit misleading, because the girls were able to relax in the second half of each contest and let their opposition play themselves out.

Coach Ken Eastlick professes the belief that this year's team is much stronger than was the case last season, and after watching the girls on Saturday, one is inclined to agree. Last season, the girls lost out by a hair in the zone finals, but this year's team look like they could go all the way. Just a little more than a month's time and we'll find out for certain.

The girls certainly were good-will ambassadors for Tofield, as Camrose fans were high in their praise, not only regarding their basketball ability but also their excellent conduct and behaviour. Way to go, gals. Now, if only I could collect my hamburger, everything would be A-Okay.

Tourism struggling

The Battle River Tourist Association is making rapid plans for another year, having had their annual meeting and elected a new slate of officers. This Association, only one year old, sent out 50,000 brochures describing this region to all parts of Canada and the United States as well as countries in Europe. Response to these brochures has been better than expected with the Association's secretary receiving many requests for more information, and estimates are that many more people visited this region in 1968 than ever before. It is almost a certainty that more Albertans from other areas came to visit and went home much impressed.

Two communities in this area, Holden and Ryley have shown a progressive nature in regards to the tourist trade potential by joining the Association, but up until now, the Town of Tofield and the County of Beaver have dragged their feet and are NOT members.

Success in a venture such as this is not an overnight affair. It will be an uphill struggle, but one that should prove successful over the years to come. Tourists have been brainwashed for years to go to the mountains and many feel that there is nothing else to be offered in this province, which of course, is decidedly untrue. People growing up in an area take everything, including some very beautiful scenery for granted and are often surprised when someone (a stranger) comments in a favourable fashion. It is going to be a fight to lure the tourist dollar, but it will be a successful fight if everyone joins in and works together.

Farm situation and outlook

Canada's Department of Agriculture says that farmers' total cash receipts declined in 1968 while operating expenses increased.

This year total cash receipts will likely increase, but expenses will increase even faster, resulting in another year of declining profits, says the economists.

Last year farmers spent 13 per cent more for pest control and a similar increase is forecast for 1969.

The demand for crop insurance appears to be increasing and total coverage is expected to be greater this year than last.

New math unsuited to modern needs

The new math may not be suited to modern needs for mathematical skills, suggests Canadian University in its report on a recent mathematics conference in Ottawa.

Curt Moore, head of mathematics at Algonquin College's school of technology in Ottawa, maintained that high schools are graduating students with a low mathematics skill — they can't do things like simple interest, percentage and fraction problems even though, through some of the techniques used in the new math, they have built abstract mathematical skill.

New apples

Two new apples of the Golden Delicious type have been developed by the Canada Department of Agriculture's Summerland, B.C. Research Station.

The new apples, as yet unnamed, are similar to Golden Delicious but mature earlier. One is ready to harvest three to four weeks earlier than Golden Delicious; the other, one to two weeks earlier.

For consumers it will mean that fresh apples of the Golden Delicious type will be available over a longer period. Growers will benefit, too, especially in those areas where Golden Delicious do not color well or mature in full maturity because of a short growing season.

Careless campers and forest fires are both out of place in Canada's woodlands. A fire started by a careless camper or smoker in an bone can destroy a century of growth. Our forests are too valuable to be destroyed. They need your protection!

County of Beaver School Committee meets

Minutes of the regular meeting held Tuesday, Dec. 10th., 1968

Present were: Cns. W. A. Doris, A. L. Gibson, G. Knudsen, W. Krupinski, J. H. Roddick and C. W. Sears. Also present: J. E. Allen, C. J. Nord, H. Wilkie and N. Semotiuk, representing Towns and Villages; the Superintendent of Schools, William Buck and Keith Robson, Supervisor of Elementary Education were also present.

The meeting was called to order at 10:10 a.m. by the chairman, Cr. Roddick.

Mr. Semotiuk advised that he had been authorized to attend the meetings on behalf of the Village of Holden by the Village Council. Cr. Roddick explained that he would be welcome at the meeting and that he would be able to enter into the discussions but would not be permitted to vote.

Nick Shibinski presented a prepared report on the teacherages as he found them and recommendations for work that should be done on them before too long. It was moved and carried that a study be made to show the actual cost of operating our teacherages compared with our rents.

Minutes of the annual meeting of the Zone 3 A.S.T.A. were presented. Cr. Roddick presented on the last A.S.T.A. Zone 3 meeting.

A letter from the Department of Labour, Hannan Bright and Heinrich, was read, advising that Human Rights Scrolls were being presented to each of the schools in the Province. Mr. Buck advised that the scrolls for County of Beaver schools had come in and were already hung in the schools.

A letter from Mrs. Lois Lund resigning from her position as custodian of the Bruce School effective December 31, 1968, was read. The Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had contacted Mrs. Lund and requested her to stay on until January 15, 1969, in order to have more time to obtain a replacement. Mrs. Lund had agreed.

It was moved and carried that Cr. Roddick, Dorin, Knudsen and Krupinski, Mr. Buck and Nick Shibinski be a committee to hire a janitor for the Bruce School and that the meeting be held on December 30, at 2 p.m.

Mr. Buck explained the report to explain the new approach to recruitment of teachers that is being tried. Mr. Robson explained that they are organized what they refer to as "Teachers Elect Clubs". One is now operating in Holden and one in Tofield. These groups 12 students who are interested in a teaching career, meet and discuss teaching problems or anything that has to do with teaching and they are also doing a small bit of in-service training in the classrooms in the elementary schools and also doing a little bit of private tutoring for students who need a little extra attention. This program will be continued to see if it is working out.

Mr. Buck presented a policy to be included in the Policy Handbook regarding adult education that had been discussed at the meeting on November 8. The following is a policy recommendation:

It is the policy of the County of Beaver No. 9 to encourage adult education in academic, cultural, or vocational fields. The county will, therefore, make its schools available to the public under the regulations as set out in this manual of instruction.

1. Adult education classes must be held under the general supervision of the principal. The principal will delegate some of his duties.
2. Classes must be self-supporting from fees levied and the $2.50 per hour grant for an instructor given by the Department of Education for approved courses.
3. The regulations under Policy 5010 shall apply with respect to the use of school buildings. In regard to the Pay Phones in the schools, Mr. Buck reported that the Alberta Government Telephones are prepared to install pay phones in each of the four large schools in the County for a trial period, free of monthly toll charge until the end of June, 1970. The continued used of these phones after that time would depend on the amount they would be used. It was moved and carried that we authorize AGT to install pay phones in the schools in Tofield, Ryley, Holden and Viking.

The use of the Viking Caress for skating rink hours was discussed as well as the annual grant to operators of other skating rinks in the County. It was moved and carried that the School Committee authorize the use of the Viking Caress, subject to the hours and rates to be negotiated with the Viking Town Council and that we pay $100 grant to each of the other organizations operating skating rinks within the County.

The Secretary-Treasurer reported that the refund for Sales Tax on the school additions in Viking had been received — the total amount being $2,859.15. It was noted that in the application for the sales tax the original amount claimed was for $6,779.69. However, due to calculations by the excise Tax Audit Dept. in the varying rates, the amount had been reduced to $2,859.15.

Mr. Allen questioned the plays that were put on in the Viking School. The plays had been put on by the Calgary Players and were sponsored by the university in Calgary. He considered that they were good plays and they are part of the educational program. they probably will be presented to the School Committee rather than having them come by them themselves. Mr. Buck advised that the Principal, Mr. Symyrozum had contacted him about the plays and he had given his permission. He had not always had it to the School Committee as there was not time. He also noted that the children were advised that if they were unable to pay payment for these plays that the teaching staff at Viking had a fund that they would use.

The report of the Department of Education on the survey done by the Department in regard to the re-organization of the High Schools in the County of Beaver was discussed. It was felt that this was quite a comprehensive report and should receive very careful consideration before any action is taken on it and also in order to implement any of its recommendations it would have to be done very soon. Mr. Buck said he would have three recommendations to make in regard to the Report. One — that this report be made available to all electors in the County. Two — that the School Committee be prepared to make recommendations on the report by February, in order that they could be implemented in 1970. Three — that the report does not bind the County to do anything. They would still be free to make their own decisions.

He also mentioned that regardless of what happens with this report, the Industrial Arts situation at Viking is going to have to receive very careful consideration. The Inspector from the Department, in looking over the Industrial Arts Shop at Viking, had made recommendations that would have to be implemented to bring it up to a standard acceptable to the Department. It would have to offer more courses and possibly it would have to have an extension of the building because it is not large enough to accommodate any more than is presently offered. It was moved and carried that the School Committee meet on January 3, 1969 at 10 a.m., to study this report.

Millionaires spend big, save pennies

How to do business with millionaires is an art and Harry Dives, West Vancouver interior designer, has made a special study of it. He gives some tips on the subject in Home Goods Retailing:

Millionaires will spend $2,000 without batting an eyelash, but they're grateful if you can show them how to save $5.

Always give a detailed account of any work you do for millionaires and be most careful not to overcharge. They are very keen to save on little items. (One millionairess asked Mr. Dives if she could pay for everything with a single cheque at the end of a job because the bank charges her for each cheque cashed.)

The affluent society is a more natural society. They're interested in dogs and gardens. Dives always takes his dog around in his car with him, and finds rich people are always eager to talk gardening and willing to listen to someone else's rancher millionaire, that is! way of tending a garden. (He leaves his dog in the car!

Dives feels an accent helps in conducting business with the affluent, because they like it. (His accent is Cockney; as is Twiggy's.

The affluent society is as eager as anybody. They like

Wheat outlook

Canadian wheat surpluses will likely to continue to build this year.

Even if the Canadian Wheat Board realizes its objective of capturing 22 per cent of the world wheat trade, production will be slightly higher than domestic and export use.

Last year's poor harvesting weather damaged the quality of the crop. Production appears to be above average at about 650,-000,000 bushels. In the previous year farmers harvested 593,000,-000 bushels, bringing Canadian supplies to 1,170,000,000 bushels.

$1.49 days just like the common people. But they are more likely to phone in for an order than to call in.

BIBLE SOCIETY

In a recent letter from the district secretary, Rev E. M. B. Wheelock of Edmonton, he states that the Bible Society today faces its greatest challenge both in field of translation and distribution of the scriptures. It has been at work for over 150 years.

Frustration, sorrows and uncertainty in our war-torn world are leading people in ever increasing numbers to seek God's word. Not only in Africa, and India, but in South America it continues to be an area where the scriptures are in greatest demand of all. Distribution of the scriptures in Vietnam has trebled. There are over 2,000 languages spoken and the scriptures have now been circulated in over 1,250 languages. The Bible Society publishes only one book, the Bible, also new testamentsin and single books of the Bible. In Canada the Bible Society distributes scriptures in over 70 languages each year, including Indian and Eskimo dialects. Also scriptures for the blind in Braille and also Talking Book Records in the blind free of charge. Bibles are also presented to the new Canadian citizens and also presented to Canadian service men and women. The Bible Society's object is to provide the word of God for every man in his own language at a price he can afford to pay.

Drugs and alcoholism discussed by students

by Grace Phillips

At the recent annual meeting of the Tofield Community League, the guest speakers were five high school students, who presented a composite report on the Drugs and Alcohol conference held during Christmas week in Edmonton. Brian Schultz and Terri Moore had been sent by Tees Church of the Tofield United Church, Tom Christensen and Donald Langkaas by the Scouts, and John Sears by the Tofield High School.

Brian, as chairman, introduced the panel members and announced the topic on which each would speak.

John Sears discussed the problem of teen-age drinking. At the conference, Rev. Jack Purdie, Calgary, had spoken to the young people regarding the anti-social aspects of teen-age drinking. He cited the unfortunate incidents at the Banff Carnival and the Vancouver Grey Cup game.

John referred to the recent fights at two dances in a neighboring town where, under the influence of alcohol, teen-agers attacked members of the RCMP. As a result, no teen-age dances can be held there, but the suspension of dances is only a temporary remedy for a bad situation.

Teen-agers drink, according to John, for the same reasons adults do—for relaxation and enjoyment —but for teen-agers, drinking is illegal and brings them into unfavorable contact with the law.

Terri Moore, also, was concerned with the relationships of the teen-agers to the law. She said that marijuana, a non-addictive drug, is under the control of the narcotics law; whereas LSD, a much more potent drug, is controlled by the Food and Drug Act. Terri felt that these controls should be reversed, and that the use of marijuana should be legalized. She said that teen-agers' respect for the law would increase if the laws were more realistic. Many teen-agers feel that, if they do not feel a law is right, they are not wrong in breaking it. Rev. S. Bessey challenged this statement, but agreed that pushers, rather than users of drugs, should be prosecuted, and that putting first offenders in jail with experienced criminals is an unfortunate characteristic of our antiquated penal system.

Tom Christensen spoke as follows on marijuana:

"Marijuana is not a new drug. In 1938 its use was a serious problem in high school circles of the United States. It has, however, taken on many new slang names lately, of which pot, grass, weed, tea and Marylene are just a few.

"Marijuana consists of the dried flowering tops of the female Indian hemp plant. Closely related to it is hashhish (hash), which is a more concentrated form prepared by taking the amber coloured resin from the green flowers of the plant. This plant grows wild in many parts of the world, including Canada. Marijuana is greenish-grey to brown in colour and is a mixture of crushed dried leaves and flowers, some twigs and small globular seeds. It is much coarser than tobacco and also burns faster. Although Marijuana is usually smoked, it can be ingested in cookies, candy or tea. It is usually smoked or taken in groups rather than alone.

"Marijuana is not addictive in the way heroin is addictive. However, in the words of the World Health Organization of the United Nations—a desire (or need) for repeated administration of the drug on account of its subjective effects including the feeling of enhanced capabilities . . . a psychic dependence on the effects of the drug related to subjective and individual appreciation of these effects. It is, then, mentally or psychologically addictive, or habit forming.

"The principal effect of Marijuana is upon the mind. It has a very subjective drug; that is, its effects are different for almost every individual. Other factors, such as the quantity used, the manner in which it is taken and the surroundings also have a lot to do with the effects. In general, there is a dulling of attention to the surroundings and users tend to focus on certain selected auditory and visual sensations which are heightened by the shutting out of all other external stimuli. The user's mood can swing from uncontrollable laughter and hilarity to a depressed mood with a tendency towards irritability. With large doses, hallucinations may occur. Any use of machinery while under the influence of the drug is extremely dangerous as there is a distortion of judgement, in timesense and perception. In short, it causes its continued use produces pronounced mental deterioration. It may give rise to violent aggressiveness and uncontrolled violence.

"Marijuana has no medical value whatsoever and the idea of increased creativity with its use has been proven to be totally false.

"An interesting fact about

TONSBERG JOURNAL INTERVIEWS HANS HUSEBY ON HIS TENTH TRIP TO HIS HOMELAND, NORWAY

(Translated by Mrs. Knudson from the Norwegian)

PALMER-EARLING, Jan. 10— For the fifth consecutive summer, Hans Huseby of Holden spent his holidays in the Old Country to visit relatives and friends on both sides of the Oslofjorden in Norway, where he was born nearly years ago in Sygdeberg.

This time he visited and had a nice chat with the editor of the Tonsberg Journal, Tonsberg is the oldest city in Norway.

The editor thought he was the most energetic man he had ever encountered at ninety, and thought there must be a longing for his native land to return as often.

At the age of 22 years Mr. Huseby left Norway and emigrated to Nebraska and South Dakota, where he was employed with the Ringling Bros. Circus, and later he was a coach driver.

In 1904 he got the fever to go homesteading to Alberta, and settled on a homestead south of Holden. Several of his neighbors in those early years were Indians, and from them he purchased his first cattle.

The editor also wondered how he could keep up his Norwegian language in Alberta, but Mr. Huseby replied there were also many Scandinavian neighbors and five Scandinavian churches later on to choose from, where only Norsk was spoken; later, only the English language was used, and now the younger generation, said he say, do not understand their mother tongue.

His first trip back was in 1914 for the World's Fair with his wife, Mrs. Huseby, and children, Henry, Conrad and Lillian. Last summer was his tenth trip back.

After farming on a large scale, cattle and grain, and also selling seed grain, he has some years ago retired, yet still makes his home on the old homestead with his grandson, Duane Huseby, and family.

Lastly, the editor enquired if he would see him again next summer? Mr. Huseby smiled and said, yes; that is if by then I have not some new land on the moon!

Even though he has a longing to retrace familiar steps in his homeland—Alberta and his family here calls his heart back again.

Tofield has joined

In last week's editorial column, it was advocated that tourist promotion be fully tried by everyone and it was pointed out that, in this area, neither Tofield or the County of Beaver had joined the Battle River Tourist Association while such centers as Ryley and Holden had. As it now turns out, the Town of Tofield has joined the association and are members in good standing. The Town Council are to be congratulated on their foresight. Their July 1st holiday is an excellent example of something that attracts lots of visitors to the area and now that such events will be publicized even more extensively, the Town of Tofield will reap even more benefits.

Going too far

Postmaster Eric Kierans last night told the House of Commons the new five-day straight-through work week he is insisting on in the Postal Corps will save the country as much as four-tenn million dollars a year, without eliminating any workers. Doubtless the country needs the money, and the cry from one end of the country to the next is to reduce inefficiency and reduce taxes, so that Mr. Kierans might expect to be complimented on his program.

Somewhere along the line, however, the drive for efficiency seems to have gone beyond the level of commonsense, or fairness. Ever since any of us can remember, the Post Office has bragged over how hard it works to deliver the most impossibly addressed mail, the exertness of its sleuths in tracking down the most difficult to track people.

Suddenly, however, and with no warning to the general public, the order has gone out to postal staffs that they must not waste time trying to find new addresses for people who have moved, and left no forwarding address, or to correct obvious misaddressing of the simplest nature. And surely the highest breach of confidence lies in the order to destroy Christmas cards, (the open variety) which did not carry the exact address for delivery, and also had no return address. No time was to be spent in trying to find the correct address, because this would run into overtime costs. And this in the face of a two-thirds raise in rates only short weeks beforehand.

Had there been some advice to the public, it would have been at least a little fairer, but how is it justifiable suddenly after all these years to introduce such an amazing departure from tradition?

Surely the postal clerks and route walkers make mistakes, probably many of them. After all, they're only human, and who among us doesn't make mistakes from time to time? But these are spasmodic errors, not errors in basic principles. The principles are handed down from higher up, and can't be ignored by busy postal workers at the local levels all across the country.

It's got to the point where many people would rather have the somewhat old-fashioned, and possibly inefficient distribution that saw letters get to their proper destination than today's variety; that doesn't even let workers use the brains God gave them.

Buffalo steaks ahead?

Buffalo meat may be the order of the housewife one of these days when she goes shopping, if plans to step up production of the animals commercially gain ground.

Three blocks of mixed male and female buffalo were included in the sale to Canadian citizens of 160 buffalo from Elk Island Park a few weeks ago. Approximately 25 animals were included in each of seven blocks, four of them containing nothing but males, and three, of course, went to the packers to help satisfy the growing demand for buffalo meat in the gourmet meat markets.

Keen interest was shown, with fifty-three bids from interested people, some of whom actually travelled several hundreds of miles. Incidentally, district cattle breeders might be interested in the highest price, for a block of 23 mixed male and female animals at $7,610, or just about $330 each.

With the hope this may form the basis of a successful buffalo ranching venture, the sale achieved one end of placing herds of live buffalo in the care of enterprising citizens in several locations across the country. Herds went to Ontario, Quebec and Alberta.

So whole new horizons open up in the ranching business the feedlot business, developing proven bloodlines and so on. Coupled with Senator Harry Hays' announcement from Calgary of a new, faster-growing and more profitable-lined cattle it should all provide some mighty interesting days for the farmer.

Large, economy size

Alberta has so many vast operations that we often think our people should be spreading the legend in much the same way Texans do with jokes about hugeness in their state . . . which is just about the same size as Alberta incidentally.

Most readers are familiar with a "mickey", the little bottle of liquor which fits so easily in a pocket or a purse, so we gleefully chuckled with particular Canadian ecstasy, a recent reference to a Saskatchewan mickey.

For the uninitiated it's 133 ounces, or an American gallon special order in Alberta, but over the counter in Saskatchewan. The thought occurs

Let's see Texas beat that one."

Marijuana is that it is contained under the narcotic laws, while LSD, which in the minds of most people is much more dangerous, is contained in the food and drug laws which seem to be much more lenient and do not leave the prosecuted with a criminal record.

"One recommendation I would like to make is that much more time be spent by qualified personnel in doing controlled research and in publishing their findings in such a way that they are available to all who wish to know them. Change, I feel, is also needed in respect to the punishment of Marijuana users; it is much too harsh on the occasional user and only getting near the suppliers who created the problem".

Donald Laughlan explained that LSD is the common name for lysergic acid diethylamide LSD is a simple chemical derived from a parasitic fungus which grows on rye. The pure white crystalline powder readily dissolves in water to produce an odorless, tasteless, colorless solution. Black market LSD comes in capsules, tablets or liquids. It can be put on crackers, sugar cubes, or any absorbent material.

In a brief resume of the history of LSD, Don explained that two Swiss chemists, Stoll and Hoffman, first isolated LSD in 1938, and on April 6, 1943, Hoffman accidentally went on his first trip. Recently two psychologists at Harvard Leary and Alpert, experimented with LSD and promoted its use.

In explaining the potency of LSD Donald said that a single ounce would provide an average dose for 300,000 people the average dose is 1 10 000 of a gram LSD may be taken orally, injected under the skin or even into the veins by hard-core opiate addicts.

Reinforcing Tom's remarks about the necessity of research on LSD Don remarked that though research is in a primitive state the illicit use of the drugs is not thereby curtailed. A reliable scientific research board is needed to find out the truth about LSD and then present the findings to the public.

The psychological effects of LSD were stressed by Don. The user's mind experiences distortion of the senses, of depth perception, pain touch and balance, his sense of time and space are altered. These distortions deepen into hallucinations.

LSD has been known to have long range effects on the brain. Some people with no previous history of epilepsy have been victims of violent epileptic convulsions days on LSD for three weeks showed different brain patterns for six weeks. No one knows the changes which might take place after a long period of time.

LSD is not an addictive narcotic as heroin is. It may have some more like nicotine, which is habit forming. Chronic use of LSD can produce psychosis. Long term effects on the human chromosomes are possible. Use of LSD can produce a temporary state of panic in the user.

Some people should never take LSD. Those with previous mental problems, epileptics, those with an allergic reaction to nicotine.

Don listed the following as effects of LSD:

1. Loss of ego control.
2. Distortion of sensory perception.
3. Psychosomatic disorders.
4. Panic reactions.
5. Permanent derangement from one trip.
6. Effects on autonomic nervous system resulting in irregular breathing, nausea, sweating and tremors.
7. Permanent eye damage.
8. Genetic damage to the chromosomes. Physical damage to a baby if the mother has taken LSD while pregnant.

Need for research in these effects of LSD is badly needed. This is the responsibility of the Federal government.

A "bad trip" may cause the user to see himself die or to see himself as a monster. He may commit violent actions against himself—rip up his skin, pull out his hair. He may be permanently emotionally damaged from a bad trip.

The last speaker, Brian, chose to speak on Sports and their contribution to youth. He reported that Ralph Warrington of CHED and Reilly Miles, assistant supervisor of physical education for the Edmonton Public School Board, had spoken to the conference on the positive value of sports and the duty of adults in promoting a youth sports' program.

Brian said that sports in Tofield were on the down-grade, and that more coaching is needed in both hockey and and baseball. He felt that senior organizations should contribute more financial support to youth sports and give greater priority to a sports' centre for the area. Lacombe was cited as a model town regarding sports' facilities and [illegible] town. Brian suggested the school sports facilities an[illegible] town should be made available by the general public.

At the conclusion of the speech, J. C. Lamputt thanked the panel for their interesting report.

Dear Sir

Trouble, trouble, and more trouble—it seems the people of the world are sick and tired of living and are determined to destroy themselves.

Were saints all be the happy, worthwhile, substantial people we were in the good old days. There was a different breed of people than we have today. They were the builders, we seem to be mostly the wreckers.

Many good times prosperous years have conditioned our people for nothing but a soft easy life. It is terrible what might happen if we ever got a real depression. Surely we have an reason to be proud or happy about the downhill road we are going—strikes riots, violence, all on the increase.

In this dizzy phony beatnik way of life we are living there is very little that will stand the test of time. It is high time we slowed down a bit, and take a look and see what is happening to us.

We live in an age of great speed — fast cars, fast people, fast dope and booze—with such a sad foundation for our way of living no one need wonder why things are in such a terrible mess.

With many delinquent parents, it is only natural that we have many delinquent young people (not for many years have had as [illegible] of our children before have we been so rich in material things and so poor in happiness. Money alone does not make people happy, in fact [illegible] money is making slaves of many people, greed and materialism [illegible]

[illegible] to know how [illegible] be [illegible] about our modern [illegible] the movie, Gimme, the [illegible] and we get.

In the second one we see people's [illegible] on materialism he must [illegible] to be on the right side of God.

Moccasin telegraph did work

Indian communications have traditionally depended on the "moccasin telegraph". This casual word - of - mouth dispersion has often been criticized as unreliable and slow by people who work with Indians and by Indians themselves.

Sometimes, however, the "moccasin telegraph" proves itself to be astonishingly rapid and effective. A good example of this occurred last month when Blackfoot Indians held a big celebration for the pardon of a chief.

One of the candidates Adam Sobesky, left the pulling centre in Edmonton for Gold Eagle Reserve complete and set out by car for his home which is at the east end of the reserve. Shortly after his departure the meeting was finished, revealing Mr. Sobesky to be the new chief.

When Mr. Sobesky arrived home three-quarters of an hour later he was given news of his win the news had been conveyed 20 miles to his home by moccasin telegraph and had arrived in advance of Mr. Sobesky who was travelling by car.

DEAR SIR: Six or seven months ago I borrowed $600 from the ... Loan Company. They gave me two years to pay it off, and I figured out what my monthly payments would be. Well, things worked out better for me than I thought and last Saturday I was able to walk in there and pay the whole thing off. I asked them for a refund on the interest, but they said I wasn't entitled to any. What kind of racking did I get, and how bad? — H.L.C.

The chances are very good that you didn't get rooked at all, although I'd have to have more information than you gave me to be absolutely sure. However, what I suspect happened was this.

In most jurisdictions, loan companies are permitted to charge a certain percentage of interest each month, but only on the amount of money the borrower still owes. For example if a person borrows $100 and the allowable interest rate is 2 per cent per month on the unpaid balance, he is charged $2 for the use of the $100 for that month. If, at the end of the first month, he makes a $12 payment, $2 is interest and the other $10 is applied to reducing the amount he still owes the loan company. At the end of the second month, then, his interest charge is only $1.80 (2 per cent of the $90 he still owed the loan company). Each month his interest charge will be smaller because, as he reduces the amount he owes the loan company, he reduces the amount on which the monthly interest is calculated.

What may have confused you is the fact that you were paying of a set amount each month, leading you to believe that your interest charge had been calculated over the anticipated lifetime of the loan—two years. In your case—and the monthly payment figured on that basis Probably not limited, although your total monthly payment stayed the same, a greater amount was applied to reducing the principal each month as the amount of interest became smaller.

I'm almost certain that you weren't rooked However, why not take a few minutes and discuss this with the loan manager. Satisfied customers are what keep him in business, and he'll be happy to straighten out any misunderstanding you may have.

In the meantime, think of the money you saved by paying off your loan ahead of time That should make you feel good.

MacDuff Ottawa Report

"New look" for session

OTTAWA — The Canadian Government's tax sharing problems as between the provinces are operating under a new arrangement came under heavy fire the new age of efficiency began from the combined opposition for her Parliament is mid-January the Comments adjourned for the failure to cope with unemployment. Back in their seats after a Christmas and New Year's holiday, housing and federal-provincial day Christmas recess the members days.

The average Canadian across the country would not find the rule changes very apparent, but they are very important. An obvious change is to be a more regular pattern to the parliamentary year. The plan is to start each annual session in September or October and continue to the end of June. The session will be broken into three semesters, ending December 18, March 26 and June 30.

In the past some sessions have dragged on for more than a year. The record session of 258 sitting days in 1956-57 started January 18 and continued to May of the following year.

WAIT AND SEE

Stanley Knowles, the New Democrats Party house leader who is an acknowledged expert on parliamentary procedure and rules, estimates that the revised rules may save as many as 40 or 50 days in a session. Other members are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping that this will prove to be the case, but they are still not convinced.

One main change will be the shifting of much more parliamentary business to the standing committees. On occasions the House may even adjourn to allow the committees to function at full strength and catch up with the heavy new work load they will have assigned to them.

The members will have about 48 pieces of government legislation to handle in about 50 sitting days until the end of June. There are a total of 113 sitting days left to the end of that month. However, under the new rules six sitting days are to be devoted to the budget, 20 will be assigned to the opposition to raise whatever question it wants to debate and six days will be holiday periods. The new rules see the House now meeting at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, Eastern Standard Time. Formerly it met at 3:30 p.m.

READY TO ROLL

When the session resumed after the holiday period in mid-January, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau was still absent from Ottawa. He was attending the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference in London and was scheduled to fly to Rome for an audience with Pope Paul.

The opposition members had ample ammunition to fire at him when he returned to his place in the House. But even in the week before he got back the members in opposition were hammering the administration.

A sore point with Canadians as they become more and more aware of its implications is the new estate tax.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield and former conservative Leader John Diefenbaker warned that these new tax changes could wipe out the family farm or business and destroy small business. Mr. Diefenbaker described the tax as "confiscatory."

SMALL OPERATORS "SAFE"

Finance Minister E. J. Benson [illegible] the changes would not affect the small businessman. He said he was sympathetic to the plight of small businessmen in the House. But under the present taxing system [illegible] the plans to liberalize depreciation allowances [illegible] are already outlined them in the budget.

Mr. Benson [illegible] the estate tax changes from [illegible] the family farm or business [illegible] Finance Minister [illegible] the first to respond in the country across the country over the proposed new estate tax. The Minister said he had received few protests with regard to the estate tax than with regard to the two per cent social security tax he had imposed in his last budget. In both cases, he added, the number of protests received this year was smaller than the total received when the baby budget was brought into the House last Spring.

COMPLICATED

However, this can be probably explained by the fact that only now are most Canadians becoming aware of the full impact and ramifications of the estate tax changes. It is a complicated taxation change and it will take some time for its effects to be fully understood.

The opposition are preparing to attack the administration also for its apparent inability to date to curb the inflationary pressures at work within the economy. The rising unemployment has also resulted in loud protests from several sections of the country and the complete dissatisfaction of the provinces with Ottawa's flat refusal to share more of the taxation revenues with the provincial governments will see the federal government come under attack.

FILIBUSTER PROMISED

Meantime, the opposition has also served notice on the Government that it will step up a business of it attempts to revive the controversial provision in the revised rules that would give the administration's house leader dictatorial authority to impose a time table on the House. This difficult question of scheduling debate was withdrawn before Christmas and dropped as one of the rule changes, when the combined opposition indicated it would filibuster the adoption of the new rules throughout the Christmas Recess. The controversial provision was sent back to the committee on procedure and organization for reconsideration.

The Government will be in deep trouble if it seeks to revive that section.

The right to sue

A recent Royal Commission on Automobile Insurance in British Columbia proposed that victims of car crashes should be denied the right to sue for damages, but instead should protect themselves by buying accident insurance before the accident, of course.

The recommendation, naturally, was hotly protested by many parties, including a number of judges, who point out the recommendation denies the important right of injured parties to recover general damages which only a court or a similar tribunal can assess. Several instances of awards at wide variance, for seemingly similar injuries, were mentioned, to show the wide differences which can be found by juries and judges in the final effect.

But no-one seems to have objected on the broad principle that the onus should definitely continue to be on the party who causes the crash, to be responsible for the effect of his own actions. Why should this responsibility be reduced in any way? Why should it be transferred entirely to the innocent bystander who may find himself not only seriously maimed but facing heavy responsibility through no fault of his own?

And if this attitude prevails, what catastrophes are we to protect against? At least if we drive an automobile, we know there is an inherent liability which we should insure against, but if the onus is to be transferred do we try to insure against every conceivable catastrophe? And at what price?

Dien skol

A recent issue of a Swedish magazine announced that industry in that country had found a glass substitute which was doing an entirely satisfactory job as a beer container. Made of a combination plastic and paper, the "bottle" could withstand the pressure of bottling carbonated drinks, was reasonably shatterproof, but when empty could be crumpled in the hand. Tests had been made of the product for several months, the magazine reported.

Now come reports that a similar product is seeking to take over at least part of the glass and metal container market in this country. With the outcry against the rapidly developing infesta'ion of shattered glass, it would seem bottlers might be glad to take the heat off their industry by a serious attempt to introduce a new product.

If they do not voluntarily do so, possibly government action against this new form of pollution might be introduced. It is nonsense for the manufacturers or bottlers to claim they are responding to "public demand". They manufactured the containers [illegible] from their own initiative, and are hard-selling their product [illegible] public [illegible]

By Roberta Lee

Q Where should one's return address be properly placed on the envelope of a letter?

A The preferred position is in the upper left-hand corner of the face of the envelope — although when the envelope is too small for this the return address often appears on the back flap.

Q How can a divorced woman who is using her maiden name prefixed by "Miss" properly word the invitations to her daughter's wedding?

A In this case, she can put "Mrs." in front of her maiden name, then give her daughter's full name in the invitation.

Q Is it all right for a man in the rear seat of a car with two women to sit between them?

A This is the proper place for him.

Q A bride to whom we sent a gift did not acknowledge it by note until almost a month after her wedding, after her return from the honeymoon. Was it this rather on the rude side?

A You're more than RATHER on the rude side! Wedding gifts should be acknowledged as they are received and those that arrive at the last moment can be acknowledged while she is away.

Q When I am a dinner guest in someone's home, do I properly open my napkin into my lap as soon as I have sat down at the table?

A No. Guests wait until their hostess takes up her napkin before attending to their own.

Q How does a newlywed couple extend invitations to a reception in their new home, after their return from their honeymoon?

A Since this will be a friendly, informal get-together, the invitation may be extended by phone.

Q Would it be proper for me and my fiancee to mail birthday cards in our friends signed with both our names?

A Quite proper

Ryley tops Holden in two hoop games

(Mrs. Ruth Davich)

Ryley Wildcats remain champions by virtue of outclassing Holden in Junior High basketball.

On Wednesday, Jan 15th, the Ryley Junior High basketball teams slaughtered Holden boys and girls' teams with ridiculous ease at the Ryley gymnasium the Ryley girls, after a first half lead of 12-6, soundly defeated their opponents 42-0 by game end. In the second contest, the Ryley boys led all the way to a final score of 36-8.

The Holden team, despite a fine effort, could not cope with the speed and accuracy of the Wildcats. The girls pressing all the time gave Holden very few chances to score. At the same time, Holden's zone defense wilted under the constant pressure exerted by the Ryley offense.

The boys' game saw more excitement, but roughly the same type of control. The Ryley lads easily out-jumped, out-rebounded, out-shot and out-scored the Holden team.

Ryley's point-getters for the two contests were as follows

Boys — B Albrecht 17, C Morton 11, R Cardinal 7, F. Solberg 4, R. Wall 4, P. Yoder 2, D. Pope 2, T. Mizera 1

Girls — B. Albrecht 6, I. Pawluck 4, L. Senerad 4, L. Stauffer 6, M. Knudsen 5, I. Pahlsbrennig 5, D. Unrau 2, L. Magnuson 3, B. Hrubec 3.

It is (burrrr) cold out there

If you've been thinking that there's a bit of a chill in the air and it was causing you to wonder, then ponder no more; the average temperature for Tofield so far in 1969 has been 19 degrees below zero.

Since the new year came into existence, there have been three days in which the temperature has crawled above the zero mark and that was early in the month, on the 4th, 5th and 6th, to be exact. On the fourth it was a balmy 43 degrees above zero, although the mercury dipped to 12 degrees below zero during the night hours.

Since then, the warmest day in January was on the 7th, when the mercury registered only seven degrees below zero. The lowest reading was during the night of the 22nd when the mercury dropped down to 42 degrees below zero.

The coldest daytime temperature was recorded on Monday of this week when a reading of minus 24 degrees was listed.

The average of high's for January to date is 14 degrees below zero, while the low overnight temperatures are averaging a minus 34 degrees.

Prior to the three warm days in early January, the last time the mercury climbed above a zero reading was way back on December 31, when a reading of nine degrees above zero was noted.

Since that date, the average day-time temperature has been 10.3 degrees below zero, and the average night-time temperature has been a minus 22.4 degrees. Since that date the average temperature has been 16.4 degrees below zero.

Even the weatherman has little idea when the cold wave might finally break and warm air will move again be back with us He did say that there was a possibility temperatures might evolve slightly by the end of this week but, even then, hesitated to predict that temperatures would rise above the zero mark

Due to the extreme cold weather, fuel and electric consumption has risen sharply during this past month.

Northwestern Utilities reports a rise in gas consumption, although accurate figures were not available at press-time. The cold weather did not interfere with customer service, with pressure and supply being excellent.

MacDuff Ottawa Report

Healthy tensions?

OTTAWA. — The chartered jet bringing Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau back from London and Rome just headed at Uplands airport here and the health department doctor had gone aboard to make his inspection. At the foot of the ramp stood a group of newsmen waiting for the Prime Minister to get off.

Mr. Trudeau was soon cleared, and walked down the ramp bathed in the harsh light of floodlamps switched on by cameramen filming his 2:30 a.m. return to Canada. There was confusing reports of what happened next, but four cameramen, a sound technician and a reporter mobbed around themselves having bundled off to a vacant customs office in the terminal building where they were held for half an hour or more by the RCMP. They were finally let go, after External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp intervened, with a lecture about trespassing on government property.

MEMORIES STIRRED

The incident struck a sour note in the Ottawa press corps as memories flashed back a few days to the London press conference where Mr. Trudeau angrily rapped the press for what he called crummy behavior in its extensive reporting of his dates. He had suggested that if the press would not respect his privacy, then perhaps he would call on the police to keep tabs on the private lives of reporters.

As it turned, the two things were quite unrelated. The airport cameramen were dubbed for ignoring the health department's instructions to keep away from the plane. Like any other aircraft arriving from abroad, it was under quarantine until the health of passengers was checked. The doctor seems to have been stricter than the regulation obliged him to be, but he equally seems to have been quite within his powers in restricting access to the area.

But the incident dramatized the conflict between Mr. Trudeau's natural desire to separate his private and his public lives and the natural desire of the press, reinforced by the curiosity of the public — to find out all it can about him. The London press conference was not the first time he has expressed concern about reporting of his private life, nor is it likely to be the last.

THREE A.M.

Let it be said at the start that one of the Prime Minister's main complaints in Ottawa concerned a real problem — harassment of girls with whom he has been seen in public by reporters anxious for the kind of page one pictures and all of you have 'phoned her it will be three in the morning and she will have to move to some other place for a few days to get you off her back", he said.

It is not easy to see how this sort of situation can be prevented if large numbers of reporters decide that it is worth trying for an interview with a particular girl. But there can be no argument that a string of telephone calls lasting until three in the morning is unfair.

HUFFY ATTITUDE

Mr. Trudeau was on shakier ground when he told this air at the doorstep of the English speaking Canadian reporters in London with him for the Commonwealth conference. Some of them would condemn Mr. Trudeau's private lives, but he admits that in touch with Mr. Bittenhausen, even after all had made his acquaintance, the interview was quite cordial. The two newspapermen had gone to Hyde Park to get some background for their stories. Mr. Trudeau asked a policeman for directions, and the policeman found hard to remember some of the names

PESTS

Magpie damage complaints have increased to a point where more publicity should be given to controlling these pests. Poisoned pork rinds, when used according to regulations, are effective and safe. Traps are available on a demonstration basis to farmers who do not want to use poison.

Rabbits are moving into shelterbelts and gardens, and do a great deal of damage if not repelled by recommended chemicals.

Due to decreased complaints of coyote damage, we are not poisoning poison pellets unless damage is proved.

Farmers are requested to be on the look-out for signs of Norway rats, and report any suspected rat infestations.

TREES

County ratepayers are reminded that tree orders in as soon as possible. Several trees are out of stock; however, the following are still available: Russian Poplar, Brooks No. 6 Poplar, Acute Leaf Willow, China Willow, Manitoba Maple, Green Ash, Mayday, Chokecherry, Caragana, Tartarian Honeysuckle, Hansee Hedge Rose, Siberian Red Currant, Colorado Spruce, White Spruce, Lodge Pole Pine, and Siberian Larch. No more fruit bushes are available.

All tree orders will be trucked to Ryley, and cards will be mailed when trees arrive.

SEED GRAIN

Due to the shortage of seed oats and barley, we have reports that grain may be trucked in from outside points to be sold for seed. This grain could contain weeds that we do not have in the County. I refer to knap-

How do you build a telephone company?

We started out with a desire to fill a particular community and business need, to provide Albertans with the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost.
Our province needed a system of modern telephones to aid its prospering economy. Of course we had to obtain the physical necessities for the system, cable, switching equipment, microwave towers, and the phone that hangs on your wall or sits on your desk.
Then we had to find people to fit all these things into place. Technicians, engineers, girls who knew how to smile with their voices. Today we've an organization of 6,500 people, an investment of 420 million dollars, an integrated communications service that adds 85 million dollars of gross revenue to Alberta's economy yearly.
We met every challenge — provided every type of communication service you needed. Now, we're looking to the future! — carrying out a continuing program of research and development that will continue to provide Albertans with the finest possible communications services. We know our reason for being in business, YOU!

County school . . .

stimation with regard to equalized assessments is clarified.

John Allen wondered if the County could supply equipment to remove the snow off the sidewalks as some of the sidewalks around the Viking School were very difficult to clear. Some of the snow would probably have to be hauled away. Some of the other members mentioned that in emergencies they had been able to hire someone locally to remove the snow and that possibly this was cheaper than the purchase of equipment of our own, since this probably only happens two or three times in a winter.

Mr. Ping Pon has been appointed to the staff of Viking School in Physical Education. Mr. Hobson intend to interview nursary students and other prospective teachers at the University Maupower Centre on January 20, 21 and 22. He requested that Mr. Robson be given permission to attend these interviews. It was moved and carried that this request be granted.

Mr. Buck advised that the requested forms for the 1969 budget were received from the schools and are now being processed and that bids will be requested. He considered it advisable to order the material as soon as possible as it is expected prices will go up probably in March or April. It was moved and carried that the School Committee approved the Workshop on March 10th and 11th.

Farmers are advised to be on the lookout for these weed seeds in grain privately cleaned and offered as seed grain. Seed samples picked at the County Seed Cleaning Plant so far indicate an excellent job of cleaning. Polar expert warns wind-chill aid critical

A big part of winter safety has to do with dressing properly for sub-zero temperatures—not just thermometer readings, but equivalent chill temperatures created by wind or by riding a snowmobile.

Temperatures as low as minus 32 degrees Fahrenheit may pose little danger for the well-bundled winter voyager But when you couple temperature with wind, dangers of freezing exposed flesh increase sharply

A plus 10 degree F temperature coupled with a 20-mph wind results in a wind-chill rating of minus 23 degrees, with considerable freezing danger At minus 20 degree F temperature and a wind speed of 25 mph, the wind-chill factor drops to minus 34 degrees F with very great danger to exposed flesh And the wind speed is just as important whether it's a blowing wind, a wind created by your snowmobile, or a combination of both.

For any wind-chill conditions approaching the considerable danger mark, the winter sportsman should wear thermal underwear and a windproof, waterproof, fleece-lined outer garment with hood and face mask. He also should have waterproof boots with thick inner lining and gloves or mitts with similar cold resistant characteristics situation with regard to equal and assessments is clarified.

John Allen wondered if the County could supply equipment to remove the snow off the sidewalks as some of the sidewalks around the Viking School were very difficult to clear. Some of the snow would probably have to be hauled away. Some of the other members mentioned that in emergencies they had been able to have someone locally to remove this snow and that possibly this was cheaper than the purchase of equipment of our own, since this probably only happens two or three times in a winter.

Mr. Ping Pun has been appointed to the staff of Viking School in Physical Education. Mr Robson intend to interview nursery students and other prospective teachers at the University Manpower Centre on January 20, 21 and 22. Polar expert warns wind-chill aid critical

A big part of winter safety has to do with dressing properly for sub-zero temperatures—not just thermometer readings, but equivalent chill temperatures created by wind or by riding a snowmobile.

Temperatures as low as minus 32 degrees Fahrenheit may pose little danger for the well-bundled winter voyager. But when you couple temperatury with wind, dangers of freezing exposed flesh increase sharply.

A plus 10 degree F. temperature coupled with a 20-mph wind results in a wind-chill rating of minus 25 degrees, with considerable freezing danger At minus 20 degree F temperature and a wind speed of 25 mph, the wind-chill factor drops to minus 54 degrees F. with very great danger to exposed flesh And the wind speed is just as important whether it's a blowing wind, a wind created by your snowmobile, or a combination of both.

For any wind-chill conditions approaching the considerable danger mark, the winter sportsman should wear thermal underwear and a windproof, waterproof, fleece-lined outer garment with hood and face mask. He also should have waterproof boots with thick inner lining and gloves or mitts with similar cold resistant characteristics.

Check this chill chart to see the effects of wind:

Letters to the Editor

LET'S SAVE MONEY

Ryley, Alta., Feb. 4

Dear Editor

You recently asked for correspondence on topics of interest to readers, who are interested in the country's business (ours), so here goes:

Take our television—why does CTV make money whilst CBC operates at losses of millions every year? As far as we can see there is very little difference in calibre of programmes. Examples Bonanza, a very popular show, but very costly, according to a recent magazine article, Joe Cartwright is paid $12,000 per week for this one-hour program. We must assume that Lorne Green would receive more than this — making this a very expensive program for what is, in our opinion, nothing very spectacular in acting.

Then, take "Front Page Challenge"—some ten years ago when Fred Hobbs was on the panel, it was reported in a write-up that she was paid $2,000 for this half hour show. We must assume that other members of the panel would at least get the same amount. Granted, this usually is a pretty good show, but we are convinced this is far too much to pay for this amount of time.

Now the reason for increase in postal rates . . . we have not yet realized the full impact of this. Today, we were advised that box rents are to be doubled as from February 1. In this case, we can, by doing without our box and sending our mail at the wicket, share our resentment, or we can pay up like mice and accept it. Then, on April 1, there is to be more than a doubling up of rates on papers. Do you realize the impact this will mean to the cost of living? It not only means a raise in the price of our papers (no doubt many small fee will go under), cost of advertising will no doubt increase as this will, no doubt, be the easy way to absorb the mailing increase. This means you the consumer, will pay more for everything you buy, because surely you know it is the consumer that eventually pays for all this.

This all brings us to a look at the civil service employees. There are at least two persons to do one person's work. Yet they contend their pay should be equal to like employment in commercial business. This, in our opinion is not so. Don't forget that they are in a secure position in that if duties get tough their jobs would be the last to go. Also we are at a loss to see why their pensions should be higher than the average citizen's. There are lots of ways these rate increases could have been unnecessary. Why not do away with the annual change of stamp, as we do, this does most cost thousands.

What's wrong with the staff sweeping the floor etc., during coffee breaks? Coffee breaks don't seem to accompany the short hours should be shorter

Sees major market for halter broke coyotes

HALTER BROKE COYOTES Con... last Lions dinner. Phone ... Ken Nordahl ... by 9926

It seems there's a pretty good market for halter broke coyotes according to Keith Braim, who admits he has any to supply, really. In fact, Mr. Braim didn't have any idea of what it was people were calling about, even.

The ad above was inserted in The Canadian last by a friend of Mr. Seidler, as a joke. In a later check, Mr. Braim's number was inserted in an effort to turn the tables, and both Mr. Sauder and Mr. Braim found there is quite a bit of interest in those odd ... one call (falsely) purporting to come from Al ... Fleming's Game Farm.

However, the joke backfired a bit when the Game Branch also got into the act, and warned several parties that it's no laughing matter to be tossed off quite ... lightly. A check was made to be sure there weren't any coyotes being kept in captivity, and who was behind the whole thing. Harboring wild animals is a serious offence under the Game laws, and it doesn't matter what the purpose or intent is. If it had been found there was any substance to the ad, charges would definitely have been laid. It doesn't matter what the animal is, from a coyote to a grizzly bear, if it's wild in its natural state, it may not be retained in captivity, say game branch officers.

You Are The Detective

You look down at the body of the victim, lying on the floor in the jewelry store, an ugly, blood-encrusted wound on the side of his head attesting to the force of the blow that ended his life. The anguished-looking manager of the store, Henry Crump, stands nearby. At his feet lies a heavy-looking brass paperweight.

Your eyes dart over the showcases with their sparkling merchandise, then stop on the open door of a steel storage cabinet. "That's where I put the cash earlier this evening when I was locking up the store for the night," says Crump. "This man here, he points to the lifeless body on the floor, "his name, I remember, is Ferris . . . he was in here this afternoon. Said he was shopping for costume jewelry for his wife. He didn't buy anything . . . I guess he was just casing the place and spotted that cash box in the cabinet. Then he came back this evening after I had closed, took the key out of the top drawer in my desk, unlocked the cabinet, and took the money . . . close to $500. He was just getting ready to leave when I came in the back door. I was going to do a little catching up on my books."

Crump now stalks over to the cabinet, extracts the key from his pocket, quietly closes the door, and locks it. "This is the only key we have in this cabinet, too," he remarks. "It's a special, foolproof lock we recently installed."

"Was there any struggle before you hit him with the paperweight"

"No . . . the carpet muffled my footsteps, and he wasn't aware that I was coming up behind him. I just intended to knock him out, not to kill him." He shakes his head mournfully.

You now bend over the victim's body, finding nothing of interest in his pockets except his wallet containing a couple of $10 bills, a driver's license in the name of Roger Ferris, and three credit cards.

"Since phoning me about this, have you touched or moved anything at all in the store?" you ask Crump.

"Oh, no . . . I was much too horrified by what I had done in fact, it took me at least ten minutes to recover enough to phone you Mr Harding my employer, is going to be terribly upset about this!"

"I agree," you say. "He's going to be terribly upset, especially when he learns the truth of this matter! And the truth is Crump, new stalks over to the cabinet, extracts the key from his pocket, quietly closes the door, and locks it. "This is the only key we have in this cabinet, too," he remarks. "It's a special, foolproof lock we recently installed."

"Was there any struggle before you hit him with the paperweight"

"I agree," you say. "He's going to be terribly upset, especially when he learns the truth of this matter! And the truth is that the "rubber" had taken close to $500 from the cabinet, but all you found in the victim's pockets was $40.

SOLUTION

Henry Crump told you he had neither touched nor moved anything after the incident occurred, and he also told you that the "rubber" had used the QNIC key to the cabinet to open that "special, foolproof lock." Yet, while on were there, Crump extracted the key from his pocket to lock the cabinet! Also, he claimed that the "rubber" had taken close to $500 from the cabinet, but all you found in the victim's pockets was $40.

Modern etiquette

Q. Is it really improper as bridesmaids, or frivolous when I've been told, for a bride to take an active part in her wedding rehearsal?

A. Not at all. However, custom or superstition have always decreed that some past friend of the bride assume her role in the rehearsal proceedings, while the bride sits on the sidelines observing, suggesting, or directing.

Q. Do you think it is proper of those persons who keep urging you to visit them "sometime," but who never specify any definite date?

A. While not exactly improper . . . still an invitation always carries more sincerity when it is definite.

Q. Is it proper to blow one's nose at the dinner table?

A. If necessary and if done unobtrusively and with as little fuss and noise as possible, yes.

Q. Is it proper to send greeting cards, such as anniversary or birthday cards, to friends who are in mourning?

A. If the sentiment is appropriate yes. Messages in a cry, what I'd like to hear from you now!"

Why are you suspicious of Henry Crump's story?

Q. Is it proper to eat a raw apple or pear at the table?

A. These fruits should be quartered, peeled, cored, and then each quarter eaten with the fingers

Consumers check on hearing aids

OTTAWA — First in a series of articles on hearing aids and the hard-of-hearing is featured in the January-February issue of "Canadian Consumer", the bi-monthly publication of Consumers' Association of Canada. The Association's examination of this subject unearthed some surprising facts about the hearing aid industry

As well as the main article, there are tips on how to help the hearing-impaired person and suggestions for the hard-of-hearing.

A special article on garment labelling titled "The care of things to come" tells about what is hopefully expected in the future on care labelling.

An interesting article is published as a buying guide "For the small investor" and there is a consumerative test on paper towels.

The magazine — unique in Canada — can be obtained at a rate of $3 yearly from the national office of Consumers' Association of Canada, 100 Gloucester St., Ottawa 4.

Solve a Crime

BY A. C. GORDON

(By A. C. Gordon)
You Are The Detective

You look down at the body of the victim, lying on the floor in the jewelry store, an ugly, blood encrusted wound on the side of his head attesting to the force of the blow that ended his life. The unclothed body, manager of the store, Henry Crump, stands nearby. At his feet lies a heavy looking brass paper weight.

Your eyes dart over the showcases with their sparkling merchandise, then stop on the open door of a steel storage cabinet. "That's where I put the cash earlier this evening when I was locking up the store for the night," says Crump. "This man here," he points to the lifeless body on the floor, "his name, I remember, is Farris . . he was in here this afternoon said he was shopping for costume jewelry for his wife. He didn't buy any thing. I guess he was just casing the place and spotted the cash box in the cabinet. Then he came back this evening after I had closed, took the key out of the top drawer in my desk, unlocked the cabinet, and took the money . . close to $500. He was just getting ready to leave when I came in the back door. I was going to do a little catching up on my books."

Crump now stalks over to the cabinet, extracts the key from his pocket, gently opens the door, and locks it. "This is the only key we have to this cabinet, too," he remarks. "It's a special, foolproof lock we recently installed."

"Was there any struggle before you hit him with the paper weight?"

"No . . . the carpet muffled my footsteps, and he wasn't aware that I was coming up behind him. I just intended to knock him out, not to kill him." He shakes his head mournfully.

You now bend over the victim's body, finding nothing of interest in his pockets except his wallet containing a couple of $10 bills, a driver's license in the name of Roger Ferris, and three credit cards.

"Since phoning me about this, have you touched or moved anything at all in the store?" you ask Crump.

"Uh no . . . I was much too horrified by what I had done in fact, it took me at least ten minutes to recover enough to phone you Mr. Harding my employer, is going to be terribly upset about this!"

"I agree," you say. "He's going to be terribly upset, especially when he learns the truth of this matter! And the truth is what I'd like to hear from you now!"

Why are you suspicious of Henry Crump's story?

SOLUTION

Henry Crump told you he had neither touched nor moved anything after the accident occurred, and he also told you that the "rubber" had loud the QMK key to the cabinet. Also, he claimed that the "rubber" had taken cause to $300 from the cabinet, but all you found in the victim's pockets was $50.

FAREWELL

A farewell party was held on Wednesday evening, January 29th for Mrs. Paul Rabes who with her husband left at the weekend to make her home in Edmonton.

Frank Stewart of Camrose was a business caller Tuesday after noon in the village.

Modern etiquette

Q Is it really improper as I've been told, for a bride to take an active part in her wedding rehearsal?

A Not at all. However custom or superstition have also decreed that some good friend of the bride assume her role in the rehearsal proceedings, while the bride sits on the sidelines observing, suggesting, or directing.

Q Do you think it is proper of those persons who keep urging you to visit them "sometime," but who never specify any definite date?

A While not exactly improper still an invitation always carries more sincerity when it is definite.

Q Is it proper to blow one's nose at the dinner table?

A If necessary and if done unobtrusively and with as little noise as possible, yes.

Q Is it proper to send greeting cards, such as anniversary or birthday cards, to friends who are in mourning?

A If the sentiment is appropriate, yes. Messages in a say, humorous, or frivolous vein would be tactless and in very poor taste.

Q How does one properly eat a raw apple or pear at the table?

A These fruits should be operated on with one's knife before eating them. The fruit is quartered, peeled, cored, and then each quarter eaten with the fingers

Youth in action

Many of the so-called adult population are so ready to condemn the youth of today that it is a pleasure to watch some of these youths mar the pattern to which they have been sentenced without trial. Such was the case last week, when two high school basketball teams from Holden went down to Camrose to play the Lutheran College for the right to advance into provincial zone playoffs.

Without exception, these young men and women were perfect examples of decorum. Since both teams managed to win, they were on the receiving end of the 'old saw' from CLC fans, but this they ignored and it soon died out. College officials were impressed, as were the fans, at the poise and general behaviour of these good-will ambassadors from Holden. It is not the easiest task in the world to enter a strange court in front of strange fans under playoff pressure and act as if it were the most natural thing in the world to do, but these young adults from Holden carried it off beautifully and deserve the praise of the community and county.

We need changes

It is hard to figure out what the results of the by-election in Edmonton really means. The Strom Government really hasn't had time to give the electors any reason to find favor or disfavor and it could mean that Albertans were more pro-Manning than they were pro-Social Credit. In any event, one thing it should do is stir the government to alertness because sooner or later they will have to face the entire population in a general election and with the momentum the Conservatives have generated, it could prove to be quite a task to stop them.

The Government has announced that The School Act will be updated and this is not before time. Other acts should also get the same treatment and become modernized. The Liquor Act is one example. Apparently the Opposition are going to press to have it permissible to serve liquor with meals on Sunday and maybe the Government could steal some of the publicity from this move by changing the legal drinking age to eighteen. There is little use in denying that the eighteen to twenty-one year olds don't drink and it is more criminal that they have to sneak around to do it because of old-fashioned thinking. After all, if they are old enough to fight for this country and have the right to cast ballots, then they should also be considered to be adult enough to know how to drink properly. Youth will be heard from until they get equal treatment and the sooner those in positions of authority realize this, the sooner this country will be peaceable again without the danger of becoming another tinderbomb like our neighbors to the south.

Why be difficult?

The western premiers at the Dominion-Provincial conference seem to have learned one lesson which has been taught time and time again by Quebec. Why be difficult when with a little more effort you can be impossible?

In spite of telegrams repeating that thousands of prairie citizens object to the attitudes of the western group we believe they still represent far and away the majority feeling and it's wonderful for the first time seeing this more or less united strength and strong representation of a case which has been made all too poorly on many occasions in the past.

There's no question of how much ground Quebec has gained within the confederation of provinces during the past years by insisting on it's place in the sun ... and now just possibly by being equally insistent on more attention to western needs, the four western provinces can share a little more generally in the benefits of confederation which are at present centered largely in Ontario and Quebec and to a lesser degree in the Maritimes and Central Canada.

Just to put the western problem in little more in focus, it's interesting to note that while Quebec actually has less than half a million more people than all the western provinces together, our area is twice as great as that of Quebec. In fact, geographically, the West, even without the North West Territories, is almost but not quite as large as all the other provinces — and remember, there's a big portion of Quebec north of the 52nd parallel, where we cut off.

It's interesting to note that Prime Minister Trudeau seems almost embarrassed to have misgauged the strength of the provincial determination to seek redress in historical fields, as he attempted to have ahead-of-the-times changes in the constitution. In the end it would seem those changes are more related to ... Mr. Trudeau, who has even misread Quebec's interest in watching ... to a confessional form of government.

It is very legally instructive to see the value placed on western petroleum resources ... and greater forces to the provincial ownership of ... Premier Manning has ... attitude.

Ryley hockey teams extend winning ways

by Mrs. Ruth Davick

On Thursday evening, a wild and woolly hockey game took place when Tofield 'A' peewees under tattled with the Ryley Hockets, for a 3-2 win for Ryley's Bobby Lehman counted one for Ryley.

In the second game of the evening the Oolpuks had a rough encounter with Andrewsan (16 years) and under ... with Ryley the losers by a ... of 6-2. Early in the first period a Ryley player suffered a cut lip which required three stitches and as the third period a skirmish broke out resulting in penalties for both Ryley and Andrewsan players. Ryley goals were by Barry Thumbs and John Meechak. This was Oolpuks first loss of the season.

On Friday evening the Ryley Pee Wee hockey team took a decisive win over Holden Pee Wees to the tune of 11-1. Big guns for Ryley were Elrose Solberg and Barry Kurach with five goals each, with Brent Allott adding the remainder.

On Saturday the Ryley Tiny-Mites were again victorious over the Tofield Tomahawks by a score of 5-1, in a game played at Tofield. Terry Lyons and Wesley Romaniuk scored for Ryley.

The Ryley Pee Wees added another win to their league standing by outscoring Tofield 5 - 4. Ryley goals were scored by Brian Lyons (2), Terry Magnuson, Barry Kurach and Brent Allott.

In Junior High School basketball action on February 3, both the Ryley girls' and boys' teams were victorious. The girls won their game 44-6, while the boys outscored their opponents 20-6.

Holden observes 'Education Week'

During the past several years in the Holden School, Education Week has been marked by inviting the parents of school children to an "Open House" at the school. This year the school has decided to emphasize this event through the courtesy of the weekly newspaper, The Mercury.

The theme selected is Education the "Whole" Child

The purpose of Canadian Education Week is to focus public attention on the needs, the problems and the achievements of education and to encourage constructive public action in support of education.

Teachers of the Holden School are concerned with the development of the "whole" child through the medium of carefully selected activities as an integral part of the total educational program, these activities contribute to his physical, mental, social and emotional development.

Read about these activities in the next issue of The Mercury.

Active sports scene in the Ryley locale

(Mrs. Ruth Davies)

The sports scene in Ryley during the past week was a pretty active one with hockey, curling and basketball dominating the picture.

BASKETBALL

A standing room only crowd was on hand at the High School to watch the Hanak Caddies (parabegics) from Edmonton trounce the high school boys and girls in two exhibition basketball games. The Edmonton gals won 11-0 while the local boys were bested 49-18. All players played in wheelchairs. Over one hundred dollars from door receipts was turned over to the Paralympic Sports Association.

CURLING

The John Bladen rink amassed a total of 26 points to win top honors in a curling bonspiel on Saturday, which saw a total of twelve rinks entered in the competition. Members of the rink include Donald Kurisch, Phyllis Kurisch and Debbie Bearg.

Second place was taken by Dwayne Rubin, whose team included John Lehman, Bryce Albrecht and Ken Amoako while the Lorne Lehman rink with John Wong, Elston Solberg and Brenda Albrecht finished in third place.

BASKETBALL

Ryley Junior High School teams finished their season with unbefeated records to annex Junior High championships for the County of Beaver.

In games in Ryley on Monday, both the boys and girls teams defeated their counterparts from Tofield to win County honors. The girls won their match by a score of 16-11 while the boys came out on top winning 26-22.

HOCKEY

Two games in the minor hockey level were played last week. The Pee Wees blanked Holden 11-0 in a top-sided game. Scoring for Ryley were Elston Solberg 3, Barry Kurisch 5, and Hal Strilchuk.

Today You Drive A Total Energy Plant — Tomorrow You May Live In One!

Natural gas has taken a new job!

Today it's being used as the sole source of energy for commercial buildings, industrial plants, apartment houses, schools and shopping centres, hotels and motels in cities across North America.

How?

By providing energy to power a single, self contained system that supplies heating, cooling, steam, hot water and even electricity.

The system is like your car. A single source of power — provides energy to power a generator and supply electricity to operate "appliances" like radio and cigarette lighter, waste heat provides warmth in the winter, and of course, there is energy to drive the wheels. All of this energy comes from a reciprocating engine.

The same is true of natural gas "total energy" packages.

At the heart of the system is an engine, like the one in your car, or a gas turbine similar to the aircraft jet engine. In either case, natural gas is the source of power.

A generator, connected to the drive shaft of the engine, produces electricity.

This has been known for years as on site power generation.

The total energy concept goes a step further. Like your car, it puts to work normally lost energy from the engine to provide heat for the building. And, when summer comes this same waste heat cools the building in an absorption cooling system.

The total energy package has still a different ... Industrial plants use the cast-iron of their petroleum products and sell heat to the ... buildings. ... a finite ... the total energy ... provide free heat for ... locomotives to the kitchen sink.

By supplying heating, cooling and steam, total energy packages operating on natural gas will provide hundreds of ... jobs and ... in Alberta where we have a ... of low cost natural gas we are seeing more and more total energy plants going into service.

MacDuff Ottawa Report

Target: Regional expansion

OTTAWA — Creation of a new department of government to be known as the Department of Regional Economic Expansion was announced in the government re-organization legislation introduced into the Commons in mid-February.

Aim of the Department is to tap its total regional capacity across Canada.

It is headed by Jean Marchand. He becomes the Manpower Department minister when it was set up by L. B. Pearson. Later when Pierre Trudeau came to power Mr. Marchand as his right hand man was given the important assignment of Minister of Fisheries and Forestry.

LITTLE PROGRESS

In that job he was to get rid of the economic disparities, but Mr. Marchand has complained that the federal government's policy in that field so far has not been successful. It has not produced the desired results he told the recent federal-provincial conference in Ottawa.

I think we have made in Canada many efforts to get rid of these disparities, but we have not been successful. He added that the gap in dollars spent in this area since 1945 may have prevented the gap between the have and have-not areas from widening. But the progress has been towards closing it.

In recent years the emphasis has been on industrial incentives. This appeared to be the way to open up the higher income areas. But the underdeveloped areas need to be encouraged to develop a harbour here and industry and workers have industry away from the proven economic growth areas.

DON'T FIGHT THE TIDES

Mr. Marchand has now reversed the process. He admitted that it appeared far better in future to encourage proven growth areas instead of trying to reverse trends the government's new department is to move with these forces and encourage expansion. The new Department will implement a new concept for correcting economic disparities across the country. Scrapped will be the federal government's present Area Development act which failed to do the job.

Attention will be focused immediately on the hard-to-eastern section of the country from Three Rivers, Quebec eastward up to and including the Maritimes.

Later Mr. Marchand and his new department will turn their attention to northern Ontario, northern Manitoba and northern Alberta.

Among the natural growth centres that Mr. Marchand mentioned as likely to come in for assistance were Halifax-Dartmouth, Fredericton and Saint John in the east, along with Winnipeg in the west. He also mentioned the major cities in Alberta as being natural growth centres.

ENCOURAGE GROWTH

The Minister emphasized that under the new philosophy his department will follow in a region is had that Canada needs large cities. These strong growth centres will be encouraged to expand. He said there is no need to weaken the great cities such as Toronto and Montreal, and other big centres, to help the Maritimes. They don't necessarily get all the attention but there will not be an active campaign to there apparently has been in the past — to discourage industries from establishing in those centres or surrounding areas.

The government wants to develop growth centres so that people can go into such a centre in their own home province and find jobs to provide them with a satisfactory standard of living. It is a bold concept and will require a strong, government to carry it into operation successfully.

Mr. Marchand is well aware of this. He warned the premiers at the conference that there would be strong political pressures brought to bear on his department. His job and the job of the government as a whole is to make new program work properly, and so resist these pressures.

CHANGE PLANS

The Minister plans to introduce a new industrial incentives act into parliament this Spring or I feel then in the Fall. It will replace the Area Development Incentives act and will be drawn up after consultation with the provinces. One of the new measures will be to more effectively encourage establishment of new industries and to assist in the modernizing of industries now operating across that area.

Mr. Marchand's department will be one of several new divisions of the government created under the Government Re-organization legislation introduced in mid-February. That bill also transforms the Royal Canadian Mint into a crown corporation, sets up a medical research council for Canada and gives the Science Council of Canada crown corporation status.

It creates the new Consumer and Corporate Affairs Department with Ed Richard as Minister. It will incorporate the Post Office Department, but Mr. Kierans hopes in the future to turn the Post Office into a crown corporation. The Department of Industry is merged with the Department of Trade and Commerce to make it one big department.

ERROR IN PLANNING

Formation of a separate Department of Industry by the Pearson administration in the first place was a bad mistake. There was often duplication between the Trade and Commerce and Industry Departments and confusion between them, as well as jealousies.

The Forestry and Fisheries Departments are merged into one. A new Department of Supply and Services has been established with Don Jamieson as Minister. The reorganization bill also formally creates the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs under Ronald Basford.

Most attention was focused on the new Department under Mr. Marchand. It will seek to implement one of Mr. Trudeau's election campaign promises by revising and integrating the government's many anti-poverty programs.

Energy plant provides power for Tofield shop

In Tofield a natural gas total energy plant provides electric power and heat for a machine factory.

Two converted engines, a V-8 automobile and diesel D-6 engine use natural gas to power 365kW and 30 kW generators.

Engine heat is reclaimed in a radiator and a blower circulates heat in the building.

In addition two more converted V-8 engines use natural gas to drive two welding machines.

The plant and equipment are the result of the ingenuity of Alsel Rasmussen, 70-year-old inventor and builder of machinery.

Mr Rasmussen's inventiveness dates back to the 1930's when he invented a device to bore out logs to make water pumps in the Peace River.

In 1936, when money was scarce, he built an electric welding unit. A 15 HP DC motor was purchased at an Edmonton junk yard for $25. It was shipped to Grimshaw for $44.40 and in three weeks Mr Rasmussen had built the only electric welder in the Peace River country. Later he added a model A Ford engine to the unit and sold it for $300.

Mr Rasmussen began his machinery plant in Tofield in 1951 to manufacture grain dryers. He converted a V-8 automobile engine to run on natural gas for supplying all the power and heat for the plant. The engine turned a generator while liquid circulated through a radiator and blower to heat the 16 foot wide by 64 foot long building.

Today Mr. Rasmussen has expanded operations and has added more natural gas engines and machinery of his own invention.

A major addition is a diesel engine converted to natural gas. It drives a 50kW generator to produce additional electric power.

The Alsel Rasmussen manufacturing plant is a collection of inventions, many of which have a direct or indirect association with natural gas. One example is the metal cutting press. Power from the gas engine activates a pump and applies pressure through a hydraulic system to operate a metal press.

Manufactured implements include grain dryers, dozer blades for farm tractors, hydraulic presses, special-use chains and drill presses. The plant is a unique combination of natural gas and a man's ingenuity to produce dozens of labor saving devices.

People may remember the good old days... but rarely about the good old products. Now and then a product is improved, sometimes for the worse, but more often for the better. Take television, for instance. Today's black and white set was a buy at $595 ... today, for roughly the same money, you get a colour set. And we get it in 1/2 the time.

How come? Many reasons. Advertising is one of them. Advertising spreads the word to millions of people. It is the desires of millions that makes mass production practical. And mass production makes low costs possible.

Take a look around you. Part of our good life is the good things in it. And advertising helps good things happen.

Cattle and swine sale set for April 9 and 10

The Camrose Agricultural Society Sales Committee will hold their annual spring sale of registered beef cattle and swine on Wednesday and Thursday, April 9 and 10th, 1969, at the Fairgrounds in Camrose.

While the cattle section consists primarily of bulls, entries of females are also accepted. All entries must be halter broken and pass inspection by the selection committee. $100.00 prize money will be offered for the Grand Champion Bull in each of the beef breeds. The committee is especially hopeful of increasing the number of cattle entered in the sale and every effort will be extended so that a most successful sale may be held.

It is of interest to swine breeders that perhaps the most successful fall swine sale staged in Alberta in 1968 was held in Camrose on December 9th. Boars averaged $123.00 and sows $120.00.

All entries close March 1st.

A banquet, sponsored by the Camrose Chamber of Commerce will be held the evening of April 9th. All contributors, buyers, and other interested persons are invited to attend. MacDuff Ottawa Report

Deserter don't darken my door

OTTAWA—The Canadian Government has displayed little willingness to sympathize with the plight of American military deserters turned away from our border by immigration officers.

Although an estimated 40,000 draft evaders and deserters have found sanctuary in this country —many of Dustin Hoffman's "graduate" variety—the Canadian Government has stubbornly taken drop-outs too warmly.

Officially a person's status as a draft dodger or deserter is not supposed to be queried when he applies at the border for admission as a landed immigrant or according to his own judgment.

Many of these men are World War II veterans themselves, and they are not inclined to look unfavorably on deserters and draft dodgers. And when the fact of desertion is established, sometimes by peripheral questioning ("Where do you live?" "Where have you been working?") it may be taken into account as evidence of a "Contractual violation" not fulfilled in the applicant's home country.

Finally (still more fogily) there are references to the North Atlantic Treaty and its provision that member states of the alliance will not accept each other's deserters as immigrants.

The deserters' case came to the fore a few weeks ago when five young Glendon College students masquerading as deserters and entered the U.S. to apply for readmission to Canada as landed immigrants.

INFORMATION "FORWARDED"

In each case, their bids were rejected. In more than one instance it seemed clear that Canadian border officers had sent word back to their American counterparts that a "deserter" was being returned (although this assumption is challenged by government spokesmen).

The students finally re-entered Canada by revealing their true identity. They had been careful not to carry their passports to the point of perjury by signing a false name to the immigration documents. But the point had been made, at least to their satisfaction — Canada is aiding and abetting the U.S. in enforcing its draft laws.

The story broke over a weekend, and Immigration Minister MacEachen, when first approached for comment, sought to brush it off as a matter of little account. He asked the evasive tack being gathered through impersonation, and he hinted that this was hardly the way to conduct a serious investigation into an alleged breach of government regulations.

EVIDENCE BURGEONS UP

Mr. MacEachen has now been allowed, however, to forget the incident. Militant groups of citizens devoted to aiding the cause of the deserters and draft evaders have quietly been gathering sworn affidavits of improper behaviour by immigration officers And after an initial rejection, arrangements were made to present the evidence to the Minister in person this week.

The protesters are careful at to suggest that the law is wrong Nor do they request that immigration regulations be changed.

What they do ask is fair treatment for the unhappy Americans fleeing their own country — the same treatment, in fact, given to refugees from less Certain countries in many instances.

Immigration spokesmen say the two categories can't be compared —"there is a vast difference between being persecuted, and being prosecuted in your country of origin", one explained.

CONTRADICTS POLICY

But the brief to Mr. MacEachen submits that the chief grievance is that immigration officers rase discriminating against deserters "solely because of the military status We submit that this discrimination violates the Immigration Act, in fact and in principle, and violates declared governmental policy"

Considerable documentation is offered, both statements of government policy concerning the draft dodgers and deserters, and sworn statements of a number of Americans alleging discrimination by border officers.

A key quotation is one from Hansard in June, 1967, in which John Munro, then parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Manpower and Immigration, told the Commons:

"An individual's status with regard to compulsory military status in his own country has no bearing upon his admissibility to Canada either as an immigrant or as a visitor; nor is he subject to removal from Canada because of unfulfilled military obligations in his country of citizenship."

Mr. MacEachen then now says this statement was taken out of context The previous sentence they point out, made reference to aliens who may be subject to military call-up in their home lands" but not to deserters.

Nevertheless the evidence presented by friends of the deserters causes serious questions about the attitude of officials in carrying out government policy

TIP-OFF CONFIRMED

In one case, a sworn affidavit alleges, two immigration officers closed the door of the office where it is and began to shout and [illegible] me to the effect that I [illegible] I was told [illegible] They pushed me against walls and doors, and struck me several times."

In another, U.S. officials are [illegible] Canadian counterpart had given them off that a deserter was be [illegible] arrived with a Canadian [illegible] part of a conspiracy" to assist draft dodgers by refusing to [illegible] the bona fide American admission, and described it as regular procedure in the interest of maintaining law and order"

In a matching point, perhaps, the entire controversy about the way the law is being applied was made by a letter to the editor of The Ottawa Citizen

If the same law had applied at the time of the American Revolution Canadian officers later confirmed, it specified, United Empire Loyalists who sought protection under the British flag would have been rejected, some of them according risks, wife deserters or absconders".

It's easier to enter Canadian territory, it seems as a refugee from Soviet-style totalitarianism than as a refugee from American style democracy.

Stop the radicals

The student revolts that are sweeping across many countries of the world including this one are relatively unnoticeable in this province, although the day may not be too far off when we'll find ourselves in the same boat as the rest of the world. Now is the time to take effective action to see that it does not occur. Some of the complaints raised by students are justified while much is brought to a head by so-called radicals.

School authorities must be made to realize that the youth of today have much more freedom than their counterparts of just a few years ago, and that schools operating under rules of twenty years or more ago are too stifling, causing unrest among the student body. Authorities must modernize their thinking to the present day and avoid the stupid thought that while it can happen elsewhere, it will never happen here. Radical students are often the problem of the Federal Government in that, seemingly in many instances they come from other countries and, according to news stories carried about these radical leaders, they are often well known for their ideas and opinions before they come to this country. This being the case, the Immigration Department should take the necessary steps to prevent them from gaining access to our universities. Freedom of speech is a wonderful gift, but only as long as it is not abused, which seems to be the case with these members of a dissatisfied minority. If they could not come into the country, conditions would be much easier to cope with, because most students seem desirous of obtaining an education while these leaders of revolt spend their time stirring up discontent and paying little if any attention to furthering their knowledge.

Should they slip into the country unnoticed, then, at the first sign of these radical actions, they should be asked to return to their own countries and let their people cope with them. Canadians have often been described as one of the more ambitious nations in the world and Canadians as workers, are well-thought-of in other nations. Why should a few malcontents be allowed to come into this country and disrupt an education system that is providing the world with the leaders of tomorrow? Local governments at all levels should be protesting strongly to their counterparts in Ottawa, to see that the necessary steps are taken to prevent any further disasters. Do not make the mistake of thinking that you are not involved! You are! Your sons and daughters must go to the bigger universities to further their studies, but this can only be done if those universities are in full operation and not closed down by strikes or sit-ins reader to believe that the high cost of Actors is the reason for the C.B.C.'s deficit. The example given was Joe Cartwright's $12,500 per week salary on "Bonanza."

In fact, C.B.C. or C.T.V. have nothing to do with Hollywood's payroll. Bonanza is one of the few programs that is self sustaining. I refer here to C.B.C.'s Programs. C.T.V. on the other hand operates at a handsome profit. Programs like Bonanza are self sustaining because of sponsors like General Motors.

The reason for C.B.C.'s deficit (in 1968 approx. 120 million dollars, or to be more exact, $7.35 for every man, woman and child in Canada) can be attributed to the high cost of production involved in programs which, because of their lack of general appeal, are shunned by sponsors. People would cease to complain about commercials if they were aware of the above statistics.

In the latest T.V. ratings, in the top 30 programs, C.B.C. had only six, the other 24 top programs are on C.T.V.

The figures speak for themselves. Why is C.T.V. so successful? Quite simple. Superior programming and management and an aggressive advertising policy. C.B.C. is a financial disaster and a thorn in every Canadian's side for the opposite reason.

Thank you.

Lan Hagen

CANADIANS WORLD'S GABBIEST PEOPLE

When it comes to telephones, Canadians are still the world's gabbiest people, and they have been for 17 years in a row. Recent statistics on the subject, compiled world-wide, show that Canadians make 687.1 calls a year, up from 664 conversations in the preceding year. Americans are the next gabbiest at 387 calls. The U.S., however, has the most telephones — 103 million in service. Canada comes sixth with 8.6 million, following Japan, Brit. & West Germany, and the U.S.S.R. Total world telephones is 222 million, or 6.4 for every 100 people. Canada has 40.65 per 100 people.

From Nylon Carpeting to Nose Cones

A fuel that ancient peoples thought was a miracle is producing near-miracles today for modern industry.

The fuel, natural gas, was venerated by man as early as 1000 B.C. because of its "mysterious powers." Twentieth Century man has harnessed those powers, employing them today in myriad ways to make everything from acrilan to zithers.

The glass fibre draperies on your windows, the nylon carpeting under your feet and the synthetic fabric upholstery of the chairs and couches in your living room are all products in whose manufacture gas played a role.

The chances are good, too, that the clothes you are wearing came from the petrochemical world where natural gas derivatives are major ingredients of such man-made materials as nylon, dacron and orlon.

More than ever, industry today is turning to gas to make new and better products for modern living. Well over 10,000 industrial plants throughout Canada now depend upon this versatile fuel for the manufacture of their products. Together they purchase almost 50 per cent of all gas used in Canada each year.

While new and more productive uses for gas are being developed by industry, natural gas is likewise attaining increased importance as a raw material.

In the petrochemical industry, hydrocarbons are extracted from gas and are blended with other elements to create literally hundreds of new products such as synthetic rubber, man-made fabrics, plexiglass, detergents, fertilizers, chemicals and entire families of versatile plastics.

Natural gas is helping man, too, to explore the outer regions of space. The body of a missile or space capsule is hardened under three hours of exposure to a 1,600-degree blast of gas heat. Missile nose cones, which must withstand intense heat during re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, are tempered by gas heating. And industrial scientists find natural gas extremely valuable in research and development laboratories.

As modern industry continues to write new and exciting chapters in the development of a better tomorrow, natural gas will continue its central role in making that goal more attainable.

Ryley Junior girls win the 'Big Three' Trophy

by Grace Phillips and Ruth Davies

The Ryley junior high girls' basketball team were winners of the trophy donated by the Junior High Big 3 for the invitational girls' tournament held Saturday, March 8, in the Tofield School.

Mr. Peter von Stackelberg, coach of the Tofield junior high girls' team, had invited girls' teams from Hay Lakes, Daysland and Ryley to participate in the first game, Tofield defeated Hay Lakes. In the second, Ryley won over Daysland. The two losers played, with Daysland being the winner. The final game gave Mr. John Blades' Ryley team the trophy, which was presented by Kerry Blackluck, president of the Big 3, to Brenda Albrecht, captain of the Ryley team.

The victory in this tournament climaxed a highly successful season for the Ryley team, as they went through the entire season undefeated, winning all eight of their league contests and picking up four more wins in tournament play.

In addition to taking the Big 3 Trophy, the Ryley girls also assured the Ryley Junior High Students' Trophy for finishing in first place in the Beaver County League, and the Ryley Lions Club Trophy for winning the Lions' Tournament held in Viking on March 1.

Completion of the tournament in Tofield on Saturday ended the regular season of basketball in the County of Beaver.

$153 raised for paraplegics

by Grace Phillips

"The warmest reception ever received", was the comment of the paraplegic basketball team after their games against the high school teams in the Tofield school gymnasium on Saturday, March 8.

The paraplegics supplied the wheel-chairs for the opposition teams. In the game against the girls, the paraplegics fielded only three players against the girls' five; against the boys' team, the numbers were equal. The results in both games were widely in favor of the visitors.

A capacity crowd of Tofielders lined the gym and packed the stage to watch this exhibition with enjoyment. This high school-sponsored event resulted in a cheque for $153.00 being added to the fund the paraplegics are raising in order to be able to participate in the Paralympics in Argentina.

Blue Jays end season

by Mrs. G. H. Taylor

After enjoying a delicious supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews, the Holden High School girls, the "Blue Jays", left for Warburg to defend the County of Beaver in "C" Basketball playoffs Friday and Saturday.

The first game was played against Fore-burg on Saturday morning. After playing a hard and close game, Fore-burg won by a score of 26-23. In the consolation finals, the girls were once again defeated by Forest-burg, by a score of 26-20.

Tom Shimko brought the girls home Saturday evening after an eventful but disappointing two days.

No other team matched this record as Lethbridge placed three players, Mount Royal had two, and Red Deer had one player that rated. Left to right, Anita Morck and Hazel Olsen made the first team, while Marjorie Moore and Yvonne Johnson were selected to the second team. —Camrose Canadian Newspaper.

County School Committee briefs

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9 School Committee held Tuesday, February 11 Present were Cs. W. A. Davis, A. L. Gibson, G. Knudsen, W. Krupinicki, J. H. Boddick, C. Sears and W. D. Johnston. Also present were J. B. Allen C. J. Noel, H. Wilkie and N. Semeniuk representing Towns and Villages and William Beck Supervisor of Schools. The meeting was called to order at 10:15 a.m. by the chairman, C. Boddick

Cr. Boddick reported on the discussion held at Lake Lacombe at the Zone meeting, with regard to Zone Bargaining and how it would be organized if enough demand were forthcoming for this type of bargaining.

After considerable discussion it was moved and carried that we do not enter into a Zone Bargaining agreement in 1969.

The tenders for the purchase of the two school buses, which had been advertised, were now opened.

It was moved and carried that Bus No. 2 be sold to Alex Peskett for $477. Bus No. 11 be sold to M. Fletcher for $300. Bus No. 25 be sold to Mr. Richter for $250. Bus No. 36 be sold to Mr. Beres for $681. Bus No. 37 be sold to Mr. Lyn for $450. Bus No. 38 be sold to Mr. Morrie Cross for $600.

The Committee report on salaries and wages for office staff and school employees, other than teachers was discussed by the Committee.

Moved and carried that the report be accepted and the School Committee concur in the salaries established by this Committee.

It was noted that the part-time janitors had not received any consideration in the Committee report.

Moved and carried that part-time janitors start at $1.25 per hour and that their position be reviewed after three months; if satisfactory, the wages will then be raised to $1.40 per hour and carry on through the agreement at an increase of 10 cents per hour.

Moved and carried that the report of the Salary Committee regarding positions for Supervisors be accepted and concurred in.

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that the agreement between the County and Sonja and Norman Rabbitz, janitors at the Bruce School had been approved by the Board of Industrial Relations and the copies of the agreement returned to us.

A letter from the County of Minburn regarding Town and Village representatives was read. The County of Minburn was requesting that we support their position that they do not agree in having more than four members on the County's School Committee from the Towns and Villages. As this is no problem as far as the County of Beaver is concerned and also they feel that possibly representation should be approved where people are supportive of the school system to any extent.

A letter from the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation regarding requirements for 1969 was read.

Moved and carried that we advise the Municipal Financing Corporation that we may require $20,000 to upgrade our Industrial Arts Shops in Viking and Ryley.

Mr. Herman Lauber advised and discussed the letter he had written to the School Committee regarding payment for bus trips for Saturdays. Mr. Lauber contended that where the bus was being used on Saturday for trips that sometimes took all day should not be paid at the rate of $5 per trip, as is the case for evening trips. He said that they had been advised they were responsible for the buses from the time they picked them up until the time they return home. The School Committee discussed the situation and felt that, probably where trips require the bus driver to be absent from home for the full day on Saturday that $10.00 was not adequate remuneration.

Moved and carried that payment for trips on Saturday made inside the County would be paid at the rate of $5.00 for four hours and if the trip extended over five hours that they receive $10.00.

Mrs. Dubinski, Wheeler and discussed the requirements under the Fire Commissioner's Office as reported by their inspector. He had gone through the report and felt that some of it would require fairly extensive renovations. The Old McKenzie School at Tofield would require about $285.00 to bring it up to the Fire Commissioner's standards. The containers for storage of flammable material would cost in the neighborhood of $80.00. The lockers and halls would be another $700.00 to bring them up to the standard required. The total cost of the renovations would probably be in the neighbo hood of $1,700. The lockers would cost about $700.00 and the balance of the work $1,000.00.

It was moved and carried that all fire inspector's request be done with the exception of the lockers and the halls, and that these be left until after the tour.

It was decided that the annual tour of the school buildings should be done earlier this year, and that it be tentatively set for March 19 and 20, but that the final date be established at the meeting on March 11.

The 1968-69 Teachers' Salary Agreement was presented for any changes that might be required. As there were no changes that the School Committee wished to

Don reports

Since Parliament resumed after the Christmas recess, we have been operating under a new set of rules. While business has been speeded up appreciably in the House the same cannot be said for Committees. The Committees seem to be coming ever more bogged down as the business of the House progresses, not only that there seems to be a great deal of difficulty in laying down ground rules for the operations of the Committees, rules which were not spelled out in the new standing orders. So we have some committees conducting business and hearing witnesses without a quorum, while others are not. There is considerable difficulty in setting a quorum for committee meetings because many members of Parliament serve on two, three, or even four committees and from time to time conflicts of committee meetings certainly do arise. We were led to believe that the increasing role of committees would in effect, provide a more meaningful democracy in that cluse by closer study of Bills and other matters which would be considered and thus improvements could be proposed and dealt with more constructively. However, from comments made from members on both sides of the House this would not appear to be the case. Unfortunately both groups [illegible] that the [illegible] Committee [illegible] Bill [illegible] Committee [illegible] Bills [illegible] Committee [illegible] Bills [illegible] Committee [illegible] Bills retary - Treasurer to look into agreements which were to have been made between the County of Beaver and the other counties bordering the County of Beaver, with regard to fire protection.

A letter from the Farmers Union of Alberta requesting a grant for 1969 was read.

Moved and carried that the correspondence be received and filed, and that the Farmers Union be advised that the County does not anticipate a grant to them this year.

A letter from Stewart, Weir, Stewart & Watson, advising that the drainage ditch in Section 11, 13 and 14-49-19-W4th could not be registered as a road plan, and that it would have to be dealt with by easement or by direct transfer from the property owners to the County of Beaver.

The information from Alberta Emergency Organization was presented. Among the information was a notice that the E.M.O. would like to hold a headquarters operation course in the County office, March 31 to April 2, 1969.

Mr. Allan Strome, Mr. Wes Williams and Mr. Ron Milton of the Water Resources Branch, Department of Agriculture attended the meeting at this time. There was a general discussion on the drainage problems and proposed drainage ditches in the County of Beaver.

Cr. Knaldelwich requested that some assistance be granted in placing gravel rolls on three locations on the Amisk Creek drain age project, which had been completed in 1968.

Cr. Krojelnicki requested assistance to clean up the balance of the work which had been left, due to wet weather, on the Bawerhill Project.

Moved and carried that we request $2,500 for the Amisk Creek Project and $2,500 for the Beaverhill Project from the Department of Agriculture.

Cr. Knudsales said that he does not plan on any work on the Shonts Project this year as he has had no further request for it.

A request of the subdivision of the N½ of S.E. 19-50-20-W4th was presented to the Council again. This request had come up previously but had been refused by the Council as there was no access to the parcel as the road does not run all the way past this quarter. However, Mr. Ashill, who has purchased part of this quarter, presented a letter advising that as long as he is the owner of this quarter, the owner of the other part, Mr. Romanin son, would always have access to his buildings on the south part of the quarter. Cr. Sears advised that if there is a request for a road past this quarter he would be in a position to build it.

Moved and carried that we approve the subdivision with the letter advising that Mr. Romanin son will have access to his property.

A letter from Lolsrud, Cuningham and Rudnicki, requesting the cancellation of a road diversion in the S.E. 21-47-13-W5th, was presented.

As the road has gone past this diversion and the diversion is no being presently used, it was moved and carried that we proceed to cancel this road diversion.

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that a date would have to be set for the Court of Revision.

Moved and carried that the Court of Revision start April 28.

It was moved and carried that the Councillors' Accounts be approved and passed for payment.

Moved and carried that the pound presently on the farm of Ole Hagen on S.W. 34-50-17-W4th be moved to the farm of Chris Bugge on the S.W. 34-50-17-W4th and that Chris Bugge be appointed pound keeper.

Gerald Allot attended at this time and reported on the work that was being done in the shop. He advised that he could see no reason why we would need to dispose of any of our machinery this year; that it could be repaired and kept working. He was asked who of his staff would wish to attend the training school at Union Tractor, March 6 and 7. He suggested that he, together with Ron Hisey and Alfred Harbak would attend this school if approved.

Moved and carried that we authorize Gerald Allott, Ronald Hisey and Alfred Harbak to attend the Union Tractor School.

A letter from the Provincial Department of Public Welfare advising that the appointment of welfare officers for 1968 had expired, and they requested the Council to appoint new welfare officers for 1969.

Moved and carried that Robert Cross and Douglas Lehman be appointed welfare officers for the County of Beaver No. 9 for 1969.

There was no further business, it was moved and carried that the meeting adjourned at 4 p.m.

Ryleyite honored on 80th birthday

Mrs. Tillie Brauss, a long-time resident of Ryley, celebrated her 80th birthday on January 28, when many friends and neighbors called at her home to wish her happiness on that special day.

Mrs Brauss came from Minnesota in the fall of 1908, as a young girl with her family, the Peter Oelunds, who homesteaded three miles east of Equity (now Ryley). She has resided in the village of Ryley close to 60 years and is a charter member of the Bethel Lutheran Church. She has also been a faithful member of the Ladies' Aid or Church Women for many years.

A short program in the afternoon consisted of devotion by Mrs. R. Magnuson, remembrances of bygone days by old friends, several poems, and a Birthday Prayer read; and a presentation of a bouquet of flowers from the Bethel Lutheran Church Women in appreciation of all the work done by Mrs. Brauss over the years.

A lovely birthday cake, baked by a niece, Mrs. N. Kushnir, and decorated by Mrs. W. Pope, was presented to Tillie, who cut the first piece while everyone sang "Happy Birthday!" Several gifts and many greetings were also received.

Coffee and a delicious lunch of birthday cake, krumkaka, rosettes, spritz, and other delicacies was served by the Church Women.

"Tillie", as she is known to young and old alike, is well, and takes care of her own home. She retired just two years ago as janitor of the Bethel Lutheran Church, a position she held for fifty years.

Ross Creek district news items

by I.B VanBuskirk

Thursday, March 6, marked the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Art Farrel. The day was celebrated with a pot-luck supper and entertainment in the lower hall of the Ross Creek Church. The bride and groom were attended by Mr and Mrs Albert Hallberg. Mr. Hallberg had been the best man for Art's wedding 40 years ago. Mrs. Farrel's bridesmaid was her sister Mrs. Gladys VanBuskirk, of Hixon, B.C. who was unable to be present for the anniversary celebration.

Mr. Frank Willam celebrated his 81st birthday on March 8, and everyone joined in singing "Happy Birthday" to him. A family dinner was held on Sunday at his home.

The United Church Women held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs Isobel McLachlan on Wednesday evening. The evening was spent planning the Ham and Bean Supper to be held in the lower hall of the Ross Creek Church on Saturday, March 15.

Mr Alex Duncan has recovered from surgery, and is now staying at the Sherwood Lodge in Sherwood Park.

Mr and Mrs Raymond Mc Lachlan spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs Marty Slater in Edmonton, getting acquainted with their new granddaughter.

An old land mark will soon be disappearing from the scene, when Ross Creek Store will be demolished to make room for the new highway. The old Ross Creek School will also disappear.

Stewart and Brock Snider, of Edmonton, spent the weekend at these parental home, to help their mother celebrate her birthday.

and above the tender was negotiated at $5.18. In addition to this, after the tender expired, there was an additional bill of $1,800 per calendar day covering overhead items such as fire guard duty, utilities and other services which were included in the $3.95 Labor rate, but not in the $5.18. These overhead items, we are told are customarily included in such contracts.

The Committee also questioned the fact that the ship was not decontaminated during the active refit, and that in addition to the cost of fire protection etc some 170-180 crew members were aboard the ship during this time. The original estimate of painting was estimated at $400,000 while the final cost was $1,091,000, an increase of $671,000.

There was a figure of $40,000 which arose as a result of late delivery of certain materials purchased by the DDF, however, the Department was unable to estimate the reason for the delay.

Despite the many inaccuracies in estimating and the negotiating of labor rates the Department of Defence Production did not request full financial information at the time the increases were being negotiated. In other words, once the shipbuilders had the ship dry-docked and under re-fit, they called the shots and the Canadian taxpayer paid.

Previously the Steering Committee of Public Accounts is conducting a detailed examination of all negotiations repair orders and all aspects of the refit, refitting, of course, that the money is spent but working in hope that such mismanagement may never happen again.

While the Steering Committee is investigating the details of the refit of the Bonaventure, the Committee has undertaken to study and report on light another major spending program, which already has cost the country some $53,600,000, which was originally to have be 29,000,000. This pertains to the development of the Hydrofoil which is an anti-submarine warfare craft of some 200 tons capable of operating at high speeds in the open ocean.

The program was launched in May of 1963 at an estimated cost of 29,100,000. However costs have skyrocketed to the point where $57,000,000 has been spent and we are told the craft is to be launched in early spring, as yet we do not know whether it will even work. I will keep you informed as to our findings in future reports.

Dear Sir:

Without much question this past winter has been one of the coldest in many years, and Albertans are now looking forward to the warmer and longer days of summer. However, until our Provincial Government adopts Daylight Saving Time during the summer months (May-October) Albertans will lose one hour of useful sunlight every day for over twenty weeks of the summer and fall.

The majority of city dwellers and an increasing number of rural Albertans are now in favour of using Daylight Saving Time (DST) in Alberta. DST simply transfers an hour of sunlight and warmth from the early morning period (4:00 - 5:00 a.m.) to the evening when the day's work is over and is a time for relaxation.

By using this more change each summer, Albertans would then be in step with the rest of Canada and virtually every State in the U.S. As it is now we are forced to make the old mistake and we lose are the losers when it comes to ensuring our great outdoors facilities, our electric light bills are higher than necessary as we have to be final it as games curtailed even in the summer, and our tourist [illegible] are reduced because of the lack of DST in Alberta when other parts of the country enjoy the benefits of it.

[illegible] motor owners aren't to keep on DST and [illegible] to [illegible] make this the Alberta [illegible] to get behind the movement [illegible] people [illegible] vote [illegible] are [illegible] DST [illegible] Provincial Government introduce DST on a trial basis this summer.

The House That Gas Built

Modern homes are actually houses that gas built. Window glass, asbestos, cement blocks, bricks, bathroom fixtures, lumber and even the kitchen sink are processed by the magic blue flame.

And industry is constantly finding new jobs for gas. In fact, natural gas has more than 20,000 adaptations of over 2,500 individual uses in the production and fabrication of almost every item required in the daily life of the nation.

Natural gas, however, is more than an industrial tool.

Today, for instance, when a girl dons a sweater to bring her warmth, it is as likely to have come from the chemists' vats as from the sheep man has herded for centuries. The sheer hose she wears to feel and look her best are more likely to evolve from a chemical factory than from nature's miraculous but not-so-efficient silkworm. The purse she carries is probably made of plastic. And somewhere along the line — either in production or as a raw material and quite likely both — natural gas plays a vital role in making these and hundreds of other items. For gas is a basic ingredient in nearly the entire roster of things we refer to as synthetics.

And what of the future? Natural gas is being used experimentally in thermionic and thermoelectric fuel cell devices to silently produce electricity — without a single moving part.

Ultimately, as additional technical advances reduce costs and increase productivity, these devices will open a whole new vista of jobs for natural gas.

IN MEMORIAM

HJELTER.—In loving memory of Harold, who passed away March 22, 1967:

He left us quietly, his thoughts unknown,
But left us a memory we are proud to own;
Just as he was, he will always be,
Treasured forever in our memory.

—Ever remembered and sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

BURKA.—In loving memory of a husband and father, Bill J. Burka, who passed away March 26, 1967:

God saw he was getting weary,
He did what He thought best.
He put His arms around him
And whispered, "Come and rest".

The golden gate stood open
Two years ago today.
He gently slipped away

FRANK CORRIGAN NEW UNITED CHURCH MINISTER

At the United Church on Sunday, Miss Anne Stephanson announced her term would come to an end on the last Sunday in April, and that Frank Corrigan, student minister who assists the Rev. Hart Cuttelon at Central United Church in Edmonton, will be the student minister on the Ministik field this summer. Members of the congregation are looking forward to Mr. Corrigan's arrival.

The CWL annual Easter Ham bingo will be held at Ministik Hall on Friday, March 28th, at 8:30 p.m. This is always an event to look forward to.

Mr and Mrs. George Kleinschroth attended the Federation of Community Leagues annual skating show at the Edmonton Gardens, on Saturday evening. They had nieces and nephews participating.

ELECTS OFFICERS

At their annual meeting, held last Monday evening, the Ministik Community Club elected new officers for the ensuing year, as follows: Joe Davenport, pres.; Pat Paterson, vice pres.; Mrs. Albert Horricks, sec.-treas. An evening of curling was planned for Saturday night, March 22, bowling on April 12, and a dance for April 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill George of Edmonton were Sunday guests of Mrs. N. George.

LADIES' CLUB MEETS

The Ministik Ladies' Club met at the hall for their March get-together, with 18 members in attendance. A whist drive was planned for Friday, April 11th, with proceeds to go to the Community Hall. A variety bingo was planned for April 25, with Mrs. Joe Davenport as convenor. Funds from same will be for the summer picnic fund. March birthdays were enjoyed by Mrs. Claude Leach, Mrs. Ronald Seabey, and Mrs. Baden Bowerman. Hostesses for lunch were Mrs. Helen Hennessy, Mrs. Bruno Jenke, and Mrs. Albert Horricks. An enjoyable evening of newer names of residents of the community was supplied by Mrs. Baden Bowerman. Contest winners were Mrs. Ken Nilsson and Mrs. Bill Roddick, with consolation going to Mrs. S. George.

Mrs. Andrew Ferguson remains a patient in Tofield Hospital, and friends hope her stay will not be much longer now.

Carroll Rebekah Lodge No. 86 of Ryley reviewed a very successful 1968.

The Lodge carries out an extensive program of service to others, financed by member donations and dues, and fund-raising projects. Among these were the card party, bazaar, tea, and bake-sale and the Anne and John Goodall Art Exhibit and tea. A lunch of soup and sandwiches was served the teachers who participated in the Beaver County two-day Art Institute.

Donated to the Lodge for raffles were an oil painting by Anne Goodall, a lawn ornament by O. Orbeck, a plant by Mrs. H. Hillyard, and a crocheted set of doilies by Mrs. Doris Ostlund.

Supported by the Lodge during the year were the following: Woods Christian Home, Muscular Dystrophy Association, Crippled and Afflicted Children's Fund, Arthritic and Rheumatism Society, Salvation Army, the Nursery Fund, the Eye Bank and Research Centre of North America supported entirely by IOOF and for which the Carroll Rebekah received a 400% certificate of support.

The canvass of Ryley town and district for donations for Cancer Research and Treatment was carried out, with Mrs Lavina Loader as convener. Memorial donations to this fund during the year were also handled by Mrs Loader.

The United Nations Speaking Contest was sponsored by the I.O.O.F. Lodges and Miss Beth Ingram of Tofield participated in this area winning second place in the finals. Two students were sent to the U.N. from Alberta. Miss Ingram was presented with a gift from the Lodge in recognition of her achievement.

Two large chrome coffee servers engraved in memory of Cora Young, a charter member, were purchased with a donation from her daughter, Mrs. H. Thomas of Stettler.

Articles were donated to the Christmas Showers' Fair, held annually at the Alberta Hospital. Several boxes of clothing were donated to the Seventh Day Adventist Welfare Services.

Participation in Community projects was also fostered. A donation toward the expenses of a representative to the U.N. Seminar at Banff was given to the Ryley School. An engraved pen was presented to Monica Knudsen of the Ryley School runner-up for top marks in grade nine examinations. Presented to the new kitchen addition of the Ryley Community Hall was a coffee urn. A Rebekah Lodge float was entered in the Ryley Sports Day Parade, and a small contribution was donated toward the cost of the Rebekah float in the famous Rose Bowl Parade.

During the year, the 51st anniversary of the Lodge was celebrated. Tribute was paid to the founders of the Order, Schuyler Colfax and Theresa Wilsey. Many guests from sister lodges were sincerely welcomed at various meetings and local members enjoyed trips to the Alberta Assembly, to the December Meeting, and to neighbor lodges in Camrose, Fort Saskatchewan, and Edmonton.

Highlighting the year were two very festive occasions, the Senior Citizens Banquet and Christmas Party with 68 guests and 13 members present, and the October Birthday Party at Viking Lodge of Viking, where fifty guests were entertained with a musical program and supper.

The Tofield Grade Six Junior Red Cross, which was formed earlier this year, has been very successful in its activities to raise money for the sick and needy.

The hard-working Grade Six boys and girls started their campaign to raise money Hallowe'en with a popcorn and candy sale, which brought them $17.86.

Christmas found them busy making gaily decorated baskets to send to the Senior Citizens home at Viahs Lodge, Viking.

Then, after weeks of preparation, they performed a Variety Show on February 25 for the Elementary classes, which brought a soaring total of $32.45. The show was performed again the next Thursday for the Junior High, with a profit of $3.60.

How do you build a telephone company?

We started out with a desire to fill a particular community and business need, to provide Albertans with the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost. Our province needed a system of modern telephones to aid its prospering economy. Of course we had to obtain the physical necessities for the system: cable, switching equipment, microwave towers, and the phone that hangs on your wall or sits on your desk.

Then we had to find people to fit all these things into place. Technicians, engineers, girls who knew how to smile with their voices. Today we've an organization of 6,500 people, an investment of 420 million dollars, an integrated communications service that adds 85 million dollars of gross revenue to Alberta's economy yearly.

We met every challenge — provided every type of communication service you needed. Now, we're looking to the future! — carrying out a continuing program of research and development that will continue to provide Albertans with the finest possible communications services. We know our reason for being in business. YOU!

Food prices depend on where you live

Food prices, at least in larger communities, vary according to the particular location or the part of city you live in. That's the unsurprising conclusion drawn by two University of Alberta professors who took a close look at supermarket pricing policies recently.

Results of their survey, taken after the recent Safeway commission into supermarket pricing policies, is reported in the March-April issue of Canadian Consumer, the bi-monthly publication of the Consumers' Association of Canada. The only one of its kind published in this country, the magazine runs $2 per year from 100 Gloucester Street, Ottawa 4.

The same magazine carries reports of an extensive test on white interior paint, and the pitfalls of do - it - yourself painting plus a survey on the physical aspect of hearing aids.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is a national voluntary organization dedicated to the ultimate conquest of arthritis through the acquisition and application of a new knowledge.

New varieties yield dividends

The development of new varieties of crops since 1960 has meant gains in excess of 500 million dollars for producers and the Canadian economy, according to the president of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

Dr. Harold Klinck, of Macdonald College Quebec emphasizes during March Good Seed Month that the Canada Department of Agriculture alone has developed more than 20 new varieties of cereals as well as many other crops. Some of the advantages of newer varieties have been due to increased yields, others have been the result of increased resistance to disease.

Dr. Klinck explains that members of his organization, the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, work in conjunction with the Canada Department of Agriculture to multiply new varieties for distribution to commercial producers.

He said, "the development and use of newer varieties of crops has maintained Canada's role as a leading provider of top quality products in world markets".

According to the Plant Scientist, it is important for the commercial producer to use the correct variety for his area . . . the variety that has been developed for that part of Canada.

The only way a farmer can be assured of obtaining the right variety, he said, is by purchasing pedigreed seed. It has been inspected by government officials and certified true to variety as indicated on the blue tag attached to the bag or on the certificate in the case of bulk cereals.

DEAR SIR: There is a department store in town that is driving me wild. I have an account there and I use it regularly. They send me a bill once a month and I'm supposed to pay this bill within 10 days or there is a penalty charge. Well, the problem is, my payday doesn't come until a week after I get the bill. Then by the time I get to the bank and write my cheques, the 10 days are up and I get charged the penalty. This happened about four months in a row and finally I went down there and asked if they wouldn't change my billing date so their bill would come about the same time as my end-of-the-month cheque. Some smart-aleck woman told me it couldn't be done because the bills were sent out according to alphabet and the computer couldn't be changed. What kind of a world are we living in that the convenience of the computer is more important than the customer?

—MRS. R.L.

You have my heartfelt sympathy, and I hope your letter doesn't start a deluge of "computer" letters. I'm sure there isn't one of us who couldn't write a book about the treatment we've received at the hands of the computer. Unfortunately, however, my heartfelt sympathy is just about all I can offer you. The computer is now mightier than the pen, the sword or city hall. In fairness, however, I must say that programming a computer is a terribly expensive proposition and my accounting friends tell me that to change your billing date would cost more than the profit the store makes on your account. (If there are any department store billing department specialists in the audience I'd like to hear what they have to say about this). In the meantime, I can only suggest that you make every effort to set a little aside from the payday preceding the end of the month for the purpose of paying this particular bill when it comes in, and view yourself not only the penalty charge but the grief that goes along with it. I know it's hard to surrender to a computer, but that's what's happening.

Tofield making plans for 50th anniversary

Plans for the Diamond Anniversary of Tofield were furthered by the Tofield Community League at its regular April meeting, held on Tuesday, with president Bert Everitt in the chair.

Letters of invitation are to be sent out to all former residents whose names and addresses have been sent in to the League.

The resignation of the secretary, Father Scrivens, was received with regret. Rita Halverson will complete the 1969 term, and Hans Christensen will replace Mrs. Halvorson as treasurer.

H. Christensen reported that first draw for the $100 club had been won by Jack Innes. Another draw will take place on April 5.

Theatre operations and bingos in February and March were reported by Jack Whyte. The small attendance at the Saturday matinees has made them an economically unsound proposition and they will be discontinued after this Saturday, April 5.

Bert Everitt and Jack Whyte are the committee in charge of the April 23 bingo.

The meeting passed a motion asking the town council to investigate the possibility of supplying residents of the town of Tofield with subscriptions to The Mercury.

$1,000 is donated for Holden project

(Mrs. George H. Taylor)

At a public meeting held in Holden on Monday, March 31, it was decided to build additional facilities to the Holden Community Hall. Residents from the Village and farm areas elected Jack Stambaugh to chair a committee that will organize and promote the hall addition.

Enthusiastic supporters of the project donated close to a thousand dollars the night of the meeting, with an eye to commence construction as soon as possible. Monday, April 14, has been tentatively set as the date for a general drive for funds in Holden and district.

Other members of the committee, representing town and country, include: W. Komarnisky, B. Budd, L. Olson, P. Micklich, G. Langford and O. Shykora. Much of the planning preliminaries has already been done by another committee consisting of N. Shklanki, J. Tymchak and A. Corlies. This latter committee has drafted rough plans and has come forward with an estimate. Volunteer labor is planned for the actual construction.

Red Crossers have program

(by Carolyn Chilkewich)

On March 21, the grades five and six of the Tofield Junior Red Cross performed a program for their parents. A good crowd turned up on that cool night.

The program consisted of three health plays and two others. A flute solo, a violin solo, and a few piano solos were received with much applause. Several choruses ended the program. Lunch was served in the Tofield School Library.

Miss Lois Dodds, Field Supervisor for Red Cross Youth, visited the Tofield Elementary School on March 24. She presented a film on "Services of the Red Cross and Water Safety", which interested the students. Miss Dodds also showed handicrafts, albums and health kits, and encouraged the elementary teachers to start Red Cross groups.

MacDuff Ottawa report

Seven in a row

OTTAWA — "Well, the old man did it again. Seven in a row". Labour Minister Bryce Mackasey had some cause to be satisfied with himself as a strike by 3,200 white collar employees of the CBC was narrowly averted a few weeks ago after he personally took a hand in mediation proceedings.

Using his own special formula he developed in six earlier major settlements, he oversaw an agreement under which members of the Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada will get a 17 per cent increase over two years in line with a conciliator's finding that the workers were entitled to a catch-up wage boost. The formula is part hard good humour, part tough talk that hints of Cabinet backbenches, part blandishments, part threat but a must demand for a yes or no answer to proposed settlement terms.

All that could change if the Government adopts the recommendations of the Woods task force on labour relations which called for a much more structured approach to settling disputes.

After a probe that lasted two years and cost $1.5-million, the task force report recommended the creation of an independent commission to deal with public-interest disputes. This three-man commission would have the power to help parties in strike-prone industries where strikes would threaten the public interest, and even to impose a procedure for settling their dispute.

If there was a strike anyway, after these efforts, the commission could recommend compulsory arbitration, seizure of a plant and trusteeship. But only Parliament would have the right to invoke any of these drastic remedies.

All of that goes counter to the Mackasey formula, which has been successful so far although it could easily backfire anytime. As a result, informed observers here expect that the recommendation on the public-interest commission are not likely to get the support of the Labour Department or the Government.

"There must be something right in the present legislation", Mr Mackasey commented after he tabled the Woods report, basking back on his own recent successes. Under questioning in the Commons, he indicated that the Department is already well advanced in its own review of the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigations Act, the central piece of Federal labour legislation.

"We have been preparing amendments for some time but we have been holding them in abeyance until we have an opportunity to digest properly the Woods report", he told NDP deputy David Lewis. "The legislation proposed may or may not reflect the view of the task force."

Mr Mackasey indicated that the Department's review of the report could be completed by September. Then probably in late fall [illegible] to [illegible] as much consultation as possible [illegible].

The Government is likely to go along with the Woods recommendation that the Canada Labour Relations Board be scrapped as it is now constituted and replaced with a board appointed from the public at large. The CLRB is now made up of equal numbers of representatives of management and of labour together with a neutral chairman. This is the traditional formula for such boards and it has the advantages of familiarity, but there are also disadvantages.

Legislative report . . .

by Tony Cox, CFRN

March 29

The proposed formula for redrawing electoral boundaries in Alberta likely will reveal the most bitter confrontation between Social Credit and the Conservatives so far this session.

The report by the Social-dominated Legislative committee studying redistribution, which is still supposed to be under tight wraps, is virtually certain to reject the concept of representation by population.

Although urban voters outnumber their rural counterparts for the first time in the province's history, the proposed electoral reform will still favour rural voters despite a 34-27 urban majority in an expanded 75-seat Legislature.

Instead of being "one-by-pop" with perhaps a 25% voter population tolerance in each direction as is the case with the federal boundaries, the committee will propose a number of smaller urban centres with full urban seat status.

Designated urban seats which don't have enough voters to qualify as an urban seat, unless populations of lesser communities are added, would include Cutbank, Wetaskiwin, St Albert, Drumheller, and possibly Grande Prairie.

The proposed formula would create an urban seat for every 15,000 to 15,800 in designated city areas and a rural seat for every 5,888 to 7,880 voters in rural ones. The wrangle between the Socreds and the Tories also concerns how the new procedure will affect Edmonton and Calgary, which comprise about half of Alberta's population yet hold less than one-third of the 65 Legislative seats.

Under the new formula, the government claims four new seats will be added to both Edmonton and Calgary, while the Tories argue it will add only two apiece.

Lethbridge and Red Deer are expected to double in House representation. The main stumbling block, according to the Tories, is that the proposed formula would allow rural voting power to greatly influence urban results.

To outline an example of the present electoral inequalities, Social Credit, in the 1967 general election received its ninth consecutive mandate, capturing 55% of the Legislative seats, with only 44.6% of the popular vote.

Alberta's decision to enter medicare July 1 has had two significant repercussions.

Health Minister Dr J D. Ross has expressed a desire to leave the mammoth portfolio which he has guided since 1957 (in the coming cabinet shuffle likely he will move to Lands and Forests) and Alberta Health Plan director, Dr. J. A. D. Paul has resigned. Dr. Paul's decision was based on a long standing serious disagreement with the government's approach to certain aspects of Alberta's entry into medicare.

Under medicare, all Albertans will be entitled to have their basic medical bills paid for them, including certain optometric, chiropractic, chiropractic and dental services. All residents much register and pay a premium, the details of which still have to be worked out.

Amendments to the Municipal Taxation Act will give the government power to use its discretion in establishing land values for assessment purposes. In addition, farm exemptions have been extended so that the chief income from 30 acre parcels of land comes from the entire farm operation and not primarily from soil cultivation.

Other changes will reduce present land assessment values by two-thirds on old or housing lodges and summer cottages provided they are not occupied for more than 120 days a year. This will not apply to cottages which are rented or lea-ed.

In Brief:

- The rescinding of the three cent a gallon tax on purple fuel for farming purposes will become effective June 1.
- The Builder's Lien Act requiring liens of builders material suppliers, wage earners and others will be altered to day on the order paper for a 12-month period to allow for public submissions.
- Amendments to the Liquor Act soon to be introduced may eliminate unlikeness as a crime in an attempt to reduce the population of provincial jails.
- And when Tory MLA Dave Russell (Calgary-Victoria Park) accused the Socreds bringing in higher assessment estimates based on better power populations an hypocrisy, call and petition was rebuffed by any other person Attorney-General Ish. Aberhart retorted, "the Tories haven't had one good idea since Peeping Tom looked at Lady Godiva".

Think in terms of ice-safety! Ice can be hazardous, however. There is a simple way to tell if it is safe: it should be at least four inches thick. To determine thickness, chop a hole in the ice with an axe close to shore and measure. Bear in mind the thickness may change as you move further out. Check ice carefully in early winter and springtime.

This column is a regular weekly feature prepared by the Family Financial Counselling Service of a national personal finance corporation, P.O. Box 3000, Postal Station "A", Toronto. Questions submitted in the above address will be answered, by letter or by return mail. Names will not be used in print. However, all questions should be accompanied by a complete name and address.

Dear Sir: I'm pretty burned up the way some companies handle their customers. Recently I purchased quite a bit of carpeting for our new home . . . some $800 worth. The salesman also completed our credit application and papers told us what the monthly payments would be but he didn't say that somewhere else would bill us. About a week later we received the payment booklet from a bank. The salesman later told me this was done all the time. What is this? I thought our contract was with the carpet company?

Mrs. B. W.

This is a legitimate fact of business life, Mrs. B. W. Let's look at it this way. The company from which you purchased your carpeting is in business to sell carpeting. It is not a financial institution and therefore does not have the means or facilities to handle hundreds of credit accounts such as yours. It sells your credit contract to a lending institution which is obviously geared to handle them. The salesman was probably remiss in not telling you this, but I'm sure there was no purpose or intent in withholding this information from you. It's simply that the merchant offers his credit facility to you as a convenience whether it's his own or an outside institution such as a bank or finance company with which his company has an agreement.

The alternative, of course, is that you could have gone to your bank or a reputable finance company and acquired the cash, paid off the purchase and made your payments directly to the bank or finance company. It's all a matter of choice . . . and convenience. You'll probably find that the interest rates are the same. In the future, when you make a major purchase, ask the salesman who will bill you. If you aren't particularly satisfied with the institution which will handle your account, then you're free to make your own choice. If it's a reputable company . . . and you should buy only from merchants with established reputations, there won't be any hanky-panky.

By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it considered obligated to remember the child's birthday with a gift each year?

A. Not at all necessary. A christening present is expected, but anything beyond that depends upon how much the nonparent thinks of the child. Usually it's nice for the godparent to remember the child's birthday with a card.

Q. I am a widow soon to marry a widower. What type of wedding ceremony is in best taste for us, and may we have a reception?

A. Your wedding ceremony should be simple and informal—preferably with but one attendant for each of you. And certainly you may have a reception . . . of any size you wish.

Q. When serving wine at a dinner party in one's home, should the glasses be filled in the kitchen and then brought in to the table?

A. No. The wine should be poured into the glasses, at the right of each person, and without moving the glasses.

Q. Our neighborhood recently raised money for a needy family, and when the money was presented it was accompanied by a list of the donors, but not the amount each gave. Was this correct?

A. Yes; always tactful and proper to omit such amounts given by individual contributors.

The United Nations has issued an urgent plea through the Unitarian Service Committee for men-afghans, 28" x 36" for Arab refugee babies in Jordan, to protect them against the cold and dampness of a tented camp. The little four inch squares can easily be crocheted or knitted even by young children if someone like a Guider, Brown Owl or an interested mother will just assemble them. Others who want a non-think job while watching TV or chatting with friends will find this project a ideal therapy, for nervous fingers.

On each Fall evenings the USC's quilt program makes a lively conversatsca pace. For a number of years the Unitarian Service Committee has been shipping quilts to needy families in Korea. The quilts are made up from 7" squares stuffed with clean nylon stockings and backed with old drapery or other sturdy material.

For the lovers who like a quiet corner patterns are also available to make children's pasture, mittens aprons and above all, boys' trousers. No one gets through a pair of pants faster than a small boy, and in Korea there is often no possible chance for a replacement.

Patterns, directions, pamphlets and particulars can be obtained from USC headquarters, 56 Sparks Street Ottawa 4. Used clothing should be sent to the Unitarian Service Committee Ottawa Depot, 541 Sussex Drive, Ottawa 2.

Holden Fund drive is set for this Monday

by Mrs. G. H. Taylor

Jack Stambaugh, chairman of the Community Hall Committee in Holden announced yesterday that a drive for funds to construct an addition to the Community Hall would be held on Monday, April 14.

Mr. Stambaugh had been elected to head the committee at a public meeting held March 31, called to organize a campaign to raise the needed funds for such an addition. Enthusiasm was so high at this organizational meeting that close to $1,000 was donated on that night.

Volunteers will be meeting in the Community Hall at 8:30 p.m. and will then work in groups, canvas all the village and farm homes. Anyone interested in helping as a volunteer canvasser is requested to be at the Community Hall early Monday morning.

It has been decided that persons making donations of $50.00 or over would be named room heritage earns in the new Holden and District Community Hall Association. These cards would entitle holders to a discount at the fee charged for use of the Community Hall.

All donations have been made so that donations to the fund may also be left at the Royal Bank in Holden.

Members of the committee assisting Mr. Stambaugh are W. Komarnisky, B. Baril, L. Olson, P. Michlich, G. Langford and O. Shykora. Much of the preliminary planning had already been done by a committee comprised of N. Shlihauki, J. Tymchuk and A. Corliss. This committee has drafted tentative plans for the addition and have made an estimate of the total cost.

The actual labour on the new addition is expected to be done by volunteers.

Tofield UCW holds their regular meeting

The Afternoon Unit of U.C.W. held a regular meeting on Thursday, March 27, with sixteen members and one visitor present. Mrs. Stockton was in the chair.

Mrs. Stockton reported on the General Meeting held in March, sponsored by the Evening Unit.

Mrs. Irene Warner, U.C.W. president, was present at this meeting, and reported on several matters of interest to the members.

Mrs. Burchard read a letter she had received from Toronto, acknowledging a parcel of used stamps sent earlier. In 1968, three and a quarter tons of used stamps, sent in from all of Canada, had brought in $6,000, used to aid the Mission for Lepers in India.

An interesting program on Chinese Communes was conducted by Mrs. Richardson, with four other members assisting.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, April 24.

Old Norway flag is up 'For Sale'

If you are from Norway, or have roots that originated in that country, and are looking for an authentic souvenir, how would a flag strike you?

Mrs. Arndt (Tereie) Nelson, originally from Arneval, Norway, emigrated with her parents to this country in 1907, and one of the things her family brought with them was their large 4½' x 9' Norwegian flag. It has been safely stored away all these years and Mrs. Nelson says it is in excellent condition.

Mrs. Nelson, who will be 72 years of age tomorrow, does not know the exact age of the flag, but she knows that it was purchased before she was born. She is not exactly willing to sell it, but as she is the last member of her family, she does not want to see it get lost.

If you are interested in a Norwegian flag, you can contact Mrs. Nelson at 672-3377.

Ron Goeglein wins Farmers' Bonspiel

The Farmers' Club wound up their 1968-69 curling season at the Tofield Curling Club with a closed bonspiel last week, which saw Ron Goeglein emerge as the winner in the Grand Chellenge.

The Goeglein rink came out on top when they beat Carl Johnson in the finals to take the Woodland Trophy. Other members of the winning rink were Mavis McLeod, Barbara Goeglein and Arnold Heidebrecht.

The Bob Wylie rink were the winners of the Second Event, while Ken Pedersen came out on top in the Third Event and the Fred Godkeridge rink, with Calvin Lauber as skip, winning the Fourth Event.

Following completion of all the final events on Saturday night, a Social Hour was held and the winners presented with their prizes by the club's president, Glen Jones.

The final bonspiel of the year is now underway, and will finish with a social hour and presentation of awards and prizes on Saturday night. This is the Friendship Bonspiel, with thirty rink's being entered.

As a special attraction on Saturday night, while the finals are being played, a ham and turkey shoot will be held on another sheet of ice. All curlers and their wives have been invited to the social hour on Saturday.

Golfers meet on April 21st

With signs appearing indicating that the winter season is over until later in '69, the Tofield Golf and Country Club is making plans for the spring and summer season.

An organizational meeting has been scheduled for the Community Meeting Room in the Community Hall on Tuesday, April 22, beginning at 8:00 o'clock. This meeting is open to anyone who is interested in attending.

The Tofield Golf and Country Club is in dire need of all the support it can get, financial as well as physical. The executive is aiming to break "even" this year, after suffering financial reverses in the past.

Act now for The Mercury

Since the demise of the Holden Herald earlier this year, The Tofield Mercury has been going to the homes of all ratepayers who had been subscribers to that paper.

A convenient box ad containing a coupon to be sent to the County Office in Ryley was printed last week to make it easy for these ratepayers to obtain a subscription to the paper containing the best coverage in the County of Beaver. Many ratepayers have responded and now are regular members of the Mercury's reading public.

But all good things must end sometime. This will be the last issue of The Mercury sent to homes of people who are not subscribers. So act now. If you are a ratepayer and are not now receiving The Mercury, clip out the coupon, fill it in and send it to the County Office and they, in turn, will forward it to us.

Know what's happening around you. Read The Mercury.

Ten year gap was indicated

Anyone can make a mistake but when a newspaper makes one, it is usually in bold black letters that catches everyone's eye.

This was the case last week, when in a big three column head line, we blithely informed all our readers that the Community League in Tofield were making plans to celebrate the Town's 50th Birthday. The very first line of the story indicated that it was the "Diamond Anniversary" which, of course, means that the birthday coming up in the summer is the 60th.

Sorry, Tofield, didn't mean to try and cheat you out of ten years of your life.

Gordon Kyle and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson attended the dedication service in St. Matthew's Church, Viking last Sunday evening of a pulpit given as a memorial to Sub-Lieutenant Arthur Cary, a fighter pilot with the Fleet Air Arm. He was killed in action in France on August 18th, 1944 aged 21 years. The service was conducted by Archdeacon V. P. Cole of Wainwright assisted by Rev. D. V. Bloom. It will be remembered by many that the father of David, A. E. F. Cary, now of Edmonton, was formerly bank accountant here from 1938 to 1943 when he was transferred to Viking. David spent his early school days in Tofield and with his parents attended Sunday school and church here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. F. Cary of Edmonton and a daughter and son-in-law from Stettler and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cary Jr. from Edmonton were able to attend the dedication of the pulpit at Viking.

Tofield UCW holds their regular meeting

The Afternoon Unit of U.C.W. held a regular meeting on Thursday, March 27, with sixteen members and one visitor present. Mrs. Stockton was in the chair.

Mrs. Stockton reported on the General Meeting held in March sponsored by the Evening Unit.

Mrs. Irene Warner, U.C.W. president, was present at this meeting, and reported on several matters of interest to the members.

Mrs. Burchard read a letter she had received from Toronto acknowledging a parcel of used stamps sent earlier. In 1968, three and a quarter tons of used stamps, sent in from all of Canada, had brought in $4,000, used to aid the Mission for Lepers in India.

An interesting program on Chinese Communes was conducted by Mrs. Richardson, with four other members assisting.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, April 24.

Old Norway flag is up 'For Sale'

If you are from Norway, or have roots that originated in that country, and are looking for an authentic souvenir, how would a flag strike you?

Mrs. Arndt (Tereska) Nelson, originally from Aronval, Norway, emigrated with her parents to this country in 1927, and one of the things her family brought with them was their huge 4½' x 9' Norwegian flag. It has been safely stored away all these years and Mrs. Nelson says it is in excellent condition.

Mrs. Nelson, who will be 72 years of age tomorrow, does not know the exact age of the flag, but she knows that it was purchased before she was born. She is not exactly willing to sell it, but as she is the last member of her family, she does not want to see it get lost.

If you are interested in a Norwegian flag, you can contact Mrs. Nelson at 672-3277.

Ron Goeglein wins Farmers' Bonspiel

The Farmers' Club wound up their 1968-69 curling season at the Tofield Curling Club with a closed bonspiel last week, which saw Ron Goeglein emerge as the winner in the Grand Challenge. The Goeglein rink came out on top when they beat Carl Johnson in the finals to take the Woodland Trophy. Other members on the winning rink were Mavis McLeod, Barbara Goeglein and Arnold Heidebrecht.

The Bob Wyllie rink were the winners of the Second Event, while Ken Pedersen came out on top in the Third Event and the Fred Goldwridge rink, with Calvin Lauber as skip, winning the Fourth Event.

Following completion of all the final events on Saturday night, a Social Hour was held and the winners presented with their prizes by the club's president, Glen Jones.

The final bonspiel of the year is now underway, and will finish with a social hour and presentation of awards and prizes on Saturday night. This is the Friendship Bonspiel, with thirty rinks being entered.

As a special attraction on Saturday night, while the finals are being played, a ham and turkey shoot will be held on smaller sheet of ice. All curlers and their wives have been invited to the social hour on Saturday.

Golfers meet on April 21st

With signs appearing indicating that the winter season is over, until later in '69, the Tofield Golf and Country Club is making plans for the spring and summer season.

An organizational meeting has been scheduled for the Community Meeting Room in the Community Hall on Tuesday, April 22, beginning at 8:00 o'clock. This meeting is open to anyone who is interested in attending.

The Tofield Golf and Country Club is in dire need of all the support it can get, financial as well as physical. The executive is aiming to break "even" this year, after suffering financial reverses in the past.

Ten year gap was indicated

Anyone can make a mistake but when a newspaper makes one, it is usually in big bold black letters that catches everyone's eye.

This was the case last week, when in a big three column head line, we blithely informed all our readers that the Community League in Tofield were making plans to celebrate the Town's 50th Birthday. The very first line of the story indicated that it was the "Diamond Anniversary" which, of course, means that the birthday coming up in the summer is the 60th.

Sorry, Tofield, didn't mean to try and cheat you out of ten years of your life.

Since the demise of the Holden Herald earlier this year, The Tofield Mercury has been going to the homes of all ratepayers who had been subscribers to that paper.

A convenient box ad containing a coupon to be sent in the County office in Ryley was printed last week to make it easy for these ratepayers to obtain a subscription to the paper containing the best coverage in the County of Beaver. Many ratepayers have responded and now are regular members of the Mercury's reading public.

But all good things must end sometime. This will be the last issue of The Mercury sent to homes of people who are not subscribers. So act now. If you are a ratepayer and are not now receiving The Mercury, clip out the coupon, fill it in and send it to the County Office and they, in turn, will forward it to us.

Know what's happening around you Read The Mercury.

Modern etiquette

Q When are "bon-mots", those familiar small fold-over cards properly used by representatives?

A There are appropriate for any short, informal note — for inviting and replying to invitations for parties, for thank-you notes, and so on. This type of card is not proper, however, for messages of condolence.

Q If cake is served at a social function and no forks are provided how should one go about eating it?

A Do not lift the entire slice of cake to the mouth. Instead break it into individual pieces as you would a slice of bread or bun—then convey each morsel to the mouth with the fingers.

Patterson is honored with life membership

The season at the Tofield Curling Club came to an end Friday 1968-69 with a gala evening on Saturday night that saw the finals in the Friendship Bonspiel being played, turkey shoots being staged, a tasty lunch served, and the awards and prizes presented to the winter's winners of the different leagues that operated since the club opened

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of a "life membership" to Conrad Patterson. Mr. Patterson devoted a great deal of time to the club, especially during the past season, and the club members recognized his contribution by making this award. In addition to making Mr. Patterson a life member, the club also presented him with an easy chair so that he could rest up for next winter

Club President Andy Hoiberg acted as master of ceremonies for the evening, presenting the awards to the various winners, and his usual jib comments were well received by the large crowd in attendance

Ski of the finals of the three events in the Friendship Bonspiel were held in the evening, during which time Curling Club members listened to pinpoint their thousand dollar shooters won. In each event, all curlers were blindfolded, with drastic results.

Those teams received trophies for winning in the different leagues operating throughout the winter. The Men's League championship trophy was presented to a team composed of Joe Kaufman, Dennis Lawson, Ed Williams and Rex Boyles. The Mixed League trophy went to a team comprised of Barbara Appleby, Graham Allen, Ruby and Charles Sears.

The District and Organization League was revived over the winter, and a Round Hill team composed of John Maurer, Stan Misera, Wayne Yoder and Richard Fosbang emerged as the winners

Vern Walker emerged as the winner in the Friendship bowl which wound up Saturday night. Other members of the team were Janice Halvorson, Les Glover and Gary Odlund. Second place went to Ed Williams, with Conrad Patterson third and fourth place going to Roy Pittet.

Fund drive delayed for Holden addition

The Fund Drive to raise money for construction of an addition to the Holden Community Hall scheduled to have been held on Monday, had to be postponed when not enough canvassers appeared.

Jack Stambaugh, chairman of the fund committee, said today that a special emergency meeting has been called for tomorrow night to find out whether or not the community wants to proceed with the drive. The meeting will be held in the Community Hall beginning at 9:00 o'clock.

Should the people decide to proceed with the fund drive, it will be held on Monday, April 21. Canvassers will meet at the Community Hall early in the morning and then call at all residences and places of business in the Community

Mr. Stambaugh felt certain that the fund drive would proceed. He pointed out the initial meeting held to discuss additions to the Community Hall generated so much enthusiasm that $1,000 was donated at that meeting.

A committee composed of A. Sabinski, J. Tymchak and A. Curlas have already done much of the preliminary planning and have estimated that the total cost of the construction would be in the vicinity of $12,000. It is expected that the actual Lions on the project would be done by volunteers.

Members of the fund - raising committee, in addition to Mr. Stambaugh, are W. Komarnisky, B. Budd, L. Olson, P. Mackiak, G. Longford and O. Shykora.

Safety: Cornerstone of the Gas Industry

Like the human body, Canada is fed through a system of arteries. And they are not all roads and railways. If you were to peel away the many surfaces of this nation, you would find the most extraordinary and intricate arrangements of arteries and veins ever constructed by man for his survival. Resting beneath highways, countryside and city streets are mazes of ingeniously engineered electrical cables, water mains and gas pipelines. It would be calamitous to imagine what would happen if they were to disappear.

Natural gas alone travels through over 40,600 miles of pipeline and utility mains across Canada to reach more than one and one half million customers in homes, commerce and industry. Large quantities of this clean, versatile, economical fuel have become essential to our country. Even in its simplest function — heating of homes — natural gas is crucial. It supplies one-fifth of Canada's energy needs. And it must all be transported silently and safely through the industry's system of pipelines.

In order to keep the pipelines safe, Canada's gas companies maintain a high calibre of service and carefully supervised safety activities. Such activities include inspection, maintenance and replacement of street mains, service pipes, valves, meters and regulators; installation of additional valves for better control, research and development in leak detection, protective coatings, improved pipe and special projects related to local conditions.

The gas industry has always been aware of the value and need of safe operation. First of all, it's good business. If services were interrupted customers would turn to other energy sources. If gas losses were allowed to leak, profit would be diminished. If corrosion were not corrected, the cost of borrowing would increase. If utility properties became unsafe, insurance rates would soar. But most important, safe operation of natural gas transmission and distribution lines is a social responsibility. It is vital to gas company employees and the millions of people they serve, to the thousands of communities and cities and to the growth and health of the nation.

Lehman-Good vows exchanged in Tofield

The Braemar Baptist Church in Edmonton was the scene of a lovely candlelight wedding on Dec. 7) when Marilyn Louise Good (ath daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Good of Acadia Valley became the bride of Melvin Douglas Lehman, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lehman of Ryley. Stanley Shantz performed the ceremony, and Samuel Martin gave a short meditation.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk velvet with wrist-length sleeves. The stand-up collar and front hemline was outlined with Venetian lace, and the train fell from a bow at the waist. Her shoulder-length illusion veil was held in place with a floral headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was Miss Marion Yo- der, friend of the bride. Miss Sharon Sitler, cousin of the groom, Miss Twila King, cousin of the bride, and Miss Nancy Hubele friend of the bride were bridesmaids. They wore matching empire waist, royal blue velvet gowns with neckl- laces of white myrabou beads and carried white velvet muffs trimmed with golden leather. Miss Darlene Hub- cousin of the bride, was flower- girl. She wore a dress identical to the bridesmaids and carried a basket of red rose petals and white mums.

Candlelighters were Misses Joyce King and Fern Martin, cousins of the bride, who wore white brocade dresses.

Attending the groom as best man was Murray Lehman, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Lorne Lehman, brother of the groom, Don Good and Glenn Good, both brothers of the bride.

Ushers were Donald Roth, Lawrence Stauffer, David Voegtlin, and Dennis Good.

The soloist, Larry Schlabach sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the beginning of the ceremony. "O Perfect Love" after exchanging of the vows, and "Whi- ter Than Snow" during signing of the register. Miss Eunice Sitler was the organist. Miss Linda King, cousin of the bride was in charge of the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Good chose a two-piece emerald green ensemble with a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Lehman, mother of the groom, chose a bi-color rose corsage of yellow roses.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the Sheraton Cavalier Hotel in Edmonton. The bride's table was graced with a four-tier wedding cake baked by the bride's mother and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Norman Stauffer. On either side were Christmas floral arrangements.

Leonard King, uncle of the bride, acted as master of ceremonies. Henry Neilsen proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded.

Out-of-town guests included relatives and friends from Calgary, Acadia Valley, Tofield, Ryley, Camrose, Carstairs, Vulcan, Red Deer, Guernsey, Sask., and Ontario.

For going-away, the bride chose a two-piece, teal blue Italian knit suit with black patent accessories, and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

The happy couple are residing in Tofield.

Bardo is planning 75th anniversary

Bardo will hold its seventy fifth birthday celebrations Friday and Saturday, June 13 ad 14.

Two days of fun for old and young are being planned by an Anniversary Committee composed of Andy Helberg (chairman), Gladys Severson and Borghild Rude. The committee had a meeting on Monday and have just about finalized the events for the two-day celebration.

On the agenda will be a baseball tournament, a ladies' fastball tournament, horse races, tug-o-war competitions, a rifle shoot, and a horseshoe pitching competition.

Attempts are being made to arrange an exhibition ladies' fastball game between Ryley and Bardo. This won't be just any old game, but rather will bring back the stars of yesteryear. Final arrangements for this game have not yet been completed.

Various displays will go on exhibition, including antiques, butter-making, coffee-grinding, soap-making, spinning, weaving and wool carding.

Other forms of entertainment are in the planning stage and are expected to be finalized within the next couple of weeks. News releases have been planned as plans finalize.

Holden Hall work starts

The laying of forms and the pouring of concrete for a new addition to the Holden Community Hall will probably get underway next week, according to Jack Stansbaugh, fund committee chairman.

Complete cost of the addition to the Hall is expected to cost in the vicinity of $12,000, of which $5,000 has already been raised. Mr. Stansbaugh said yesterday that much more is committed and will be turned over to the fund when construction actually begins.

No problem is anticipated in getting the balance of the money needed. The balance remaining after the late commitments come in will be raised by holding various money-raising functions until the full amount is realized.

It is expected that after the concrete is poured that further work will be put off until after spring seeding, as most of the work will be done by volunteers and most of the volunteers are farmers.

Enjoy the fun

It could be a very entertaining summer in Alberta this year and this area should provide as much fun as any other part of the province. Special events are being planned everywhere and, locally, Tofield and Bardo are among the first to announce the holding of special celebrations.

Tofield has been in the habit of taking a day a year to hold a big event but this year, in honor of the town's 60th birthday are planning on a big three-day affair. Bardo is celebrating its 75th anniversary and are planning two days of events. Plans for both places have not been finalized as yet, but enough is known now to make it worth adding to your calendar of coming events. Other communities will be having their day and announcements to this effect should be forthcoming very soon.

It's nice to be able to go to many places in the world, but, let's not forget our hometown events. Don't leave it to strangers to enjoy it all.

Out with radicals

Universities have ended their terms or are in the act of ending, and now might be a good time for university authorities and provincial government people to have a long, hard look at the student rebellion problem before another term starts in the fall, and hopefully, by that time they may have arrived at a solution.

Some of the complaints made by students are probably justified, but often, justified or not, it stirs up trouble for all concerned. Radical elements on most campuses are in the minority, but for all the trouble they cause it would often seem they are in the majority. Often these radicals are from other countries. Why must we, in Canada, put up with them? If they can't be stopped at the border for a legitimate reason, then let it become an offense, at least as far as university authorities are concerned if they agitate while here and have them shipped out. Let them create problems in their own countries.

But, not all the agitators come from other countries. The trouble-makers should suffer campus expulsion when they show signs of creating disturbances. Why should they be allowed to remain and create an uproar that prevents the majority of students from doing what they want, namely to get an education? The taxpayers owe no obligation to these radicals and it is time that the pampering stopped. Damage caused by student riots in Canada alone in 1968 proved that it is an expensive pastime.

According to newspapers of these riots and sit-ins, many of those involved couldn't possibly be students. Or, if they are, then they are career students because they're much too old. Any person found involved in these disturbances should receive an automatic jail sentance upon conviction of participating in a riot or sit-in and not being a student. Fines are paid and the person is back agitating almost immediately. Dispense with the fines and let them sweat it out, and maybe they'll change their tunes.

It's that time again

Midnight tonight is the deadline for avoiding a penalty on filing of income tax and millions of Canadians have already safely passed the hurdle. It can be a pretty sobering experience to reflect momentarily before you sign your name to the form on how many working hours your tax payment represents, or what the money could have bought for you instead.

But it's even more sobering if we stop to reflect a bit further and realize that for all the significant as it is, still about a fifth to a quarter of the taxes we pay today. The rest is taken from us in several other forms ranging from excise and sales taxes to luxury taxes and even death duties.

The point we are at is that it might be made significant if before and more frequently a government if we had to face up to the tax form more often instead of facing it once a year and then forgetting about it again.

Is it possible for instance that we'd be more concerned with the lavish padded leather doors to one cabinet minister's office or the handsome oak shelves in another, costing roughly the equivalent of a small one-bedroom bungalow for some of us? Or the daily cases of inefficiency and waste so frequently documented by the auditor general? Is it possible some of us would cry out against the excess of services we don't want and can't pay for?

For the sake of containing a strong sense of personal responsibility in our own democracy it may be a good thing if the taxes weren't come at us to us in such a painless way. Wednesday or Thursday afternoon, depending on whether you work Saturday or not, we say something like, "You may keep all the money you've earned so far this week, but your pay for the next two days will all have to go to the government." Then we'd really see some sparks fly.

If it hasn't been done before, it's time that a good business school

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA — The first major crisis to confront Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau broke over his head late in April when the senior cabinet minister in the government, Transport Minister Paul Hellyer (naturally and surprisingly) quit the Government.

He was Minister in charge of housing. He said he was frustrated by the "buck-passing" and failure of the Trudeau administration to act on his recommendations to cabinet for solving some of this country's housing problems.

Mr. Hellyer submitted his resignation April 24, the day of a regular cabinet meeting. He summoned a press conference and informed the parliamentary press gallery of his action. He will stay on in the Commons as the member of parliament for Toronto Trinity. His resignation is effective April 30 to give him time to clear up some "odds and ends" in his Department.

His departure weakens the Cabinet considerably. He was well known across Canada. He pushed through the Commons the very controversial unification measure for the armed forces when he served as Defence Minister under former Prime Minister L. B. Pearson.

Mr. Hellyer was a leading contender for the Liberal leadership at the convention a year ago. He made a very strong run, finally throwing his support to Robert Winters in the closing votes in a desperate move to stave off the election of Mr. Trudeau as leader.

When Mr. Trudeau was installed as leader he invited Mr. Hellyer to join the Cabinet as Minister of Transport and Minister responsible for housing. Mr. Hellyer was "delighted" because as he said the press conference when he announced his resignation he had entered public life 20 years ago with two main objectives in mind. The first was to influence housing policies and the second was to promote greater employment without inflation.

He had welcomed the post of minister in charge of housing and plunged into that area of activity with as much vigour as he had tackled the defence portfolio. He formed a housing task force, which he headed, and took it across Canada investigating the serious housing situation in this country.

It made its report to the government as a result of its report, he took to cabinet several recommendations to meet housing needs in the economy.

Mr. Hellyer told the press conference that it now appeared to him that it would be weeks and perhaps months before the government would take action on his housing proposals. (Later in the Commons Prime Minister Trudeau assured the opposition that his government would proceed with the proposed housing legislation in this session.)

It was not only housing that precipitated the break between Mr Hellyer and the cabinet. He also condemned Mr. Trudeau's view of federalism and said he had to reject the Prime Minister's concept of a weak central power.

"I cannot personally accept a theory of federalism which, however attractive in principle, cannot meet the needs of the Canadian people", he told the press. It is known here that there has been unhappiness and irreconcilable differences between Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Hellyer on the jurisdiction of the Federal government.

There are rumblings from other Cabinet Ministers that Canada is in reality being governed by a trouka.

Prime Minister Trudeau and his two closest friends, External Economic Relations Minister Jean Marchand and State Secretary Gerard Pelletier are the three-some who are front and centre insofar as other members of the cabinet are concerned. Privately, other ministers voice complaints that Mr. Trudeau consults his two friends on practically all major matters, and more than once Cabinet Ministers have found the Prime Minister giving voice to criticism of some of their proposals, which upon further enquiry they find Mr. Trudeau has not thoroughly examined but is echoing the thoughts and reflections of either Marchand or Pelletier, or both.

This has caused restlessness within the Cabinet among some of the English speaking members in particular.

Mr. Hellyer stressed that it was not a matter of not enough money being available for housing, it was part of a larger problem—the Constitutional issue. He said he stood for a strong federal government accepting its responsibilities to the people, as opposed to 10 strong provincial governments held together by a weak federal government exercising limited powers.

"I don't think the little people of my riding can wait for a new Constitution", said Mr. Hellyer.

It is apparent that now he has freed himself of the chains of cabinet responsibility and is able to speak his mind on these subjects, Mr. Hellyer will not be backward about making known just where he differs with Mr. Trudeau on some of the basic issues facing the administration. He will challenge the Prime Minister's position on several policies.

Mr. Hellyer's action immediately gave rise to speculation that once again he is interested in running for the Liberal leadership. It is no secret that among some of Mr. Trudeau's closest associates there is a feeling that the Prime Minister at the close of his present four-year term will be prepared to bow out of his high office. He could change as the years go by and as 1972 draws near, with its looming general election. Mr. Trudeau may be persuaded to stay on as leader.

Meantime by resigning from the Cabinet, Mr. Hellyer has improved his position if he wants to make a run for the top post.

People usually have eyes that are half-shut and eyes open to example

The Busiest Busybody

He's no snooper, but there's a man who knows a lot about when your wife cooks your morning bacon and eggs.

He also knows about other housekeeping habits —such as when your wife does the laundry or turns up the heat.

He knows this because it's his job to see that the gas for your burners — transported sometimes hundreds of miles from production fields — is ready before your appliance is turned on.

The man who knows isn't really a busybody. He's a highly trained man in charge of obtaining huge quantities of gas from many sources. He must direct its flow through hundreds of miles of pipelines to communities throughout Alberta.

He, and other "dispatchers," like him at key positions on Alberta's gas transmission systems, must see that thousands of gas customers get all the gas they want — regardless of the amount, the time or the day.

To accomplish this, he estimates the demand for gas and the time it is needed in each community. Then he issues orders to maintain just the right gas pressures to deliver the right amount of gas to each community.

To help with his job, the chief has a crew of highly trained assistants.

They keep in constant touch with gas sources in the production fields, the company's compressor stations, points of delivery, underground storage fields, weather stations, regulator stations and pipelines.

It's a 24-hour-a-day job. Nights, weekends and holidays, trained men are on the job to provide natural gas. And each man has the ability to act in an emergency.

So you can see why the chief dispatcher knows a lot about your household habits. Because he knows just how much gas you need — and when you need it. You can count on natural gas for round-the-clock, round-the-year service.

Enjoy Alberta

Each year, thousands of Albertans leave the province on vacation holidays, going to other parts of Canada or to other more exotic countries of the world. Thousands of dollars are spent in these countries every year as Albertans seek to enjoy themselves. The sad part of the entire situation is that often, these same Albertans know little about or have seen little of their own province.

Newcomers to Alberta are the only provincial residents to show much of an interest in their home province and this is unfortunate as Alberta has much to offer the travellers. But it's the same old story every time. You don't know what you have in your own backyard until someone else wants the property. The grass always looks greener on the other side and thus it is that Albertans often feel they must travel to other parts of the country or to other countries in order to have a good vacation.

Maybe Premier Strom should have a law passed to the effect that Albertans must see Alberta first.

Healthy attitude

The enthusiastic support being generated for the world's poor through many Miles for Millions marchers is one of the most forward steps taken in many years, bringing with it the active involvement of thousands upon thousands of marchers.

Earlier misgivings we may have had over the perspective involved in the amount of contributions to this campaign, as compared with receipts for worse purely Canadian or even provincial charities, have vanished as we learned this unique campaign was 'invented' solely with the idea of world relief overseas. This being the case, the March should be protected from those who would muscle in on a good thing, just as we feel the Christmas Seals should be protected for the Tuberculosis Association, and the Flowers of Hope for the Mental Retardation groups, who invented their own novel appeals. Let other interested parties develop their own schemes.

Only one thing, we feel, is lacking from the enthusiastic interest and participation of both marchers and sponsors, and this is a broader dissemination of the purposes to which the money actually is put, and the almost pathetic need which it helps to alleviate. People who have experienced this world which is so foreign and so unknown to us report that words cannot paint the picture . . . possibly pictures can help portray it.

Maybe the pangs and the blisters and tired muscles and the other sacrifices would loom as more worthwhile could we but know how much our individual efforts help out.

A great Canadian

The death this week of Donald Gordon removes from the Canadian scene one of the towering figures of our day, though the daily press certainly gave it less than the attention it deserves. For this adopted son of Scotland achieved at least three remarkable careers within his lifespan, any one of which would have left his stamp indelibly on the country he served.

Early in the Second War, he was selected to organize and head up the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, which froze the prices of all commodities and wages before they had time to react to wartime scarcity and soar into the stratosphere. While Canadians groaned at some of the injustices and inequities, and naturally there had to be a few, Americans regarded the Canadian institution as a model of efficiency and effectiveness, and strove vainly to bring their own into line.

With war's end, he moved into the governorship of the Bank of Canada, and guided that institution skillfully through the shoals until he was persuaded reluctantly to accept the senior position with the Canadian National Railways where he again, applied his skills at top management in remarkably effective measures to bring a high degree of competition and efficiency to the railway which through years of political interference had been allowed to drop into the lowest possible measure of public esteem. The vitality and resurgence of the railroad today are in large part due to the clear insight he brought to his job, the hard-headed practicality necessary to develop measures to meet the situation, and the courage to accept the challenge and implement the measures called for.

In all these widely varied fields, he proved himself "a great Canadian."

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA.—General de Gaulle's abrupt departure stuns the headlines, but the resignation of Paul Hellyer is likely to have a bigger impact on Canada's future than the absence of the 78 - year - old spoiler from Paris.

Prime Minister Trudeau's former deputy and senior cabinet adviser, Mr. Hellyer is ready to launch a public attack on his leader's policies, and the fallout could be very messy indeed.

Although he made the government's lack of action in the housing field the basis for his sudden resignation it is broadly suspected if not confirmed that he plans to do battle on a much wider field when the time comes.

Specifically, he takes violent issue with Mr. Trudeau's constitutional position, accepted him of a virtual sellout to the provinces at the expense of the Federal authority.

And there are a dozen other aspects of policy on which he and the man he fought right down to the wire at the leadership convention in April, 1968, firmly disagree.

The static that has been emerging from cabinet offices since his unexpected resignation as Transport Minister makes it apparent that there was never much love lost between the Prime Minister and his Deputy.

They sat side by side in the Commons — on the days that Mr. Hellyer attended—but there is no evidence of any close rapport between them. They operate on different intellectual levels, and perhaps friends they were simply never meant to be.

Mr. Hellyer is hard-nosed and stubborn. Typically United Church and Toronto Mr. Trudeau can be tough, but devious, too, a devout Roman Catholic, and a man who appears to think in French rather than English, although his spoken English is better than that of most people born to the language.

It is as hard to picture Mr. Hellyer worrying about the niceties of constitutional protocol as to imagine Mr. Trudeau swinging a hammer or wielding a saw on a housing project.

That Canada needs both their talents at the helm of a Liberal government is the misfortune of late. For it is evident that Mr. Hellyer will never serve again in a Trudeau cabinet; and a Hellyer victory for his policies would be at the expense of Mr. Trudeau's departure from public life.

Yet this latter course may be Mr. Hellyer's hope. He is only 45 years of age, nearly four years the Prime Minister junior. He could be a key figure in Trudeau's 50 in October, and well into the race bracket for another try at the leadership on a two-year time.

Some of his admirers express the opinion that such blunt and forthright a man could be at the core of his resignation move. But Mr. Hellyer has kept his cam- paign from more than small circles, and he has never denied that he will seek the crown again when the opportunity arises.

The puzzle in this theory is that he chose to make his move so soon. Surely it would have been more prudent to wait until the bloom was more thoroughly off the Trudeau administration; there would have been plenty of time to dissociate himself with unpopular policies in a short and sharp campaign later on.

This is, of course almost entirely speculative—but it is based on a fairly intimate knowledge of Mr. Hellyer and his thinking, and also the thinking of people who worked with him as Minister of Defence and candidate for the Liberal leadership one year ago.

And much more than at that time, Trudeaumania was reaching fever pitch right across the country, the Hellyer appeal might attract sufficient support to propel him to the top.

There is every reason to believe that Mr. Trudeau is well aware of his own declining fortunes—and that of course, has but showing definite evidence of slippage—and that he will put on a show of speed when he feels it necessary.

So far, in the face of the Hellyer challenge, he has moved scarcely to protocol that it never happened. Within a day of his former Housing Minister's resignation announcement, he was coolly announcing the housing policy that Hellyer had complained were being held up.

At Michael Cassidy of the Financial Times News Service, one of the shrewdest economic writers in the Parliamentary Press Gallery, put it, Mr. Hellyer with his departure left agency of changes to federal housing policy which are still likely to go into effect by the summer".

Whether the changes will be made in time to help the current construction season is not so sure But Mr. Trudeau certainly will not let any grass grow under his feet on this issue

Where the two men parted company, and are still apart, is over where the impetus on housing construction should be directed

Mr Hellyer, with the report of the federal task force on housing which he led across the country, was trying to shift Federal policy in the direction of finding homes for the poor

But the Trudeau line has been a more conservative one, emphasizing financial orthodoxy and channeling available funds to housing for the more affluent middle class which can afford it, pay present high interest rates

And perhaps this cleavage in cabinet policy is a reflection of the nature of the men themselves.

Mr. Trudeau, who has never known poverty or even had to make his living, can see through problems with analytical logic but sometimes faulty human understanding. Mr. Hellyer, a small town boy who made good in Toronto after fighting his own way up the ladder, may have a deeper concern for people than theories. These coming confrontation will be fascinating to witness.

Study of farm costs shows problem areas

The second report of a unique in-depth study on the economics of wheat farming over a three-year period was made public by the Vulcan County Council recently.

The study committee was set up in 1958 as the resulting signatures of farmers economists and government, because it was felt the time dictated a study of changing wheat costs and returns within one area over a period of time.

The survey area covered by Vulcan County contains a substantial proportion of large and medium farms, farms averaging 1,000 acres and over. As a result of personal bias wheat yields in this area were a few farms on the north that failed to cover the production costs. This included production for a reasonable return on invested capital and the labour income of the farm operator.

During 1961 when the economic pattern was closer to normal less than one-half the farmers in Vulcan earned sufficient income from wheat production to cover the operating costs plus labour expenses.

The study noted that the cost of wheat production per acre actually increased in 1966 to a total of $38.13 per acre, a rise of $3.32 per acre over the total for the previous year. If the yield of wheat in 1966 had remained the same as in 1961, the average cost of production per bushel would have amounted to $1.77. This compares with the actual cost in 1966 of $1.37 per bushel and $1.33 in 1963.

prices, substantial yields and ready outlets more than making up for the continued rise in basic costs confronting Vulcan farmers.

The report pointed out that these favourable conditions have not continued in the present time. During the intervening period the price of wheat has declined and the volume of unsold grain on the farm has increased—as the result that farmers face a serious short-term cash

Government withdraws proposal...

Police still require a warrant to search persons, public property

by Tony Cav, CPRM

May 7

The government has withdrawn a proposal which would have allowed police to search property without a warrant if hallucinogenic drugs were suspected.

The amendments to the Public Health Act was dropped after protests from Opposition MLA's and the Alberta Federation of Labour. Despite the need for a warrant to search a person or property, police do not require a warrant to arrest a person believed possessing drugs or using the drug itself.

Last week was the week everybody was in a criticizing mood.

Both Premier Harry Strom and Welfare Minister Ray Speaker took aim at the editorial staff of the Edmonton Journal.

Mr. Speaker claimed the Journal's editorial writers have seemingly embarked on a campaign of harrassment to discredit the government. He suggested there was a growing credibility gap between the paper and its readers. He said it would be helpful if the Journal editorial writers checked details with their own news department before publishing editorials.

What brought the matter to a head was an editorial called "Human Resources, H'm time for species." It was levelled against a white paper announced by Mr. Speaker dealing with a government pilot project aimed at moving persons from the welfare rolls to active employment.

The scheme urged more emphasis on preventive welfare and the rewarding of initiative.

Premier Strom said the Journal, in many cases, made no editorial effort to present the government viewpoint. While not decrying criticism, the paper should demonstrate more responsibility, he said.

Another line of criticism came from Lou Hyndman (PC-Edmonton West). He said a government bill to investigate the cause of automobile accidents, "premature".

The legislative investigations will delve into every aspect of an auto accident, with evidence obtained being sworn to secrecy and being withheld from the courts.

Mr. Hyndman suggested, instead, using police reports and statements from witnesses.

Former cabinet minister A. J. Hooke also got in his licks. He questioned the use of "stay of proceedings" in Alberta litigation.

He passed on complaints that some people, possibly hundreds, are in the position of having criminal charges "hanging over their heads" for years without the opportunity of clearing their name. Mr. Hooke asked for disclosure of particulars of every stay involving an indictable offence since 1950.

It is unusual in Alberta to revive stays of proceedings. "The normal practice is to lay new charges", said Attorney General Edgar Gerhart.

And to top everything, Tory boss Laughlind challenged the Secreds to call an election on the issue of a cabinet minister testifying on a legislative committee on matters relating to government policy.

Gerhart started the ball rolling by charging the Tories with misleading the legislature and asked them to either back up claims of precedents being set in other provincial legislatures or the House of Commons, apologize or resign.

The Tories denied ever asking either Gerhart or Agriculture Minister Henry Ruste to be sworn in before either the equalized assessment hearing or the Bighorn Dam ruckus. They countered by producing evidence of cabinet ministers testifying before government committees in the House of Commons.

House Speaker Arthur Dixon has promised a ruling before prorogation, assured to come this week.

Two new legislative committees have been established. Under Hire Robert Simpson (SC-Calgary North) a seven man all-party committee will examine and review all matters relating to invasion of privacy.

The other committee, headed by Roy Ells (SC-Grouard) will delve into all aspects of automobile insurance. Both will report their findings to the next session of the legislature.

Traffic fatalities decline during 1968

Statistics released by the Canada Safety Council showed that Canada's traffic fatality toll dropped 3.32% in 1968 as compared to 1967, the first such decrease since 1944.

While many provinces showed decreases Alberta went in all time highs in most categories in 1968. Only in the number of fatal accidents, with 310 in 1968, did Alberta show a decrease over 1967, when there were 316.

Traffic deaths in this province jumped from 377 to 392, while injuries increased at the rate of 20.27% from 8,939 to a total of 11,750 in 1968. Accidents involving property damage leaped from 22,315 in 1967 to 25,720 last year.

The total number of accidents in Alberta in 1968 was 41,970, while 1967 recorded a total of 39,546, an increase of nearly nine per cent, while the overall Canadian increase was 7.38%.

ATA MEETS

The Holden-Bruce Sub-local of the ATA held its April meeting recently at Holden School. Mrs. Doris reported that the County of Beaver will send two delegates to the Banff Conference to be held in July. Mr. Joe Forsal spoke briefly on a Camrose Division meeting which had been held recently at Barnett House. The trend appears to be toward more inspirational rather than the workshop type conventions and there appears to be general agreement that the larger conventions are more beneficial.

A seminar on "Teaching Aides" will be held in Holden on Saturday, May 31st. A panel composed of Mr. Keith Hobson and teachers from the Stony Plain district will be in attendance.

The meeting heard Mr. Fred Nordstrom report on ARA, then concluded with a quiz conducted by Mrs. Beatrice Fredericks and Mr. Bonoghan.

Satellite communities

The future of Ryley and Holden could be changed dramatically in the months to come if a program being investigated by the Ryley Lions and the Holden Chamber of Commerce can be put into actual practice. This program is designed to attract residents of the capitol city to move into the two Beaver communities and, really, the project has considerable merit.

The trend today is to leave the smaller communities and move into the big cities. But, many people are becoming more and more disenchanted with the hustle and bustle of city life. It's a struggle to travel back and forth to work each day, children have no room to play and all citizens in built industrial residue continuously. Taxation is high in the city and while there is plenty of entertainment available, it can be expensive, and again travel and parking presents a problem.

The two communities are to be commended for their foresight and encouraged to proceed with all possible vigor until success marks their venture. Everyone should get behind the idea and work for its success. The benefits for each community are considerable. More people sharing the tax burden would result in a reduced tax rate and more money to support community projects. More money will be spent in each community, resulting in the financial well-being of all concerned. The businessmen are the persons who would gain directly and they more than anyone else should probably give the project the greatest possible support.

The success of such a project would make Holden and Ryley two of the real success stories of the province because a few people try it and find it's what they want, others will climb on the bandwagon and the future of the two communities will be assured.

Cancelling the rich

Prime Minister Trudeau has announced that the flow of money paid out for family allowances might not be so brisk as in the past. He is suggesting that only families actually need of the money would continue to receive their monthly cheques. Others would be discontinued. While this might be called discrimination by the country's more affluent citizens it has to be considered a wise move. The taxpayers can no longer afford to see that the rich get richer and

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA, [illegible]—Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau has written finis to the first Cabinet crisis of his year old regime with a mini-shuffle that should keep the lid on nicely until a fuller shakeup of responsibilities expected during the summer or fall.

While Paul Hellyer, whose resignation as Minister of Transport sparked the crisis, looked on from his new Commons seat just outside the cabinet benches, Mr. Trudeau transferred Don Jamieson to the Transport portfolio, made James Richardson Minister of Supply and Services and assigned Minister without Portfolio Robert Andras responsibility for housing policy.

These shifts, none of them widely foreseen in speculation here, do a number of things.

Assignment of a full time minister to deal with housing underscores the credibility of the critics, including Mr. Hellyer who quit the cabinet when he felt the Prime Minister's constitutional views were standing in the way of effective federal action.

Hellyer-ite letters may have been softened before they could coalesce by the appointment of Mr. Andras—also a Mr. Hellyer vice-campaign manager in the past Liberal leadership race.

New recognition was given to the East and West, the sources of some of the most telling challenges to the government, by the added responsibilities given to Mr. Jamieson, a Newfoundlander, and Mr. Richardson, a Manitoban.

SPRING PROM

Ryley High School spring prom was the highlight of the evening of May 9th. The beautifully decorated school gymnasium and music made it look and sound like the "La Carousel" dance land on Soucy Hall Street in Glasgow, Scotland. This remark was made from a couple who just moved into the district and was their first year at a prom in Ryley. The evening was enjoyed by all.

Mrs Martha Hillerud has returned home from a lovely trip to Madeira Park, B.C. where she took in a wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Wendy Hisely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Haisely of Madeira Park, B.C. a budget meeting prior to the next School Committee meeting and that this should have been dealt with at the School Committee meeting. It was moved and carried that a budget meeting be held at the call of the Chair.

Mr. Reuben Minchau attended the meeting to get the approval of his Council to the establishment of another Hutterite Colony in the Bruce area. He said the colony north of Camrose would like to split up and they were prepared to move into the Bruce district. He said there were a few farmers who would like to sell out but could not as their land does not meet the requirements of the Farm Credit Corporation

This request was discussed quite thoroughly by the Council including the school situation.

It was moved and carried that the County Council is strongly opposed to any new Hutterite colonies being established or any old colonies being extended in the County.

It was moved and carried that the following Preliminary Agreements be accepted for road widening NW 22-48-17-W4th; NE 15-48-17-W4th; NE 21-48-17-W4th; SE 27-48-17-W4th; SE 28-48-17-W4th; SW 28-48-17-W4th; NW 21-48-17-W4th.

There was a discussion on the availability of gravel in the County of Beaver. Cr. Reddick suggested that there should be some exploration done in the east end of the County to find gravel deposits and possibly make a commitment to lease land involved. Certain lands were discussed and it was moved and carried that we contact Eric Lefarud, Solicitor for the Estate of Robert Arkinstall to see if we could lease part of the NW of 11-47-11-W4th for gravel purposes.

In regard to gravel for the rest of the County it was considered that we might have to stock pile in the Kinsella area for use in the western section of the County. It was moved and carried that we call for tenders for crushing 20,000 cu. yds. of gravel to ⅜" and that it be stockpiled at a site in the Kinsella area.

Gerry Alliott attended at this time and discussed the installation of pumps and tanks for diesel fuel The price which he had quoted to the shop committee was in error. We had been advised by Mr Ed Lyons of Imperial Oil Ltd. that the price which Gerry had been quoted did not include the price of the pump The price of the pump was an additional $284.00 It was moved and carried that we install six pumps and tanks less the key troll unit

As there was no further business it was moved and carried that the meeting adjourn at 3 30 p.m

County School Committee briefs

Following are the minutes (in part) of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9 School Committee, held on Tuesday, April 8th, 1969.

Present were Crs. W. A. Davis, A. L. Gibson, G. Knudsen, W. Krupicznicki, J. H. Reddick, C. W. Sears and W. D. Johnston. Also present J. B. Allen, C. J. Nord and H. C. Wilkie, representing Towns and Villages; Mr. M. Semotiuk and Mr. William Beck were also present.

The meeting was called to order at 10:00 a.m. by the Chairman, Cr Reddick

It was moved and carried that the School Committee purchase a King Tune-up Bench from Astro Line Supply Ltd. for $1,710.00 as recommended by the Shop Committee

The Secretary-Treasurer and the Superintendent advised the School Committee that they had not had enough time to work on the School Act to have a submission prepared for this meeting. It was moved and carried that the School Committee try to have a submission for amendments to the School Act for the meeting of May 6th

In regard to the disposal of the old school in Bruce the Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had received a letter from the Department of Education advising that it would be in order to lease this building for certain periods and that this lease be subject to renewal They did not think that we should sell any part of the school grounds as this is contrary to the policy of the Department of Education. It was mo. .d and carried that we lease the old Bruce School to the Bruce Lutheran Church for 5 years renewable for 5 year periods and that the area be fenced to the satisfaction of the school Committee by the lessee and that the sum of $1 00 be charged for each 5 year lease

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had contacted Departments of Education, Welfare and Health in regard to the attendance of school aged children at the Alberta School Hospital in Red Deer. He advised that the Department of Education and the Department of Welfare were not involved in this school directly. that the School was operated under the Department of Health However, if the attendance of children at this school made it a hardship for parents they could apply to the Department of Welfare for assistance. However, this assistance was on the basis of the complete family. It was moved and carried that this report be accepted

Mr Bock advised that he had discussed the establishment of opportunity classes in the County with the principals and that they were studying this question at the present time

It was moved and carried that the County sponsor a principal to the Leadership Course for Principals and that we pay a registration fee of $240 00. The choice of a principal to this course would be at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The Secretary-Treasurer asked the advice of the School Committee in regard to payment of bus drivers for the days of the Teachers' convention. As the School Committee authorized payment to the bus drivers for days when the school is closed by order of the School Committee at the rate of 60 per cent for emergencies, we have been receiving requests from bus drivers for payment for teachers' conventions. The School Committee advised that this 40 per cent was only supposed to be for emergencies and that it was really a stand-by pay. As bus drivers are not required to stand-by while teachers' conventions are held it was considered that they should not be paid this 40 per cent. The whole question of payment for bus drivers was discussed briefly It was moved and carried that this subject be tabled until the next meeting and that a policy be written on it for inclusion in the Policy Handbook.

Cr Davis mentioned that some work would need to be done on the small teacherage at Bruce if it is going to be used another year. Mr Bock advised that at the moment we do not know if this teacherage will be used after this school term.

Mr Bock advised that Mrs. Eastlick was taking over the class formerly taught by Mrs. Cmu who is still incapacitated with a broken leg.

Mr Bock advised that 8 students from the Holden School had been screened as being qualified to attend the Vegreville Composite School. It was noted that the homes of students were widely scattered and that bussing these children to Vegreville would be an almost impossible arrangement Boarding allowance was suggested as being a better alternative if it could be arranged by the parents. Mr. Bock advised that he would look into this situation further

Mr Bock presented quotations on electric stoves that could be installed in the Home Ec School at Viking and Ryley. It was moved and carried that two Westinghouse electric stoves at a price of $297.00 each be installed one in the Viking and one in the Ryley Home Ec Rooms.

Mr. Bock presented estimates now on the work that had been suggested in the schools: One of the recommendations had been showers in the Tofield School and in Holden School. The Tofield School estimates for 12 shower heads and installation was $3,700 00 with an additional $300 00 in general work. In Holden the estimate was $4,300 00 for 12 shower heads plus $300 00 in general work in connection with the installation

The other capital projects including the building of a new Industrial Arts centre in Viking and an increase in the Home Ec Room in Viking were discussed as well as an extension on the Ryley School for additional office, staff rooms and showers.

The additional Home Ec Room in Viking would make use of a classroom which is presently unoccupied. The teacher for this room is presently on staff, however, it would require one teacher for primary classes. This would mean one new teacher on the Viking staff The additional equipment would be in about $1,800.00 for sewing machines for this room.

Mr. Buck was asked to give his priorities on the school capital costs. Mr. Bock advised that he would consider that the first priority would be the addition to the Ryley School; second would be showers in Tofield and Holden, third would be the Industrial Arts Shop in Viking The reason for the Industrial Arts Shop being third was that it would not be possible to build one this year as it would probably not be approved by the School Buildings Branch in time for this years construction. He also advised that in any centralization of school facilities none of the work recommended here would be lost. It was moved and carried that motion 68-40 of the February meeting be rescinded so it refers to the Industrial Arts Shop in Viking.

It was moved and carried that the Superintendent proceed with a "Statement of Need for"

1 addition to the school in Ryley to accomodate an administrative office, a staff room and showers.

2. a new Industrial Arts Shop at Viking

3. an addition to the Industrial Arts Shop in Ryley.

4 that the present Industrial Arts Shop in Viking be converted to a shower room and a music room.

It was moved and carried that we authorize the purchase of $1,500 00 worth of equipment for Viking Home Ec.

It was moved and carried that school for grades X and XI be closed June 13th at 3:30 p.m.

It was moved and carried that the schools close for the summer on June 27th at 3:30 p.m.

Mr. Robson attended at this time and discussed the orientation of pre-grade 1 students who will be moving into grade 1 in September. The only place that he could get a response to his request was in the Tofield School and that Carol Rurka would be agreeable to coming in and giving the pre-grade one students a 6-week training period. It was moved and carried that this orientation for pre-grade 1 students be tried and that Mrs. Rurka be paid for the period required

Mr. Robson also suggested that he would like to try setting up a curriculum committee of the grade 1 teachers in the County to discuss changes in the curriculum. It was moved and carried that a grade 1 curriculum be set up and that their first meeting be on May 14 in the afternoon.

As there was no further business it was moved and carried that the meeting adjourn at 5:30 p.m.

Ryley Lions to sponsor student

At the May 8th meeting of the Ryley Lions Club, a motion was made and carried that the club again sponsor a student from the Ryley High School to the Banff School of Fine Arts, re the United Nations Seminar. This will be the fourth year that the Lions Club has sponsored such a student.

The Lions are sponsoring a June 21st Sports Day Queen, with proceeds going toward Community Betterment.

Work has commenced and is nearing completion on the new location of the Ryley Lions Club playground. The new location is adjacent to the ball park and, for the safety of the young ones, a "Playground" sign will be erected on the north and south ends of the ground, with enforcement of the speed zone in effect. Construction is also underway for improvement to the present ball diamond, the project being done under the grateful assistance of the Ryley Curling Club. The new project will make available another ball diamond and it is expected further development will come about to make the park an asset.

Renovations to the interior of the Ryley Community Hall have reached completion, making available facilities for any occasion, and the public is cordially welcomed to make use of its facilities.

Miquelon opens this weekend

The third place park in the province unofficially opened Sunday, when hundreds of persons took advantage of the warm weather for their first trip to the beach this year

Miquelon Lake, ranked as the third most popular summer park in the province in 1968, didn't attract many swimmers on Sunday, although there was some water skiing and boating while most of the people were content to bask in the warm rays of the sun

The concession booth personnel expecting a good turnout were on hand and did a steady business all day

The park will officially open for the season this coming week end and by that time all facilities here etc. will have been erected

Miquelon Lake attracted 1,234,975 visitors in 1968, an increase of 37.8% over the previous year. This gain is even more impressive when note is taken of the fact that attendance at provincial parks declined 4% in 1968.

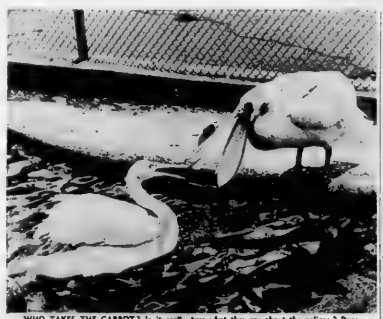
The Mercury

VOL. 53—No. 38—May 22nd., 1969 $3.50 per Year, PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT TOFIELD, ALBERTA



WHO TAKES THE CARROT? Is it really true what they say about the pelican? Does his beak hold more than his stomach? If took a carrot to raise the question when these two birds contested ownership of the morsel, but neither bird won. The pelican on the left dropped the carrot and then the flapping and squawking continued long after the carrot had been forgotten.—TTS Photo

Satellite communities getting good response

It would appear that the move to make Ryley and Holden satellite residential communities for the City of Edmonton might meet with more success than was ever dreamed about by its promoters.

The idea, originating with the Lions Club in Ryley and the Chamber of Commerce in Holden, was put over the airwaves yesterday (Wednesday) morning on radio station CJCA in Edmonton and, before the morning had passed, the real estate company involved in the plan had received 129 phone calls from interested Edmontonians.

The first Edmonton families are expected to move into the satellite communities within the next week and the program is expected to be in full operation by July 1 with at least fifty families participating.

Program directors have issued an urgent appeal to persons living along Highway 14 having houses to sell or rent to get in touch with them immediately. Homes located about seven miles on either side of the highway, or located in towns or hamlets are suitable. Homeowners can contact either Mel Warren at 488-2803 in Holden, or Garnet Barstad at either 663-3633 or 663-3671 in Ryley.

Negotiations are continuing for the supplying of transportation between the two Beaver County communities and the city of Edmonton. Small, 12-passenger buses will be used and it is estimated that transportation will cost about $35.00 a month. A "house-mover" has already agreed to place and arrange financing for "moved out" homes in both centres.

The big reasons put to Edmontonians for moving into the smaller centres is that rent is considerably cheaper, a more healthy environment exists for the raising of a family and for the homeowner, the rate of taxation would be considerably lower.

The program came into existence in January and involved considerable discussion and planning before the initial approach to Edmontonians was made.

Ruste, Ronning coming to Bardo's anniversary

Bardo's 75th anniversary celebrations are growing more and more with each passing week reaching a new high on Monday with word being received that two prominent Alberta citizens will be in attendance.

The Honorable Henry Ruste, holder of two portfolios in the Strom Government, that of Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Lands and Forests will attend Saturday evening's ceremonies, bringing greetings on behalf of the Provincial Government.

Alberta's leading diplomat, Chester A. Ronning of Camrose will also attend Saturday evening's ceremonies. Mr. Ronning is no stranger to the Bardo area having spent much of his younger life in the district, arriving back in 1907 along with his father, H. N. Ronning.

Another highlite of Saturday evening will be the serving of a Norwegian Smorgasbord, a tasty delight to connoisseurs of good food.

A new addition to the already well filled sports program is the gun shoot to be held under the direction of Glen Reid and Len Stauffer. The first gun club in Bardo was formed in 1909 with some of the early members being John Lerbekmo, J. N. Jeversing and Asbjorn Moen. These men now are well represented by their descendants still residing in the area.

One of the biggest events for old-time residents of the area will be the revival of the Bardo Male Chorus organized by Albin Anderson back in 1922. Mr. Anderson, now 83 years of age has consented to once again lead his chorus, performing many of the songs of their early days.

There is to be a display of antiques in the Schoolhouse during both days of the anniversary celebrations with the Tofield Historical Society lending their display. Anyone having antiques that could or should be displayed are asked to contact Lars Rude who is in charge of the antique display.

Two ball tournaments will lead the sports parade with five

Tofield marksman gets expert award

E. L. (Larry) Willms of Tofield has qualified for the Gold Expert Shield, one of the top awards in handgun shooting.

Dominion Marksmen officials announced today the 25-year-old clerk has achieved a score of 1,004 points out of 1,000 to qualify.

For the Gold Expert Shield Handgun the shooter must fire 20 sets of three targets, each set consisting of one slow, one timed and one rapid fire target, and each set scoring 300 out of 300 or better.

Mr. Willms, a member of the Tofield Gun Club, has been shooting for 25 years. Before winning the gold shield he had to work his way through a series of Dominion Marksmen awards, beginning with the bronze pin which required 10 targets scoring 80 or better out of 100 in slow fire.

Pistols and revolvers of any calibre may be used in Dominion Marksmen handgun competition.

CLC Choir returns home

The Camrose Lutheran Junior College Choir has returned home after a successful two-week, four-province tour of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, British Columbia, and the State of Washington.

Altogether the choir had an audience of 1,000 persons on their tour and college officials said they were well received at all points Stops on the tour included Saskatoon, Erickson, Winnipeg Beach, Starbuck, Morris, Melville, Kirkland, New Westminster, Victoria, Mission City, Kamloops and Vernon

The Choir ran into two travel problems—one due to the strike of Air Canada which resulted in a change in bus and travel scheduling, and the the other when a bus in Saskatchewan got stuck and they had to hitch a ride on a school bus.

King-size rainbow

Garnet Burnstad of Ryley felt he was "kinda lucky" a week ago Mo. Jay to catch this giant rainbow trout. The fish weighed in at 8 lbs. 6 ozs. when he brought it to Camrose to find a big fish derby to enter in. Mr. Burnstad was particularly interested in this big fellow, because he was president of the Camrose Fish and Game Association about 12 years ago, when Game Warden Bert Freeman originally stocked the lake with fingerlings, and he thinks this is probably one of those original fish that he managed to land.

Response is terrific to "satellite" project

Response to the Holden and Ryley drive to become satellite residential communities of Edmonton have been so good that homes have become as scarce as hens' teeth Already in Ryley, seven homes have been sold and four farm homes rented, while 21 lots have been sold, and the Lions Club has been swamped by over 200 requests for either land, homes or information.

Holden reports that eleven homes have been sold, four lots sold, and another ten homes are in the process of being sold and requests are pouring in.

The big exodus is expected around the end of June and the first weeks of July, after the school term is over. Many of the Edmontonians interested in moving to Ryley or Holden are young families or newly married couples with no children.

The Ryley Lions Club and the Holden Chamber of Commerce have issued an urgent appeal to people living on both sides of Highway 14 that, if they have homes for sale or rent, to let them know immediately. Homeowners can contact either Mel Warren at 688-3865 in Holden, or Garnet Burnstad at either 663-3632 or 663-3671 in Ryley.

The movement has now become a "pilot" project with the provincial government under the Department of Municipal Affairs, headed by the Hon. Mr. Colbourne. Attempts are being made to amend the Municipal Act so that farms may be divided into areas containing less than 21 acres, as presently required.

Finalization of travel arrangements between the two Beaver County Communities and Edmonton is expected to be announced shortly. It is expected that commuters will be traveling in a fleet of 15-passenger buses at a cost of about $25 per month. A house-mover has already agreed to place and arrange financing for "moved out" houses in both centres.

The program began its existence in January of this year and involved considerable planning by both communities before the initial approach to Edmontonians was made.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF.

(Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada

Word of its success has spread the world over. Here are the facts. The fact that really works. We have testimonials in our files report ing on the success of this diet. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first two days. On the third day suddenly drop 3 pounds on the 4th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day, until the 10th day. Then you will lose 2½ pounds over the next two days, to prevent those sore gums. Weight Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods you stuff yourself with foods heretofore "forbidden". Thus, you can eat steak, lobster, fat, roast or fried chicken, rich pastries, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. You will not be hungry. In the first ten days you will lose 10 pounds, every two days there after until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new quick weight loss fat is a simple fat-burning enzyme found in the delicious fruit. Add this new diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan and you still lose weight. Within the fat and bloat are your cells will cease to lose weight and your weight will remain constant. A copy of this new and startlingly successful diet plan can be obtained by sending 50c to GRAPEFRUIT DIET PUBLISHERS, 1213 Prom ont Ave., Los Angeles 6, Alberta. Make check or money order. Alberta Medicare is effective on July 1st.

Hon. Dr. J. D. Ross, Alberta Minister of Health, has announced that effective July 1 of this year, all residents of Alberta will be covered by Alberta Medicare and that everyone must register for the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan by that date. Benefits under the plan are in all basic health services, which are medical, surgical and obstetrical coverage; specified oral surgery performed by a dental surgeon; optometric refractive examinations; and chiropractic, podiatric and osteopathic services.

To facilitate registration, members of group health insurance plans with M.S.I. or other carriers are being provided with the necessary forms by their group leaders. Persons enrolled on an individual basis with the Alberta Health Plan or M.S.I. are receiving registration forms by mail, and, where possible, the same service is being provided for enrollees with other insurance companies. For those residents who are not included in any of these categories, registration forms are available at Treasury Branches, chartered banks, county and municipal district offices and hospitals. On registration, a resident receives an identity card showing his name and registration number as well as those of his dependents. Anyone who fails to register is guilty of an offence and is liable to a fine.

The annual premium for a single person under the plan is $60, for a family $120. Group members will have their premiums collected monthly, individual registrants will pay quarterly. Payment is not made at the time of registration. All residents will be billed at a later date.

Subsidies of one - half of the premium payable are available to those whose taxable income (or the combined income of himself and his spouse) for the preceding year was not more than $5000. Applications for subsidy will be printed on the first premium notice mailed to non-group members and will be available to group members through their representatives. Recipients of assistance benefits from the Department of Social Development (formerly the Department of Public Welfare) will be automatically registered by the Commission and should not register themselves.

Practitioners who provide basic health services as listed under the Plan may submit a claim to the Commission or may bill the patient direct. If the latter, the Commission will reimburse the patient.

The Alberta Blue Cross Plan and private insurance companies may continue to provide those health services not considered basic, such as ambulance, drugs, naturopathic services, prosthetic appliances and hospital benefits not included in the Alberta Hospitalization Benefits Plan, for an additional premium charge.

A folder listing all details of the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan has been distributed to all residences in the province. Anyone who has not received a copy can obtain one from those offices which distribute registration forms. For their own benefit, all Albertans are urged to read this informative brochure carefully.

Palmer – Earling

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elander, Karen and Kevin of Calgary and Janet Bruce of Edmonton were Sunday guests at the John Bruce home.

Visitors during the week at the Joe Knudsens were the Edof Wilhms, Mr. and Mrs. Art Bodge and Lyle of Ryley South, and Lawrence Howland.

HERE FROM WASHINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woodworth (nee Hazel Fair) motored from Bremerton, Washington and spent a few days visiting the Lawrence Howland, John Bruce and Lewis Perre families as well as relatives in Camrose. The above named attended a family reunion and party Saturday afternoon at the home of their sister and aunt, Mrs. A. Roth, Camrose

PALMER - EARLING, May 28 — Many local people tuned in at 9 a.m. over Taft Back on CKUA, Wednesday, when Garnet Burtland, secretary-treasurer of the village of Ryley and representing the Ryley Lions Club, and Mel Warren representing the Holden Chamber of Commerce, aired their pros and cons re hassling problem and helping their community in the Holden and Ryley towns and area. A move is underway to make both towns satellite residential communities for the city of Edmonton. Daily transportation by small buses to and from Edmonton for laborers would be provided, thus allowing them to live cheaper in the small towns and also in vacant farm homes, that are available for rent. Time alone will tell how this project will work out, that is now being given a try

Tofield pupils visit old Fort Edmonton

by Debbie Walther

On Thursday, May 8, students from Grades Five and Six of the Tofield School had the opportunity of visiting the replica of Fort Edmonton at Heinen's Brewery, and the Provincial Museum and Archives.

They left Tofield at 9:00 a.m. and arrived at the replica of Fort Edmonton at 10:15 and were invited to take a postcard and pamphlet home with them to remember old Fort Edmonton. We had a glass of juice to quench our thirst, and then boarded our buses.

It took us five minutes to reach the Provincial Museum. We toured the grounds to see the murals. We then entered the museum and ate lunch at the cafeteria. We were herded into the auditorium and then we were told which guide to go with.

We had the pleasure of seeing antique cars, trucks, tractors, and India clothing. We took one hour in touring half the building. At 3:00 o'clock, we left the Museum. To satisfy our desire to sing, we sang all the way home. We arrived back at school at 3:35.

If any parents would like to take their children for an outing during the summer holidays and don't know where to go, the Grade Fives and Six's strongly advise the replica of Fort Edmonton and the Provincial Museum and Archives.

Tourist Association approves brochures

On Thursday evening, May 22, directors and representatives of the Battle River Tourist Association met in Camrose and approved the new Zone Brochure. Thirty - eight thousand of these brochures will be distributed by the Alberta Government Travel Bureau and the Alberta Tourist Association, and it is the hope of the directors that all persons in the Zone 5 area will assist in the distribution of several thousand from this area.

The Placental Committee reported that one-third of the 100,000 placemats depicting this tourist zone have been sold in the area. The Publicity Committee submitted a tentative format for a fall hunting guide, and asked for guidance from the general meeting.

Ten councils and communities were represented at the May meeting, and all directors and representatives were invited to attend the June 12 meeting which will be held in Wainwright, preceded by a steak-fry.

New policy aids project

A new land policy in the County of Beaver is doing much to ensure the success of a venture to make Holden and Ryley into residential satellites of Edmonton.

A farmer tending the land on more than one farm had been compelled by County regulations to leave the buildings and immediate land unsold. Now, however, farmers are permitted to sell buildings and five acres of land on each quarter section.

The government has given the project its approval and is expected to announce, very shortly, approval of low interest rates on low cost loans for purchasing of residential homes in these communities. Homes are retailing for an average of five thousand dollars.

Over four hundred Edmontonians have expressed serious interest in the project, and already some have moved into the two communities. Many more are expected to move at the end of the school term later this month.

Bardo ready for birthday

Plans have been finalized for the holding of Bardo's 75th anniversary celebrations on June 13 and 14.

Sports will occupy much of the program, but memories of the "good old days" will be revived with displays of antiques and exhibitions of butter-making, weaving and many of the other older crafts.

A smorgasbord will be served early Saturday evening and will be followed by special ceremonies, during which time the Honourable Henry Ruste and Dr. Chester Ronning will be special guests.

A complete report and schedule will be published next week.

Top essayist

Shirley Jensen of Ryley was awarded first prize in a provincial essay competition sponsored by the Canadian Petroleum Association. Miss Jensen will receive a cheque and a trophy at graduation exercises in the fall.

Lindbrook farm was threatened

A grass fire fed by popular furz threatened buildings on a farm in this community last west of Tofield.

The fire spread over some five acres of land covered by the furz which "burned like gasoline", according to residents.

Mrs. Rose Knudsen, owner of the buildings, reported only slight damage to a garage.

Golden Wedding for Tofield pair

Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell of Tofield were thrilled last Saturday when their Golden Wedding celebration was even enlivened by the playing of the bagpipes in their honor, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Henry Young, in Camrose. Pipers were Jock Blake and Don MacLeod. Married May 31st, 1919 in Peterhead, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, the couple moved to this country shortly after. Following only a short time at Sedgewick, they moved to Tofield, and have lived there ever since. For many years Mr. Campbell walked the pipeline for Northwestern Utilities, making the trip from Tofield to Edmonton and back one week, and from Tofield to Viking the next. In winter it was necessary to walk the line on snowshoes. He put in some time on the farm, and also served as town policeman in Tofield for several years before Safety belts to be a must in Wisconsin?

The State of Wisconsin is considering legislation which would make the wearing of safety belts compulsory. It was the first state requiring the installation of safety belts which have been a must there since 1963 models hit the market.

Under the proposed bill, drivers could be fined $200 for not wearing safety belts.

It is supported by Governor Warren P. Knowles and is being promoted by the Blaze Highway Safety Bureau which says full use of them could have saved 200 lives of the record 1968 death toll of 1,188 traffic deaths.

Surveys indicate that up to a half of highway motorists wear the safety belts but less than a quarter wear them on city streets. Schultz said it is ironic there is a lower accident rate on the high-speed highways while the belts could save many lives on city streets.

Seminar in Holden for teacher aides

by Grace Phillips

Arranged by the Professional Development Committee of Beaver Local A.T.A. and chaired by Tom Newcombe of Viking, a seminar on Teacher Aides was held in the Holden School on Saturday, May 31.

T. F. Rieger, executive assistant, A.T.A., John Brasko and Mrs. Alice Allen of Wisterburn School, Mrs. Marion Webb of Spruce Grove School and Keith Robson, supervisor of instruction for Beaver County, presented a panel discussion on the value of teacher aides. The teachers from Wisterburn and Spruce Grove had participated on a teacher aide try-out this past school year and were enthusiastic about the results in the primary grades with which they were concerned.

Group discussions following the panel presentation showed a marked variation of opinion as to the merits of teacher aides in the classroom. While the value of secretarial assistance, help in preparing A.V. and lab equipment, aid in routine test marking was unquestioned, the use of aides in the classroom situations did not receive unanimous support. Mr. Robson further questioned the panel about points brought out through the group discussions.

When questioned by Mr. Robson, the panel agreed that more effective teaching could be done with smaller class loads and no teacher aides than with large class loads, even though teacher aides assisted.

Tofield pupils visit Camrose

(By Karen Jacobsen)

On May 28th, both grade four classes went to Camrose for a tour.

We went to finish our studies on Alberta industries and visited four places. At the food Cleaning Plant, we were amazed to see how deep the bins were. We watched the workers package Sunny Boy Cereal at the Byers Flour Mills. The people at The Camrose Canadian put our names down in type from the linotype machines, and we were surprised to see how young Grandpa Herzberg really is when we toured the CFCW radio station.

For lunch we went to the Jubilee Park. We enjoyed our tour very much.

MEMBER, THE ORDER OF THE GOLDEN RULE

Every Chevrolet has to make it before we slash it.

$120.50 less than last year's Impala comparably equipped.

Now more car really does cost less.

Normally, you expect to pay more to get more.

So you'd naturally expect Canada's favourite car, Impala, to cost more than a '68 Impala with the same equipment. Well . . . the price spiral stops right here.

Like an example? Take our Impala Custom Coupe, equipped with a 300-hp Turbo-Fire V8, power front disc brakes, Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, head restraints, whitewalls and wheel covers. And we'll take $120.50* off last year's price.

How come? Because this year we've cut the price on the 300 hp motor, the Turbo Hydra-matic transmission and the power discs, and we've made head restraints standard equipment. So you save a bundle.

And on top of all this, Impala's a better car this year. By now you should be getting the message. More car, less money.

And your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to prove it.

*Based on manufacturer's suggested maximum retail prices, including federal sales and excise tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charges.

Modern etiquette

Q. Is the donking of doughnuts, cookies, etc., now acceptable everywhere?

A. This depends. If you are having coffee with a friend in the kitchen, donk if you wish. But at a general social affair it could hardly be called in good taste. Things like these depend on good sense and appropriateness.

Q. Who properly terminates a social phone call—the person who made the call or the one who has been called?

A. This really is not too important — either one, depending upon circumstances, may end the call.

Q. Are bridal showers properly given for a second-time bride?

A. Not usually. No rule against it, though.

Q. I've been told it's bad luck for the bridegroom to assist his bride in addressing and mailing the wedding invitations. True?

A. Not true! Although this is something usually taken care of by the bride and her mother, there is no reason in the world why the bridegroom should not pitch in if he wishes to do so.

Q. Is it proper to tip the soup or dessert dishes in order to remove all the liquid?

A. This is acceptable, provided the dish is tipped away from the spoon, not toward the eater.

Q. Isn't it the girl's privilege to select the table when she enters a public eating place with a male escort?

A. No; she allows her escort to do this.

Q. I've been told that a person should always keep looking at another person while talking with him. Is this true?

A. Certainly you indicate closer attention to what the other person is saying if you look at him—but be sure to avoid a fixed and hypnotic stare that could make the other person feel uncomfortable.

Q. When the parents of a bride are divorced, but still on friendly terms, is it proper for the wedding invitations to be sent jointly by them?

A. This is entirely out of the question. The invitations are sent only in the name of the parent with whom the bride is living.

Q. What sort of table decoration would be appropriate for a brunch? I am giving some friends?

A. A bowl of fruit is always nice But flowers may be used, too.

Q. I realize that it is not a "must", but if a girl really wishes to give her fiance an engagement gift, what should it be?

A. Usually some personal gift of jewelry—cuff links, key case, tie clasp, monogrammed belt buckle, cigarette lighter

Q. I am soon to be "the father of the bride". Am I required, as some of our relatives say, to stand in the receiving line at the reception?

A. No; it's entirely up to you. You may either "receive", as minute with the guests.

Q. If cake is served at a social function, and no forks are provided, how should one go about eating it?

A. Do not lift the entire slice of cake to the mouth. Instead, break it into individual pieces, as you would a slice of bread or bun—then convey each morsel to the mouth with the fingers.

Magazine sales

Several senior citizens have requested intimidation in magazine crew members. These elderly people signed contracts from fear of reprisals from these young men. Another dodge used by some of these salespeople in obtaining the customer's signature on a piece of paper authorizing the salesman to have the charges certified at the customer's bank When this is done, the customer is charged the certification fee.

According to the Alberta Direct Sales Cancellation Act the customer has the right to 5 days cooling off period, and if cancellation is requested, the customer is entitled to a refund of his deposit. If certification is authorized the customer would, of course, lose the amount of certification fee.

Don't sign a contract just to get rid of a salesman, says the Better Business Bureau

Boys build stock-car

Last Sunday afternoon, David Halverson and Ed Riley experienced the results of three months of dirt and grease and hard work. The boys built their own stock car and were able to race it in their first race at the Centennial Car Club oval at Camrose

David and Ed earned their own money by doing everything from scrubbing cement floors to breaking horses, to build the car. Although the boys did not win any first prizes, they stayed in the races until they lost a wheel, which put them out for the remainder of the afternoon They will be racing again next Sunday, in Barhead

Their car (No. 23) was as good as any on the track, but the drivers admitted they needed a lot of practise. Art Kerber offered to assist them by being their pit man

Neil Demmons of Charlie's Place, and Gabe Pittet of Mickeels Hardware are to be commended for giving the boys the sponsorship they required to enter the Centennial Car Club

Chamber of Commerce resurrected in Tofield

One hundred and sixty persons gathered in the Community Centre in Tofield last night and revived the Chamber of Commerce that had been dormant for a number of years. The large attendance took the organizers by surprise, as they had planned on holding the meeting in the library and were forced to move to the large community centre room.

A complete executive was elected, with James Ramsbottom as president, Bill Christensen as vice-president, Harry Wilkie in the role of secretary and John Wall as treasurer, and the following councillors: Bill Friesen, John Baergen, Maurice Tessier, Betty Swanson, Johnny Baergen, Jake Neufeld, Neil Demmons, Ron Goeglein, John Moore, Andy Helberg, Paul Kallal and Dr. Prasbury.

Two petitions received the approval of those attending the meeting, and will now be circulated for signatures. The first petition will be forwarded to the Provincial Minister of Health, advocating a nursing home be erected in Tofield, and the second petition is to be sent to the Provincial Minister of Welfare asking a senior citizens' home in Tofield.

Tofield pupils visit 'Wildlife Paradise'

by Grace Phillips

To experience the wonders of nature at work in the spring, the Tofield Grade II classes, accompanied by Mrs J Sears and Mrs A. Lucas, and driven by John Wall, enjoyed a field trip to Wildlife Paradise, Round Hill, on May 22.

After greeting the children, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowthorpe, proprietors of Wildlife Paradise instructed them about the sanctuary.

In two groups, the children with keen interest and enjoyment, observed the birds and animals in the sanctuary. Ducks and Canada Geese on nests, swans, owls, hawks, bald eagles and fan-tailed pigeons attracted the children. The proud but elusive peacock tempted some small boys to catch him.

At noon, the visitors enjoyed their picnic lunches in the beautiful spot provided for that purpose

The afternoon brought opportunities for more explorations, for races conducted by Mr. Bowthorpe, for rides on a cleverly devised merry-go-round, and for a visit to the Bowthorpe museum. On leaving, each little visitor was presented with a peacock feather for "being so good".

All agreed that the expedition had provided many opportunities for learning in the field of science The hospitality of the Bowthorpes completed the feeling of "mission accomplished" by the Grade II students and their teachers.

by Grace Phillips

Ryley bride is honored

On Saturday, June 7, a bridal shower was held in honour of Miss Yvonne Vermette. Several ladies gathered in the United Church kitchen, which was decorated with coral and white streamers and white bells. Yvonne was escorted into the room by her bridesmaids, and her mother presented Yvonne with a corsage of tropicana roses and white carnations.

Mrs Harvest Ruddy, as master of ceremonies for the evening, directed a few games. While the bridesmaids helped Yvonne open her gifts, some of the ladies prepared and served a delicious lunch. Finally, Yvonne thanked everyone for coming, and for all the lovely gifts she received.

This column is a regular weekly feature prepared by the Family Financial Counselling Service of a National personal finance organization, 275 Dundas St., London, Ont. Specific questions submitted to the above address will be answered, in print or by return mail. Names will not be used in print. However, all questions should be accompanied by a complete name and address.

As you readers have probably noted, most of the letters we answer deal with consumer credit. And it's not unusual, because credit plays such an important role in your family's financial management. This being the case, there is one point I would like to clarify. A department store for example, does not and in fact, cannot grant you credit. They can't give you something they do not possess.

The credit is yours. They merely extend the facilities for you to use your credit. If you would look up the word in the dictionary, you would find that it means among a host of other definitions, "good name, character, financial or commercial trustworthiness." So, no one can give you your good name. You either have it . . . or you don't. Credit means that you assure others you will perform whatever you promise, so far as is within your capacity. Your credit . . . the amount you have and the amount you can use . . . depends on three principle measures. Your character (the most important thing you possess); your capacity to pay (steady continuing employment or income) and capital (the things you own).

Have you ever heard some boastful friend claim . . . I never buy anything on credit. I always pay cash for it!" He's either a fool or a liar . . . or both. In the first place, if he's got a telephone in his home, you can bet he doesn't stick a dime into the receiver every time he makes a call. Or how about each time he flicks on a light? Does he take out a penny and feed it into a meter to keep the lights on? The telephone and power companies permit him to use the service without the interim issue. They offer their credit to him and trust him to pay for these things only once a month. Though there's no credit charge per se it is most assuredly a form of credit.

And what could happen to our friend if he suddenly realized something for which he did not have sufficient cash? Now he would rather have it because the means from a source outside [illegible] might feel he'd [illegible] or he might have to purchase the item from the items under a more costly contract. It could be possible [illegible] that if such an event really did occur he could borrow . . . if he did not have credit . . . from his community. Cash is king but a good credit rating [illegible]

[illegible] suggested [illegible] plays a [illegible] and [illegible] which are [illegible] [illegible] Link [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

A Holden district couple, Mr and Mrs. Steve Sachy, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary, May 17th, when their many friends, neighbors and relatives attended a party in their honor at Bruce Hall. The hand table was beautifully decorated in pink and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. The hall was tastefully decorated with pink flowers and streamers. Special guests were their bridesmaid and bestman, who attended their wedding 25 years ago, and their family of seven sons. The honored guests were presented with many lovely and useful gifts from friends and family with the well-wishes of all for many more years of happiness together. Mr. and Mrs Sachy thanked very graciously all those who attended to make the evening so enjoyable, for the lovely gifts, and for helping them to celebrate the happy occasion.

Deaths by fire —curbed

By A. E. Bridges, Alberta Fire Commissioner

The Fire Commissioner wishes to give public notice of a dra- matic reduction in loss of life from fire so far in 1969. If this trend could continue, having regard to increased knowledge on the part of Albertans, we could have the lowest fire death loss in many years. Up to this time, nine deaths have resulted from fire compared to five per- sons and four women. It is noteworthy also that no children are listed as fire victims.

But here a word of warning may be timely. Warm weather means increased freedom. Children may quickly wander away and their curiosity may lead them to play with fire. Hence extra care is necessary to keep matches away from children and to give constant thought to their whereabouts and activi- ties.

Tofield students go on nature expedition

by Grace Phillips

Much preparation preceded the field trip taken by the Tofield Grade 3 classes to the shores of Beaverhill Lake

After the story "Science, Science Everywhere" had been read by the students, they discussed what birds, trees and animals they might find on their forthcoming expedition. In anticipation of finding insects, tadpoles or other water life, the children made nets from nylons and coathangers.

Safety precautions were discussed, suitable food and clothing for the trip were agreed upon.

The evening preceding the trip, those who were to accompany the students, Mrs. Everett, Mrs. Astley, Mr. von Stackelberg, Miss Lyons and Miss C Astley visited the lake shore, fastening strips of cardboard containing provocative questions on twenty items of interest.

On the trip to the lake, the children, driven by Mr Lampitt, were encouraged to observe bird and animal life and to recognize the ridge of land which indicates the high-water mark of Beaverhill Lake

Divided into small groups, with an adult in charge, children, supplied with materials for recording observations, made a round of the twenty points of interest previously selected by the teachers.

After dinner and a rest period the groups were allowed independent explorations for an hour before returning home laden with collections of frogs, bones, rocks, fungus growths and plants.

These treasures have provided the materials for many valuable lessons in science. The letters of appreciation written to those who made the field trip possible made appropriate and timely language lessons. The whole expedition has bequeathed the children an understanding and appreciation of their environment.

Entries wanted for big parade

by Grace Phillips

How is your parade entry coming? This, the Diamond Anniversary of the Town of Tofield, should be marked with an even better-than-usual parade.

Petra Stauffer will be glad to discuss entries with anyone interested.

The diamond anniversary should provide an excellent and easily-demonstrated theme to combine with the theme of each organization, club, or business.

Bardo celebrates its 75th birthday

The Community of Bardo celebrated its 75th anniversary with celebrations on Friday and Saturday, which were attended by nearly 1,000 people.

Visitors came from all over the province, with some coming from other parts of the country, as well as the United States. Committee officials had not expected this good a turn-out, and the ladies were forced to make last-minute preparations on Saturday when nearly six hundred people attended the smorgasbord. Only half this number had been expected.

Attendance at the Saturday evening program gave committee members another jolt as they had to get trucks to haul seats to the stage site minutes before the program began. As it was, nearly one hundred of the eight hundred in attendance were forced to stand.

The former High Commissioner to India, Dr. Chester Ronning of Camrose, returned to the scene of his childhood and stole the show when he appeared as the special speaker of the evening. Earlier in the program, Henry Hantz, Alberta's Minister of Lands and Forests, spoke briefly.

Muriel Irving, now of Edmonton and formerly a Bardo resident, was on hand for the celebration and combined with her sisters Sylvia, Esther, Betsy and Gladys, and brother Ingvald, to sing a song composed especially for the occasion by Muriel.

Gabe Pittet, acting mayor of Tofield, was on hand to extend greetings on behalf of the Town of Tofield, while Councillor Geo. Knudsen did the same on behalf of the County of Beaver.

The Bardo Anniversary Committee could very well be excused if they drew a huge sigh of relief on Saturday night after their two-day celebration came to an end. The committee planned well, but even they were unable to foresee the response that they received. But, they recovered quite well and no one went home disappointed in any way.

The idea that such a small community could put on a celebration of this magnitude seemed quite ridiculous at the time, but as the two days unfolded, it became more and more evident that the committee knew exactly what it was doing. When a community the size of Bardo can attract over eighteen hundred people to its birthday, then they deserve a lot of credit. All functions ran smoothly and it would be quite unfair to pick out any particular event or person for special mention because every attraction was an attraction and everyone pulled his fair share of the load.

Bardo's celebration can well serve as an example to other communities planning celebrations during the coming months.

Two attractions

Two major attractions will happen in Beaver County during the next two weeks. Ryley will be holding its annual sports day this Saturday and the committee is going all out to make this the biggest and best event, and preliminary plans makes it look like an exciting day.

The Town of Tofield will be celebrating its 80th birthday on July 1st, and they are planning on making it a day to remember. Last year's show was an exceptionally good one, but committee members are insisting that it won't hold a candle to this year's big day.

Stop spending

As individuals, many people cannot afford the luxuries that exist in today's modern world and even those who are comparatively well-off cannot buy many of the things they would like to possess. In many cases, people are satisfied with their lot, accepting it, while at the same time hoping that a little more will come their way in the future. Others are not content and are constantly striving to attain more and more worldly goods.

Since we cannot, as individuals, possess more than we can afford, why do we not see to it that our governments do not give us more than we can afford." Make no mistake about it, it is our fault that government spending is as high as it is, as we continually apply pressure for more and more benefits and our elected representatives, being always in danger of not being re-elected are constantly giving in to our demands, so that they will continue to be employed in the capacity they have become accustomed to. Government leaders are always saying that a 'hold the line' policy must be implemented and often try to do so, but, as soon as the people start hollering, they back down. Politicians who try and hold the line and are stubborn about it might be surprised at the results come election time. More and more people are realizing that taxes are too high and that the prices we are now paying for the benefits we are receiving is much too high. Let the governments hold the line and let the people remain silent

Throw in the drugs, too

Alberta pharmacists recently passed a resolution urging the province to include drugs, and possibly other services now outside the scope of Medicare, in the plan which will be introduced in only two weeks time.

Their suggestion is not for universal free drugs, really, but only for those who were subscribed under the expiring Alberta Health Plan.

The suggestion has merit. Heaven knows it's going to be tough for anyone who could qualify for subsidy under present regulations to meet and pay the full charge of the new Medicare regulations without also having to pay for the drugs prescribed. And what good is it going to be to see the doctor if you can't pay for the drugs he suggests are a necessary part of the cure.

We suppose there will be little trouble in getting almost universal registration in this highly distasteful bit of bigamy for the great majority will meekly fall in line whether we agree with the program or not. However we found intriguing the report of a man in Calgary who had instructed his lawyer to file a defence for his refusal to obey the Act by registering. The outcome will doubtless be interesting to us all.

Surely it's essential democracy to [illegible] register for a service [illegible] and to have him pay for this service. The next [illegible] will be to make it [illegible] keep sober and healthy and control your taxes.

"Tales of Tofield" back from publisher

by Grace Phillips

"Tales of Tofield", the history of the Tofield area since the pioneer era is now published and ready for distribution.

Mr. J. H. Francis, secretary of the Tofield Historical Society, has received word that the long awaited day has come and the published history of this area has become a reality instead of a dream.

The book, edited by Grace Phillips, has used the anecdotal approach in this way, the spirit of the pioneers has been preserved as well as the records of their activities.

The blue and gold "Tales of Tofield" has the distinction of having a foreward by His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, J. [illegible] MacEwan. The Tofield Historical Society is deeply honored to have this foreward written by the Queen's representative, himself a famous author.

"Tales of Tofield" will be on sale on the Exhibition Grounds on July 1, as well as at the Homecoming Tea on June 20. It will be the ideal gift for family members, here or away, or for friends who are former residents of this area.

Clean-up a success at Holden Cemetery

by Mrs. G. M. Taylor

There was a wonderful turnout for Cemetery Clean-up Day in Holden on Monday, June 16 with all the work on the grounds being completed, lots for small for all and a good spirit of fellowship among all.

The annual meeting was held at noon, with officers for the year being: Lyle Grosland, president; Ted Appleby, vice-president, Barb Campbell, secretary, Kathleen Hurum, treasurer. Directors: Jim and Charlie Zwierschke, Mr. Leabe, Albert Hollibaugh, Art Olsen, Lloyd Clark, Ray Hovland, Kathleen Hurum, Ethel Brekstad, Otto Hurum, Percy Barlow and Charles Sloar.

At the close of the business meeting, Lyle Grosland gave a brief resume of the beginning of the Cemetery Committee, which took place in 1944, this being the 25th anniversary. He also touched on many interesting items that had taken place during this time. He remarked that they had chosen two members from the three churches for the first officers and since then has added a Board of Directors; but of the original members only Barb Campbell and Lyle Grosland had vacationed the 25 years, still remaining to this day. At this point, on behalf of all the members, Lyle graciously presented Mrs. Campbell with a gift and a big vote of thanks from all for service rendered. The surprise was so unexpected that for once Barb was speechless, but said she had considered it a great privilege to be able to help in such a noble cause, and the lovely Cemetery today is some thing to be proud of.

Lyle was the next one to be surprised and touched, when Ted Appleby, in well chosen words and on behalf of the Society, presented him with a gift to show the great appreciation of all that he had done through the years. Lyle thanked all for their loyal co-operation, then sent them back to work.

A gigantic garden party planned for the entertainment of the Old Timers is the contribution of the Tofield Lions' Club to Tofield's Diamond Anniversary.

Not just one orchestra, but two at once, will be available for the guests' pleasure. The parking lot of the Tofield branch of the Bank of Montreal will be boarded in for privacy, so that dancing may take place outside, as well as in the Tofield Community Centre.

Since this affair is planned for the entertainment of Old Timers, residents of Tofield are invited to help. Anyone wishing to participate in this event may obtain an official invitation from the Lions' Club—From C. Blacklock at Robinson's Store. No one will be admitted without an invitation, unless he or she is wearing the name tag presented at the Homecoming Tea earlier in the day. Owners of these name tags who will be either out-of-town visitors or 40-year residents of this area will be admitted free. Other invited guests will pay $1.00 each.

The Diamond Jubilee Garden Party will be held in the Tofield Community Centre from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. on Monday, June 30.

Klondike d'eve will be welcome and will lend color to the occasion

The Town of Tofield is celebrating its Diamond Anniversary on Tuesday, July 1, commemorating its incorporation as a Town in 1908.

The theme of the celebration will honor all oldtimers of Tofield District who have been residents since that date and who will be presented with a suitable scroll.

Many events are planned for the day, which will start with a parade at 11:00 o'clock in the morning. Full scale Baseball Tournament will take place at the Sports Grounds, where facilities will be provided for oldtimers to meet and renew acquaintances.

Two main events will be a Jumping Horse competition and a Cutting Horse competition, including some of the finest horses in Western Canada.

An outdoor Barbecue will be held at 4:00 p.m. in the Sports Grounds.

PARADE

To get the Big Day running on schedule, it is vitally important to get the parade away at 11:15 so the parade committee requests all entries be lined up by 11:00 o'clock.

Notifying Norm Osland at 662-3120 or 672-2180 to your entry will help him and Art Francis to get the parade lined up to the best advantage. This, Tofield's Diamond Jubilee, should produce the best parade ever.

The categories for the parade are:

1. Best Country Float.
2. Best Town Float (non commercial).
3. Best Commercial Float
4. Best Decorated Horse and Rider.
5. Best Decorated Car.
6. Best Decorated Bicycle
7. Best Novelty (judged on originality).

For each category in the parade, a cup will be awarded for first prize; ribbons will signify second and third prizes.

The Western Canada Jumper, "Hunter" and Equestrian Association is sending a fine group of jumpers to entertain Tofield spectators. It is expected that Miss Gail Ross, famous equestrienne, will be present.

HANDICRAFT DISPLAY

The work of the ethnic groups represented in early Tofield is featured in the Diamond Jubilee handicraft display, in the Curling Rink. Mrs. Hazel Patterson and Mrs. Mabel Bayles, who are in charge of the display, are very pleased with the response to their request for exhibits.

The original Canadians, the Indians and Eskimos are well represented by a display loaned for the occasion by Team Products, Edmonton. Among the items are deerhide bags, spears, tomahawks, hunting knives, makuks, moccasins, beads, gauntlets. Children will be interested in the doll, Mikio, made of leather and fur, and in the puppets based onto its cradleboard Indian cuddles which, used with drums, bout out rhythm for Indian dances, are also on display, as is a chief's headdress These items are not for sale on July 1, but are sold as Team Products, Edmonton

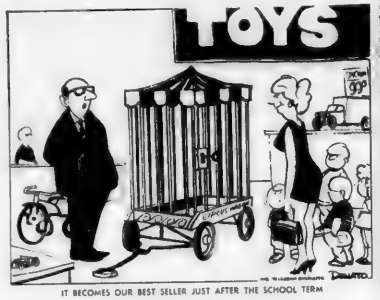
MacDuff Ottawa Report

Fading dream

OTTAWA, June 23. — In the dreams for a new constitution the agenda was turned upside ... ide of the third federal-provincial conference on the Constitution, it has become increasingly apparent that Centennial year held here last February, when Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and the provincial premiers gathered in Ottawa again this month to resume their talks, the picture had almost entirely dissolved.

The vision began to get cloudy ... at the second summit conference ... When ... down to let the premiers ... plain long and loudly about their ... desperate financial situation ...



IT BECOMES OUR BEST SELLER JUST AFTER THE SCHOOL TERM

EMPHASIS SWITCHED

Their major accomplishments were an agreement that both Ottawa and the provincial governments should have access to indirect taxes, and that there should be some provincial control over the introduction of new shared-cost programs like Medicare.

In other words, this was for all practical purposes not so much a constitutional conference as a fiscal conference.

Certainly, access to direct taxation and control of the spending power are constitutional matters but they are also money matters and money was what really interested the premiers.

The final communique issued after the talks wound up gave only a nod to the great themes on which the constitutional review began more than a year ago — a charter of fundamental rights, language rights, the reform of federal institutions like the Senate.

SCANT PROGRESS

Mr. Trudeau and the premiers received reports from ... ters of federal and provincial ... ministers that met in May to ... begin threshing out these ... ters.

The first ministers' ... of the progress to date and ... agreed that all the committees ... should endeavor to meet ... and report to the constitutional ... conference before its next meeting ... the communique said.

Behind this bland sentence lies the unhappy fact that the ... riders have made very little progress.

The Committee on Basic Rights, headed by Finance Minister John Turner, was ordered a study on the possible effects of writing ... political freedoms ... and religion ... constitution.

NO AGREEMENT

The ... necessary because ... did not guarantee ... from the provinces ... gain some of the ... powers. The committee ... trees could convince some contract ... that it would be worthwhile ... a few homes in each community ... maybe an apartment ... two ...

... its one-day meeting to discuss ... federal proposals for letting provincial governments appoint some of the senators.

Not that the provinces would not be delighted to accept the opportunity to make appointments.

But they are less interested in the other side of the very sophisticated equation the federal government has set out for Senate reform.

SEE-SAW ACTION

Ottawa's offer is designed to give the provinces a voice in some kind of federal action—the appointment of Supreme Court judges for example. Because the ... can influence provincial governments, their appointments would have to be approved by the Senate.

But, Ottawa says, if the provinces get more power in this way, they should be prepared to give up some claims to other new powers.

For example, if Senators appointed by the Quebec government could influence the choice of judges, then Quebec should give up its demands for direct appointments to a constitutional tribunal.

The committee ... language rights also made ... supporting ... progress according to related reports.

Its most useful ... has ... to hammer out ... at a ... of time as expensive ... some guidelines for federal ... towards provincial ... programs.

200 delegates attend FUA Local Convention

(by Anne Methuhl)

VERMILLE, June 16 — With the most expensive seeding operations yet behind them, with unpredictable late frosts damaging emerging crops and with the threat of drought in the dry winds, farmers came by the score to the Farmers Union of Alberta Convention in this centre. Nearly two hundred delegates and visitors converged at the Elks Hall to hear the speakers.

Cards on the table—hard speaking Roy Atkinson, SPU and NFU President, spoke just that way. "Free enterprise?—just a laughlin as dead as a door nail. Marketa are shared, everything the producer buys is priced.

"What does the farmer do?" he asks. "How much is it and how much will you give me?"

Farmers have to learn to march, to fight" said Mr. Atkinson. He compared the present day farmers unions' ability to solve problems to an attempt by an astronaut to reach the moon with obsolete equipment. Just as a firecracker can't power a rocket to the moon so is a fractional union unable to bridge national or international powers. Nationalize was the advice!

Mrs. Putter, SPW President must have surely given the women' ego a boost when she declared that farm women, because they are aware of the jeopardy of the situation would add to the power of an organization on a national scale Adding to the womens voice at the convention was Mrs. May Huddlestun, FWUA 1st vice-president.

In the concluding address W. D Lea FUA vice-president alleged farmers are victims of circumstances beyond their control, profiteering, and a cheap food policy on the part of the government. There is a choice of federation or integration he said.

Mr. Lea expressed disappointment evident with the Task Force on Agriculture Report. He felt there was conflict of interest among the participating groups. The recommendations to take ten million acres out of wheat, to install supply control and the advice to take advantage of new technology was no solution presently.

Government can aid if agreement is evident, and there is need of a national voice. He cautioned against leaping into something that has not had sufficient examination.

Mr. Lea stressed the need to excommunicate with the grass roots and to obtain the good will of the government. Get things done but watch for long run results.

In his directors report, Don Sharon stated membership in District 6 is up from 1968. However, he noted the decline in the number of farmers—suggested that all farmers are not leaving by free choice—rather that extreme pressures beyond their immediate control are the decision makers. Mr. Sharon would like to see formed a National Bank of Agriculture" (with a policy of low interest rates) to finance farmers' needs

When Mrs Lena Seabar, FWUA district director reported that for years the government had asked farm organizations to speak in one voice, she reflected the directors expectations that members think seriously of a "one effective farm organization".

In the elections all district officers with the exception of director retained their positions The new director is Mr John Sawiak of the Hairline local

Among resolutions passed is one to send delegates to the NFU Planning Convention in Winnipeg July 9th to 11. Observers Locals should be on the alert for meetings gathering delegates. Initial point will be Camrose being a bus with the departure point being Vegreville

Tofield students visit the Tiedemann Museum

by Grace Phillips

The museum at the farm home of Mr. and Bill Tiedemann of Deville was the scene of a field trip for the Grade IV students of the Tofield School on June 18

Accompanied by Miss Helen Tiedemann, Mrs. Margaret Roberts, Mr. P. von Stackelberg and driven by Mr. John Maurer, the students divided into five groups to tour the attractions of the Tiedemann farm. Their special objectives were the two museums, one of household artifacts and the other of early farm tools and implements, the beaver dam, the pond and the woods.

In the museum of household exhibits, Mrs. Edna Dunn welcomed the visitors and explained the use and origin of each article Mrs Dunn, who is Mrs. Mary Tiedemann's mother, is of United Empire Loyalist stock, and has an inexhaustible fund of knowledge, which she was glad to share with the visitors

Holiday on Tuesday, not on Monday

Unlike many other holidays marked throughout the year, Dominion Day is invariably observed on Canada's birthday, July 1st. Several inquiries have been received from people who thought the custom of shifting all holidays to the nearest Monday would be followed.

Baseball teams not co-operating

Teams in the Powerline Baseball League have NOT been co-operating with league officials this year, with the result that no one knows or has any idea of league standings

The schedule started the latter part of May and has been operating for a month now, with only a little over a week remaining in the schedule, and then the playoffs are supposed to get underway

All teams are asked to call Doug Lehman at 662-3332 in Ryley, and give results of all home games played to date. If this is done, The Mercury will publish an up-to-date report next week

The only game we have is that Bardo edged Tofield 3-2 in Bardo on Tuesday, with Herb Foulsang getting the win while Floyd Taylor was tagged with the loss, Taylor batted a homerun in the first inning

Agricultural Committee to have summer program

by Ray Boyles, Ag. Fieldman

WEEDS

We can expect an increased weed problem this year due to the spread of Green Foxtail, Mayweed and Wild Oats. A great deal of publicity is given to the new weed control chemicals, however, little information on their proper use is given through the advertising media. Dealers throughout the County are stocking a good supply of chemicals and insecticides, and we urge they are qualified to give the proper information on the use of these chemicals.

Farmers are urged to report infestations of persistant perennial weeds such as Toad Flax, Leafy Spurge, Hoary Cress, Knapweed and Field Bindweed. The County pays one-half the cost of chemicals to destroy these weeds.

We will welcome requests for a call regarding weed problems including identification, sprayer calibrating, air craft spraying, pasture and brush spraying, and the correct use of herbicides in the different parts of the County. We can expect the usual growth of perennial weeds that will need spraying. Annual weeds will make rapid growth if rains come, and spraying will be necessary if grain is not too far advanced

Shelterbelt and tree insects are increasing, and a check should be made on the presence of spader moles, aphids, leaf rollers and canker worms, and be sure of the correct insecticide to use for their control. Our spraying unit is available for spraying tall trees

Robert Park and myself will be contacting ranchers in the Eastern Centre Area in Division 1 and possibly part of Division 2.

BACKSLOPE SEEDING

Farmers who work down backslopes and ditches may get grass seed from the County free of charge, providing mowing is done to prevent snow drifting. The release of this seed must be from our office

TREE PLANTING

The demand for trees is expected to increase for next year's planting, and ratepayers are urged to place orders early. Far too many trees are being lost due to dry weather and weed growth. Closer checks will be made in the future regarding this loss

ROADSIDE SPRAYING

Spraying of County roads for brush and weed control will be done this summer. The spraying crew are using every precaution to prevent damage to crops, gardens and shelterbelts. When checking for spray damage, don't blame the spray crew if damage was caused by frost. We will gladly check reports of damage believed to be from spray drift

MISCELLANEOUS

Peter Gardecki of Holden will be assisting in carrying out Service Board programs this summer and will welcome calls from farmers. Peter's phone number is 688-2362 Farmers who wish to contact me are requested to call the County office. If I am not in, office personnel will take the call and leave a note to me

HORSE SHOW

Twenty-four of the finest horses in Western Canada participated in the Horse Show, with 12 entering the Jumping Sweepstakes and a similar number participating in the Cutting Horse competition.

Cliff Ross took the Cutting Horse trophy on his horse Holly wood 8, with John Cummings on Gentle Glo in second place and Tom Fox taking third place riding Don Dandy Dall. George Golden, a director with the Canadian Cutting Horse Association, was in charge of this event.

Cattle for the cutting events were supplied by Pat and Charlie Sears.

Jim Clyne, riding Irish Coffee, took top honors in the Jumping Sweepstakes. Peter Hamilton on John Peel took second place, while Gail Ross Hamilton finished in third place on her horse Coty. This young lady also directed the competition, while Hales Ross was the judge.

CEREMONIES

The official opening ceremonies took place on the baseball diamond shortly after noon Tuesday, with Mayor Dr. Freebury as master of ceremonies, introducing special guests, Mrs Edith Rogers, Mark Ferguson, Coun Petra Stauffer and Mr Gordey, MLA

Guest speaker for the occasion was Floyd Baker, former MLA for Clover Bar, who outlined the early history of the region. The presidents of the Community League, Bert Everitt, was then introduced and, after greeting everyone, he announced the winners of the parade competitions, and then declared the birthday party officially underway.

SPORTS

Tofield picked up three victories to win the baseball tournament, as they whipped Round Hill 12-4 in the opening game and then walloped Edmonton Westway Automotive 9-1 in the semi-finals.

In the finals, the Lions met Bardo, and when a very exciting game came to a finish, Tofield had come out on the right side of a 7-6 score. Bardo had gained a berth in the finals by stopping Camrose 4-1 in their only other start.

Edmonton had won their first game of the day, edging Ryley Rebels 8-6 in a game that took three extra innings before a winner was decided.

Tofield ladies emerged as the winners in the ladies' fastball tournament. They got a bye into Kingman in the finals, and then held off a determined bid by Kingman to win by two runs. Kingman had gained a berth in the finals by beating Tofield High School

ODDS AND ENDS

The handicraft display attracted a lot of attention and was well attended . . . Many copies of the "Tales of Tofield" were sold, but reports are that there is still some left . . . Gate prize winner was Jack Nolan, while Charlie Hallett won the 50 silver dollars. . . . Long line-ups continued for over an hour and a half for the barbecued beef dinner. . . . 67 persons received scrolls from Dr. Freebury. A complete list will be published next week.

THE UNEXPECTED

Everything was progressing nicely in the early afternoon when, without warning, a jet presumed to belong to the Canadian Forces passed above the Exhibition Grounds at a very low altitude. In all, the jet passed over six or seven times, with his first two estimated at only slightly over 100 feet. Many parents were quite angry, as babies were awakened and young children became frightened and could not easily be consoled. Each pass was made at a higher level, and then the jet disappeared and did not return.

This year's cars at less than last year's prices.
You already know where most prices are going. Up. So you'd naturally expect the brand-new '69 cars shown here to cost a lot more than last year. Fact is, many cars in this year's line-up from Chevrolet cost less, much less, than last year's models. For instance, the 2-door Impala, equipped with power disc brakes, Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, whitewalls, wheel covers and bumper guards, plus a bigger motor than last year, is yours for $120.50* less than last year's figure. And comparable savings are waiting for you on many Nova, Chevelle and Camaro models. In other words, you can buy many of this year's cars at less than last year's prices. New bride is honored at pre-nuptial shower

More than one hundred relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at Victory Hall, which was tastefully decorated by some of the ladies of the community, May 25, to honour Gail Lyons and Lorne Booth, whose wedding has since taken place.

On entering the hall, the bride-to-be was presented with a fresh corsage of white baby 'mums by Mrs. Jerry Pepper and Mrs Ted Jacobson.

Gail and Lorne were handed huge oven mitts to wear to greet their guests. A few games were played and a skit on married life presented

The gifts, presented by Mrs Harriet Busby, were drawn in by Wendy Lyons and Karen Munkvold in a cute little schoolhouse made for the occasion. Balloons filled with confetti were popped above the bride and groom-elect and attendants, who were seated at a table laid in white and decorated with a tiny parasol.

Both Gail and Lorne thanked everyone, and extended a welcome to visit them in their new home.

Blue Cross for FUA

Members of the Farmers' Union of Alberta have been granted permission to form Blue Cross Groups, according to Paul Bobey, FUA president.

Mr. Bobey said farm families would be able to save $3.50 a month or $42.00 a year by joining an FUA local and participating in the hospitalization plan as group rates. He also indicated they must file application forms by July 15 to obtain coverage effective July 1, 1969.

Farmers to get interest - free cash advance

Prairie grain farmers will be eligible for full interest-free cash advances in the new crop year even though outstanding advances have not been fully repaid, Industry and Commerce Minister Jean-Luc Pepin and Agriculture Minister H. A. (Bud) Olson said in Ottawa last Friday.

Speaking in the House of Commons, Mr. Pepin said that as an estimated $65-million will still be outstanding on July 31 and as deliveries will not be sufficient for many grain farmers to retire these advances, the Government has decided they will be eligible for the full advance when the new crop year opens August 1.

This will have the effect of providing western grain producers with advanced payments in respect of both their 1968 and 1969 crops based on a six-bushel quota. Thus those farmers whose delivery opportunities have been limited this year will be able to obtain an interest-free advance that will provide them with operating funds and their entitlement in the new crop year will not be impaired

Last November the government doubled the maximum advance available under the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act from $3,000 to $6,000.

Raise rates at Miquelon Lake

Camping fees at Miquelon Lake, along with 23 other provincial parks, increased from $1.00 to $1.50 yesterday, July 1. Last year Miquelon was third highest in attendance at all provincial parks.

Due to increased costs of operations and maintenance of camp grounds, access roads and beach facilities to the standards required by the rapidly growing number of visitors, the new fees are more in line with those charged in Saskatchewan and Manitoba campgrounds

Charges for water, sewer and electrical services, where these are available, will remain at 50 cents per day.

Besides Miquelon Lake, the new fees apply to the following provincial parks: Aspen Beach, Beaverdam Lake, Bow Valley, Crimson Lake, Cypress Hills, Dillberry Lake, Dinosaur, Gregoe Lake, Kimbrook Island, Little Bow, Long Lake, Monashee Lake, Park Lake, Pembina River, Red Lodge, Reches Sands, Saskatoon Island, The Vermilion, Thunder Lake, Wabamum Lake, Williamson, Winagami Lake and Writing-On-Stone.

Olsen—Van Ruskenveld are wed in Edmonton

Central Lutheran Church, Edmonton, provided the setting for a lovely wedding on Saturday, May 10, when Jacqueline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Van Ruskenveld of Westlock, became the bride of Constable Robert Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Olsen of Holden.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Reverend Osborne Olsen, uncle of the groom. Mrs. Osborne Olsen, at the organ, rendered the prelude and processional and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Al Anderson, in the singing of "My Love For Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride, radiant in a floor-length white satin gown and profusion of white lace held by matching frain, entered the church on the arm of her father.

Her shoulder-length veil was a dainty beaded crown. She carried a cascade of red roses.

At the altar she was attended by the matron of honour, Mrs. Barbara Nedzielski of Radium, B.C., and bridesmaids Miss Yvonne Van Ruskenveld of Otawa, Ontario, and Miss Bonnie Willis of Edmonton, all of whom were identical floor-length gowns of white sheer over satin. Hair bundeaus and bouquets of live yellow chrysanthemums accented their attire.

The groom was attended by the best man, Corporal Edwin Nedzielski of Radium, B.C., and groomsmen Constable Bill Sharp and Constable Lorne Zapolsky, both of Trail, B.C.

Ushers at the church we s Mr. Douglas Olsen and Mr. Gerald Van Ruskenveld

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Van Ruskenveld chose a two-piece gold suit with taupe accessories, while the groom's mother wore pale green with beige accessories. Their corsages were of tiny red roses.

Following the marriage, a reception for two hundred guests was held at the Sands Motor Hotel. Mr. Earl Hardy was master of ceremonies for the evening's events. Mr. Harold Giebelhaus proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Corporal Nedzielski proposed the toast to the bridesmaids.

After a short trip to the northern parts of Alberta, Constable and Mrs Olsen returned to Trail, B.C., where at present he is on detachment there.

Round Hill and Dodds hit by flash flooding

(Ruth Davick)

Some farmers in the Round Hill and Dodds areas were hit by a flash flood last Friday afternoon and evening which caused damage to fields, fences and livestock.

The rain came down in such force, it filled sloughs that had been seen with grain and had been empty for years, overflowing and running over the roads and ditches.

The storm lasted for four to five hours, pouring out eight inches of water. Some places there were five feet of water.

The electrical storm was terrific, knocking out posts and causing the electricity to be off for a number of hours.

One slough at Robert Andrews's joined Mrs. Bintz and George Campbell's and at one time in the early days was Lilies Anderson Lake. This slough was full and a lot of activity was on this slough on Saturday as two boats, one row boat and an outboard motor boat and water skiers were also on hand to take part in this "surprise" water.

Riff-raff from trees and broken fences, garbage, etc. was seen floating in the water.

Old-timers living in this district say this has never happened in their time that so much water came in that length of time.

County School Committee briefs

TUESDAY JUNE 10, 1969

Present were Crs. W. A. Deeks, A. L. Gibson, G. Kienke, W. Nimchuk, H. Reddick, C. W. Sears and B. Stack.

Also present were J. B. Aldous, C. J. Hurd and H. C. Wilkie representing Towns and Villages, Mr. N. Bowcock, Mr. William Bush and Mr. Keith Robson were also present.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a.m. by the chairman, Cr. Reddick.

Cr. Reddick commented on the salary negotiating meeting in May 30th. He said the County Committee was quite confident that a settlement could be reached shortly. The suggested settlement would be close to that of the County and Wheatland and the agreed year settlement of the Three Hills salary agreement.

School Act: The Secretary-Treasurer mentioned that the suggestions which he had made at the previous meeting with regard to amendments to the School Act had been dealt with according to a report which had been presented at the Banff conference. Mr. Bock said that he had suggestions and one issued one of the areas he felt should be in the new revised act. The present act does not allow for reorganizations of schools. Mr. Bock felt that this should be changed so that the school jurisdictions should be allowed to get together to form regional high schools and that they should be included to arrange for their own curriculum to a point. The curriculum should reflect the regional requirements of the area concerned. Also Mr. Bock felt that the electorate should not be held under the School Act but should be left to the Municipal Elections Act.

Moved and carried that the School Committee support the suggestions of Mr. Bock for the School Act.

Statement of needs re Vilna and Tofield Schools: Moved and carried that Mr. Bock be authorized to prepare a statement of needs re the two schools mentioned above.

Moved and carried that the Secretary-Treasurer write to the Viking School Board requesting the appointment of a representative to the Joint Planning Committee

Beaver Council meets

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9, held Thursday, June 12.

The meeting was called to order at 9.30 a.m. by the Reeve, Cr. Roddick.

Present were Crs. W. A. Darin, A. L. Gibson, W. D. Johnston, G. Kmidelsich, W. Kropielnicki, J. H. Roddick and C. W. Sears.

The Secretary-treasurer advised that he had received the approval of the County of Flagstaff No. 29 to the suggested agreements which had been presented in regard to Rural Fire Protection.

It was moved and carried that Cr. Johnston be a Committee to contact Mr. Lies to outline the boundaries of the Fire Districts in the east part of the County.

There was some discussion on the gravelling which was being done in the County.

Mr. Heiberg attended the meeting at this time in connection with hauling the gravel from Mr Hanson's crusher. The trucks were hauling gravel from the belt instead of the stockpile. The County Council consider that the amount of gravel hauled off the belt should be included in the 30,000 yards which Mr Hanson had agreed to crush. It was left to Mr Heiberg to arrange the details of the haul and the hiring of the trucks.

The Secretary-Treasurer read a letter from Mr. Eric Lefcourt in regard to gravel lease on the Arbuthell Estate. The letter indicated that approval would be given to our leasing the N.W. 11-47-11-W4th for gravel at the agreed rate of $100.00 per year plus 10c per cubic yard of gravel removed. It was suggested that the payment for gravel would have to be taken from the gravel haul records.

Moved and carried that we enter into an agreement with the Arbuthell Estate in regard to the gravel lease.

In regard to Local Authorities Pensions, it was decided by the Council to leave this for the Secretary-Treasurer to contact employees to see how many would be interested in coming under the Local Authorities Pension.

In regard to the pumps and tanks for diesel fuel, it was moved and carried that we install 6 pumps and tanks for the storage and dispensing of diesel fuel and that the pumps be Model 480 Tokheim pumps at $445.00 per pump.

The Secretary-Treasurer read a letter from the Provincial Planning Director advising that there had been much interest in a North Saskatchewan Regional Planning Commission to organize one at the present time.

A letter was read from Allied Chemical Canada Ltd. outlining the cost of putting liquid Calcium Chloride on the roads in the County Mr. Robertson of Allied Chemicals attended at this time and discussed the problem at Viking in regard to the Calcium Chloride treatment. He advised that it would be necessary to add some binding material to the road before it would be a proper job. However, Cr. Roddick advised that he was not prepared at this time to add to the cost without being quite certain that it would be satisfactory. However, he said that he would be prepared to do the work on the road and pay half of the cost of a load of calcium chloride to see if this would work. Mr. Robertson agreed that they would accept this as satisfactory and they would supply the other half of the cost of the load.

A letter from the Water Resources Division approving the completion of the Kropielnicki Flood Control and the Amish Creek Flood Control Projects for the total cost of $6,000.00 with a grant of $4,500, was read.

Mr and Mrs. Allan Neuman attended the meeting at this time in regard to an application under the Alberta Farm Purchase Credit Act to purchase the N½ of 8-49-17-W4th.

Moved and carried that the County Council recommend the approval of this application.

It was moved and carried that the correspondence from the Department of Highways, advising that the grant for the Natural Resources Road for $10,000.00 and the Special Quotingstney Road for $50,000.00, had been approved.

The Secretary-Treasurer read a letter from the Bruce Stampede Association requesting the County Council pass a By-Law allowing certain things to be done on Sunday.

By-Law No. 391. This By-Law is by-law to allow certain exceptions of certain things to be done on a Sunday which otherwise had been exempt under the Lord's Day Act (Canada).

Moved and carried that this letter be received, and that the matter of grant be brought up when the grants for 1969 are discussed.

A letter from the Department of Highways indicating that certain roads which had previously been leased by them were now under the jurisdiction of the County One of the roads was leased to Mr. Paul Kallal and the other leased to Mr. Collin Short Moved and carried that the road joining the east boundary of the N.E. of Section 7-51-26-W4th, which lies to the north of the production across it to the north easterly boundary of the roadway, as shown on plan 607-MD, be leased to Mr. Paul Kallal for the sum of $1.20 for the period June 12, 1969, to June 12, 1979.

IN MEMORIAM

WOOD—In loving memory of our brother, Glenn:

One year has passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was taken away;
To hear Glenn's voice and see his smile,
To sit with him and talk awhile;
To be together in the same old way
Would be our greatest wish today.

FROM THE SCRAP BOOK
Some people are like wheelbarrows — they don't go anywhere unless pushed. Some are like canoes they need to be paddled. Some are like kitchens — more contended when fitted. Some are like kites — keep a string on them or they fly away. Others resemble footballs — no way to tell which way they'll bounce next. Then there are the balloons full of air ready to blow up. Some are like neon lights they flash on and off. Then there are those few who are like good watches — open faced, pure gold, quartz body, and full of good works.

S. of S.E. 5-51-16-W4th — John Shimbir.

Moved and carried that Mr. Peter E. Gardecki be appointed Weed Inspector from the 1st of July, 1969, for a term of three months.

A letter from the Town of Tofield requesting the approval of the County Council for the annexation by the Town of Tofield for certain property along the highway was read.

Moved and carried that the County Council does not oppose the annexation by the Town of Tofield of Block A and Block B Plan 8AN in the N.E. corner of the N.W. 25-50-19W4th by the Town of Tofield.

Gerald Allcot said that he could purchase a dozer for the Champion at Tofield for $275.00. There was some question as to the value of dozer blades on graders; some of the Councillors felt that they were too hard on the machine; that they were used for work that was not designed for motor graders. However, it was left to Cr. Sears and Gerald Allcot to check this out and see if it was necessary to buy a dozer for the Champion at Tofield.

It was moved and carried that a tour of the roads in the County be held July 2 and 3 beginning at the County Office in Ryley at 9:30 a.m. on July 2.

Mr. Harold Westherill and Mr. John Dunn of the Blackfoot Grazing Association attended the meeting at this time in connection with the grazing assessment of the Cooking Lake Forest Reserve in 1970. They consider that the cost would increase to the point where it would not be possible for them to keep cattle in this reserve. Cr. Roddick advised that the County has very little information on how much the actual cost would be for taxes in this reserve, and that when we have the information we will advise Blackfoot Association of the amount that would be required.

Mr. Mahoney of the Saskatoon Fire Engine Co. Ltd. attended in connection with the sirens at Bruce and Kinsella. It was considered that the cost of sirens at these places it would be entirely too costly, and Mr. MacDonald Allcot advised that they have available air horns which would serve the purpose. These had been checked out by Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Neil Reid, together with the Fire Chiefs of the Hamlets, and it was considered that a cluster of 3 of these horns would be adequate. The cost would be $229.60 per cluster of 3, including the solenoid to activate them.

Moved and carried that we order 2 of these air horns for the sum of $229.60 each, one for Bruce and one for Kinsella.

As there was no further business, it was moved and carried that the meeting adjourn at 6:18 p.m.

Tofield goes to finals after defeating Viking

Tofield Lions have gained a berth in the Powerline Baseball League finals while Ryley and Bardo will decide this evening who their opponents will be.

Last Thursday evening in Tofield, the Lions whipped the Viking Shamrocks 10-2 as Ed Williams tossed a mean five-hitter to give the Lions the series lead. Then on Tuesday in Viking, the Lions made it two straight and gained a berth in the finals as they dumped the Shamrocks 8-5. Doug Everitt started for Tofield getting relief help from Floyd Taylor to sew up the victory.

In Bardo last Thursday evening, the first game in the finals will be played on Tuesday evening with the second game scheduled for Wednesday. Sites of the games in the finals cannot be announced until after this evening's game as the top finishing team in the regular schedule will have the first and third game on their diamond.

The finals will be a best of three series.

Following the completion of the playoffs, the team winning the championship will play an all-star team composed of players from the other four teams in the league.

Beaverlodge 4-Her's visit Beaver County

Last year members from the various 4-H clubs in the County of Beaver paid a visit to the Beaverlodge area and were entertained royally.

This year, the Beaverlodge clubs were invited to return the visit.

Thirty-three members, together with three leaders arrived at Charlie's Service Station, Tofield, in the evening on July 13th. From there they were billeted in various homes throughout the county.

On Wednesday, July 16th, at 1 p.m., the hosts took their guests to the Al Oeming Game Farm and then at 6 p.m. everyone gathered at the Bardo Recreation Centre for a social evening.

This morning at 10 a.m. a tour of the government experimental farm at Kinsella was planned. In the afternoon, a tour of the Battle Lake farm in the Viking area was made. The day will close with a banquet to honor the guests in Viking.

The 4-H members will be returning to their homes Friday morning.

Lakeshore oldtimer passes on May 24th

Mr. John Holliday Johnston left England in March, 1904, at the age of 20 years for North America. He landed in Boston, Mass., from there to Winnipeg, Man., via Montreal; from Winnipeg he traveled south to Orchard, Nebraska, where he made his home with relatives.

He left Orchard in 1907 en route to Los Angeles and San Francisco where he worked for two years as a conductor on the cable cars. He returned to Orchard in 1909 and did carpentry work in the surrounding towns.

It was during this time he met and married Miss Sarah Jonasen in 1913. They left for Edmonton the same year. After looking the country over, they decided to make their home in the Tofield district. Mr. Johnston worked as a carpenter for a couple of years while residing in Tofield, then purchased a farm nine miles northwest of Tofield where he still resided at the time of his death on May 31st, 1969, at the age of 84 years.

For a few years after the war of 1914-18, he lived in what was known as Blackfoot Forest Reserve, here he ran a herd of of cattle; then in 1923-24 lived on a farm east of Goose Lake on the north side of the reserve, returning to his farm north of Tofield where he continued to live and farm, and also do carpentry work around the neighborhood.

Mr. Johnston is survived by two daughters, Beulah (Mrs. Jim Gerunnell, and Lila (Mrs. Art Rodway), and a foster son, Wm. Sovchuk, all of Edmonton; also seven grandchildren and four great - grandchildren; also one sister-in-law in England.

Funeral services were on Saturday, May 24th, at the Park Memorial Chapel in Edmonton, with interment in the Glenwood Memorial Gardens at Sherwood Park.

Walls rising at Holden hall

The addition to the Holden and District Community Hall has been progressing most favorably because the response from the citizens and various organizations of the community has been very gratifying both in financial contributions and in donation of voluntary labor.

The foundation has now been completed and the blocking of the walls is presently progressing very rapidly under the capable hands of the bricklayer, Glen Olson of Calgary, and the woodwork is under the direction of our noted carpenter, John Lashuk.

The volunteer labor will be required until the addition is completed.

Beaverhills versus Cook'g Lake

Beaverhills Light Horse Association have challenged the Cooking Lake Horse Association to a gymkhana on Sunday, July 20th, at the east end Reserve corrals north of the John Wood farm.

Everybody is welcome to watch this show at no charge. Starting time is 2 p.m. Norm Oswald, teaming up with Jack Gray, will compete against Dave Watt and Harold Blakey, in a cowhide race. This is a return match.

MacDuff Ottawa Report

Scene spoilers

OTTAWA — According to the rumours laid down last winter, Quebec should now be embarking on a period of political stability. Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand was going to sweep to victory at the Union Nationale leadership convention in June, and he would end the political vacuum that has plagued Quebec for more than a year.

It has not worked out that way —not so far, at least. If there is going to be any stability, it may have to wait until a general election gives someone a mandate on land the province.

CONFUSION CONTINUES

Mr. Bertrand has not got that mandate, although he is the Premier, and the results are in evidence everywhere. In the violence of the construction strikers, for example, who saw vandalism and assault as the shortest steps to a just society for themselves. And in the political headhunting in both the Union Nationale and provincial Liberal party.

Liberal leader Jean Lesage is all likely face a secret ballot on his leadership when the party holds its convention in Quebec City in the fall. He faces a serious challenge from Claude Wagner, the former Justice Minister whose reputation as a crime-buster has made him one of the most popular figures in Quebec.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT

The Premier's problems are with Jean-Guy Cardinal, the provincial Education Minister who gave him a real run for his money in the leadership race.

When the ballots were counted, Mr. Cardinal had 42 per cent of the votes. It was a remarkable triumph, considering Mr. Bertrand was the acting leader with most of the party machine behind him. Premier of the Province and the favorite to win.

It was too remarkable for either man to ignore. Mr. Bertrand held back from firing Cultural Affairs Minister Jean-Noel Tremblay, a Cardinal supporter and near separatist who charged Mr. Bertrand's organization with Mafia tactics. Mr. Cardinal, for his part, has been talking as though the leadership campaign is still on.

Addressing the delegates after the convention results were announced, Mr. Cardinal served notice that he would continue to press the ideas he had expressed in the campaign. He has been as good as his word, repeating his opposition to separatists to join the Party despite Mr. Bertrand's declaration that they should stay out.

STORMY WATERS

The other key planks of the Cardinal platform were a policy of confrontation with Ottawa, and stronger assertion of the participation of the civil servants which some old partisans apparently took as a promise of renewed patronage.

Action Cardinal committees have sprung up — without his knowledge, he says, but he has encouraged them. He is planning a tour of all 108 counties.

So Mr. Bertrand is under siege on all sides. On the nationalist front are Mr. Cardinal and the separatists. On the federalist side are the Liberals, whether under Mr. Lesage or Mr. Wagner. On the right are Mr. Cardinal and part of the separatist movement and the Wagner Liberals. On the left are some other Liberals and Rene Levesque's separatist Parti Quebecois.

If he is to win the election and that is the only way of ending the turmoil in Quebec, Mr. Bertrand must first seize control of his own party and eliminate the challenge from within.

NEW BATTLEFIELD

The key may be the caucus of Union Nationale members of the legislature July 17 when the position of a fall election will be discussed. The caucus is where Mr. Bertrand is strongest, in the leadership race, about 65 of the members supported the Premier, compared with six in Mr. Cardinal's camp.

If Mr. Bertrand told a recent press conference that he opposes the fall election because of the chaos and uncertainty that would ensue, the political unrest when added to the aftermath of the leadership convention — what he called a period of "political convalescence" — might be enough to give him a general election mandate based on his record as Premier.

Nominations wanted

It comes as a surprise to realize that nominations for the Junior Citizen Awards close at the end of this month and that, to date, this area has not forwarded one nomination. With the many fine young people who reside in this area, it is unthinkable that none should be entered in this annual competition. In this day, when so many of the world's youth are constantly in trouble this region is blessed to have young people who care enough to work in many ways to forget some of the obstacles that life has placed in the parts of others.

It is not necessary to have been involved in some sort of life-saving venture or to have prevented a major bank robbery for someone to deserve to be nominated. In some cases, nominees have held their families together after the death of one, or both, of their parents. If you know of some youngster who has, in your opinion, contributed something outstanding to family or community life, then send in a nomination

This program is offered each year by Calgary Power and, this year, two of Alberta's leading citizens will meet the winners, as Lieut.-Governor Grant MacEwan will be presenting the awards and Premier Harry Strom will be taking all the winners on a tour of the Legislative Building, after the awards dinner in Edmonton. It is still not too late, but have your nomination in before the end of this month.

Still smiling

Farmers all over the country are said to be on the short-tempered side these days, following the collapse of the wheat market But, at least one farmer has retained his sense of humor, for, after reading a car-for-sale ad, in which nearly everything was listed as an accessory, he placed the following ad in a paper to sell one of his cows: For Sale — One Holstein Cow, base price $100 Accessories: Udder, $75; two-tone in colour, $50; four split-hooves, $10 each; extra stomach, $35; dual horns, $5 each Total price, $310.

So, inspite of the misfortune that prevails, he was still able to smile, or, maybe he was crazy!

Letters wanted

Once again we would like to bring to the attention of our readers, the column entitled 'From the Mailbag' which appears on this page. This week, a letter from a reader who visited Tofield's birthday celebration is printed If you have an opinion to express, whether it be local, regional, provincial, national or concerning the world in general, send it along. If it does not contain statements of libel or slander, it will be printed. If you do not wish your name printed, then an alias can be used, although the letter itself must be signed

Don't just think your opinions write them and let others know Your opinion is important not only to you, but to others

You can't win

Just before the Edmonton Klondike Days Express started off from Calgary, a postal official made national headlines by declaring the whole operation is illegal since the Post Office is the only legal transporter of the mail in Canada Threats of prosecution were aired, but some saner head seems to have prevailed, pointing out that nothing but bad publicity could come out of the publicity an arrest would have caused

Legality aside, the whole thing is just a publicity stunt anyway, and the letters carried contained such genuine important messages from one official to another as the naming a good time

Wish you were here type

The only thing the Post Office might have to fear is the start of another big race for mail. Anyone just might think of the regular service were some kind of a joke.

Who knows, perhaps we can organize an illegal mail people.

County School Committee briefs

MINUTES OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE COUNTY OF BEAVER NO. 9 SCHOOL COMMITTEE, YUKS., JULY 8

Present were Cra W. A. Dorin, A. L. Gibson, W. D. Johnston, G. Knudsen, W. Krupnicki, J. H. Reddick and C. W. Sears. Also present: C. J. Noel and H. C. Wilkie, representing the Town and Villages of Viking, Sunnisk and Keith Robson were also present.

The meeting was called to order at 10:20 a.m. by the Chairman, Cr. Reddick.

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had received a letter from Jubilee Insurance Agencies in reply to his request regarding allowing children to walk home from busses. The letter indicated that our liability covers in case the County were found liable due to negligence and that our student accident policy covers from home to school. However, the letter indicates that the consent of the parents should be obtained before children are allowed to walk instead of riding the bus to their home. Moved that information contained in the letter be passed onto the school principals carried.

Correspondence from the School Buildings Board advising that our request for reimbursement to the Holden School and to the Ryley School had been refused by the School Buildings Board as there did not seem to be an definite need at the present time. A motion that this correspondence be received and filed, carried.

A letter from the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation was read advising that it would be necessary in future By-Laws to adjust the interest rate upwards the present interest rate has risen to 8% and future by-laws should probably be the amount of 9%. A motion that the correspondence be received and filed, carried.

In regard to the driver training car, the Secretary-Treasurer advised that arrangements had been made with Beaver Motors to supply a car for the 1968-70 program at Holden. It was moved and carried that this information be filed.

A letter from the Alberta School Trustees' Association that instead of there being displays of school furniture, fixtures and supplies at the School Trustees' Convention this fall, it was proposed that a trade show would be held at the Jubilee Auditorium on Nov. 6, 7 and 8, 1969. A motion that this correspondence be received and filed and that it be referred to the School Committee at a later meeting, carried.

A letter from Daniel Giebelhaus requesting permission to have his children attend the Vermilie Schools as he retired in the Committee. Moved that this be approved for the 1969-70 school year but that it would be subject to renewal before the 1970-71 term. Carried.

A letter from the University of Alberta advising that the History 360 course that was suggested to be offered in Viking next winter as an evening credit course had to be cancelled due to the lack of an instructor. In its place it was proposed to offer Economics 305; however, Thursday evening was not a suitable time and it was suggested that this course would be held on Saturday mornings from 9 to 12 noon. The letter indicated that they wished to obtain the approval of the School Committee for the use of the classroom facilities for that time. Moved and carried, that the School Committee advise the U. of A that classroom facilities in the Viking School would be made available to them for the 12 noon on Saturday mornings for the conduct of the Economics 305 course.

Cr. Reddick advised that he had received a report from Mr. Karl Sieberg, Vice-Principal of the Viking School, in regard to the art education films which have been put on in the school. It appeared from the report that these films were very well received by the pupils and that Mr. Kindley felt the course should be continued

Tofield, Holden and Ryley have something in common.

Each community will be celebrating a civic holiday on the same date. Monday, August 4th, has been declared a civic holiday in all three communities.

Speed limit reduced on rural roads

An amendment to the Highway Traffic Act passed by the Legislature at the last session makes the speed limit in future on all roads in Alberta outside of urban areas, excepting primary or numbered highways, 30 miles per hour unless a sign indicating a higher rate of speed is posted. The speed limit on these rural roads is now 10 miles per hour less than previous, when the speed limit was 60 miles per hour.

On primary highways, except where a greater or lower rate of speed is posted by signs along a highway, the speed limit remains at 60 miles per hour during the daytime and 50 miles per hour during nighttime.

Rain ends Gymkhana

Dave Watt and Harold Blakey were the big winners on Sunday as they won the Cowhide Race defeating Norm Osland and Jack Gray.

The event was part of a gymkhana at the Reserve Corrals north of the John Wood farm between teams from Beaverhills Light Horse Association and the Cooking Lake Horse Association.

A good crowd showed up for the competition, but unfortunately Mother Nature reserved as the only real winner as rain cancelled most of the novelty events.

Another competition will be held in August, with the date to be announced later. One of the highlights of the season for the Beaverhills Light Horse Association will be a trail ride in September

The covered wagon and many horses and riders will be in the Bruce Stampede parade on Sunday, July 27th.

The bingo will be held in the Curling Rink on Friday, August

Tofield Lions lead Powerline's finals

Tofield Lions have taken a one-game lead in the Powerline Baseball playoff finals with Bardo and could wrap up the league championship at the game in Tofield this evening.

The Lions topped Bardo 5-1 in Bardo on Tuesday evening with Ed Williams going all the way for the victory as he racked up 13 strikeouts. Bob Foshaug toiled for Bardo and was tagged with the loss.

Ted White paced the Lions' attack as he belted a home run while Ron Foshaug picked up Bardo's sole run when he belted a Williams pitch over the right centre field fence. In addition, Ron Foshaug played in the short-stop position, was the defensive star of the game

Should Bardo win tonight's game in Tofield, the third and deciding game of the series will be played in Bardo on Tuesday

Following completion of the playoff, the league will hold a meeting to decide on a date for the annual game between the league champions and an all-star team selected from other teams in the league

Bardo advanced to the finals by tripping Ryley on Thursday by a score of 6-4. The game was played in Bardo

Ron Foshaug went all the way on the mound for Bardo to get credit for the victory while Robert Foshaug, coming on in relief in the fourth inning when brother Blaine was hit by a batted ball, was charged with the loss.

Bardo won the series two games to one after winning the first game 9-3 and losing the second contest by a 14-4 score.

L. E. Haave family holds a big re-union

Several families from the Ryby - Edmonton area attended the first re-union of the L. E. Haave family from Weldon, Sask., held at the Johnston Canyon Bungalow Camp, 14 miles west of Banff on July 1st to 4th, 1969.

Mrs. Ole Haave, nee Hilda Folstad, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pringle, nee Louise Haave, came from Weldon, Sask. Mr. and Mrs. Einar Haave, nee Martha Nodland, attended from Regina, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs Carl Haave, nee Ella Jacobson, from Surrey, B.C.; Pastor and Mrs. John Prescht, nee Alfhild Haave, from Ryley; Pastor and Mrs. Josef Haave, nee Selma Aune, from White Rock, B.C., Pastor and Mrs. Erik Haave, nee Dakmar Evaines, from Chaplin. Also the grandchildren attending were Anna Mae Haave from Chaplin, Sask.; Trudi Krock represented the Glen Krok family of Brooks, Alta. She is the granddaughter of Martha (deceased), the eldest of the Haave children; Mr. and Mrs. Jack White, nee Jean Pringle, from Wetaskiwin, and son Bruce, along with Jack's father, Ernest White, visiting them from Melbourne, Australia, Mr. and Mrs Daniel Prescht, nee Diane Jensen, of Edmonton; the four Carl Haave children and 14 grandchildren were all present; likein, Mrs. Wm Hall and Dr. Dahl from Surrey, B.C., with children, Valerie, Stephen, Wendi Jr., and two-year-old Karen Marie; Lawrence Haave and his wife, Jessie, nee Moi, and children, Neil, Ian and Sara, from Delta, B.C.; Pastor Marvin Haave and his wife, Rona, nee Mostad, and children, Duane, Sharon and Janice, from Wilsipeg, Man.; Mrs Gunnull Myrhe, nee Jamila, and children, Carlin, Melanie, and Kevin flew in directly from Cambridge, England.

Dr. and Mrs Dahl will, with the children, return in August to Pakistan (West) to his post as Medical Missionary.

A very special relative was Gudrun Jernigaard from Washougal, Wash., a cousin of the Haaves who had never been to the Canadian Prairies and who represented the Grandma Haave's brother's family in Washington and Oregon. None of the Haave cousins from Trondheim, Norway, were able to attend the re-union but they sent warmest greetings to all.

Special events of the re-union were highlighted by the baptism of the Dahl baby by her uncle, Marvin, at a brief service on the morning of July 2nd. Sunday, all 43 persons had the noon meal together in a sunny outdoor setting amongst the pines

Each morning and evening the relatives had the use of the spacious and convenient Leisure Room of the camp. Displays of family relics and pictures, and handicrafts were explained and talked over.

Three charts of the family have been designed and duplicated for each family member. One is a circle chart with L. E. Haave and Mrs. Haave in the inner circle, the second circle with their children and spouses, the third circle with grandchildren and spouses, the fourth circle with great - grandchildren, and one spouse there also. Another chart goes backward from Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Haave 14 generations to the 15th and 16th centuries. Another chart takes one of these lines and gives the lineage from Jacob Haave from Gausdal, Norway, Iceland, back by way of the Danube to the Aegean and Mediterranean islands, to Palestine and Genesis 10 and 11. The original of this chart back to Jacob was 13 feet long but with a Xerox duplicating system it was reprinted and condensed very clearly to six feet long.

The final evening was in the form of a concert with piano solos by Mrs. Das Prescht and Miss Anna Mae Haave. Mrs. Trudi Krock played for the singing of a hymn. Pastor Prescht spoke on some national history and closed with a devotional message and prayer. Pastor and Mrs. Erik Haave sang a duet and the program ended with two Norwegian songs, a trio by Alfhild, Erik and Josef, and a choir number by Louise Pringle, Einar, Josef and Erik.

Lorata Erlaen Haave was born at Sjordalen, east of Trondheim, Norway, in 1885 and came to the U.S.A. in 1898. Mrs. Haave, Marianna Oldedaler Jentegaard was born in Vibegat, Tresfjord, Romsdalen, Norway, in 1888 and came to the U.S.A. in 1898. They were married in Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Portland, Oregon, on May 18th, 1905. In 1909 the family moved to a homestead in the Cascade Mountains in southern Washington at Trout Lake. In 1912 all ten moved to Weldon, Saskatchewan, to Weldon View Farm, one-half mile north of town. The parents died in 1938 and 1939

Following are the minutes in part of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9 held Thursday, July 10, 1969.

Present were, Crs. W. A. Davis, A. L. Gibson, W. D. Johnston, G. Kandalien, W. Krogiel, Nicki, J. H. Reddick and C. W. Searle.

The meeting was called to order at 10:00 a.m. by the Reeve, Cr. Reddick.

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had contacted the Secretary of the County of Flagstaff Mr. Robertson, in regard to the Rural Fire Reciprocal Agreements. Mr. Robertson had suggested that Mr. Johnston and Mr. Lien outline on maps that could be attached to the agreements the area to be covered by each fire unit. Cr. Johnston advised that he would make arrangements to meet with Mr. Lien shortly.

A copy of a lease in regard to the Ackinstall gravel pit was read to the County Council.

It was moved and carried that the lease as presented by Leibrand, Cunningham, Patrick and Reddick be approved and they be advised that the County will sign the agreement as presented.

The report on the road tour which had been held on July 8th and 9rd was presented. The Secretary-Treasurer was advised to request the Town of Tofield to have old cars removed from on the County lots and in the alley behind the grader shed at Tofield.

There was some discussion on road that had to be put through between sections 12 and 23 in 46-13-W4th. Apparently this road has not been used but the County wishes to open it up. Some of the fence along this right-of-way would have to be moved.

It was moved and carried that we pay $75.00 per half mile for removal of the fence and the right to backslope between sections 14 and 23 in 46-13-4.

In regard to the request for work along the fence line on the N½ 11-47-11-W4th, the estate of Robert F. Achtstall, by their legal representative, Mr. Leibrand, was presented to the Council. Cr. Johnston advised that this work was now completed and that the fence line was in the condition that was requested.

A letter from the Provincial Planning Director in regard to the subdivision of the S.W. 15-51-20-W4th was presented to the Council. This request had been before the Council at a previous meeting and had been approved However, at this time the subdivision was in 10 acre plots However, this apparently had been turned down by some other authority and the request now was for the subdivision to be divided into 20 acre plots. It was moved and carried that the Council approves the subdivision of the S.W. 15-51-20-W4th into 20 acre plots.

There was some discussion on railway crossings in the County Cr. Kandalien advised that on the line from Ryley to Camrose where it goes through the County it has over the crossings are in very poor repair and that they are also too narrow. Also Cr. Sears advised that the railway crossing sign on the S.E. 9-51-19-W4th was not on the usual allowance and should be moved.

It was moved and carried that we request the CNR to replank the crossings on the line from Ryley to Camrose, as far south as South of 5-46-18-W4th and that the sign on the east side of the S.E. 9-51-19-W4th north of the railway crossing be moved.

By-law No. 291 which has to do with the exemptions to the Lord's Day Act was presented to the Council at this time for 3rd reading As there were no petitions in opposition to this By-law third reading was moved and carried, six for and one opposed.

In response to a request to the Canadian Underwriters Association in regard to the possible reduction of fire insurance rates in the County now that we have rural fire protection was read to the Council. This letter indicates that the only places available for a reduction would be in the Hamlets where the actual fire equipment is stationed. There is no reduction if fire is outside of these towns or hamlets as the Underwriters consider that by the time a fire engine got to a fire it would be a matter of first aid protection as the distances, road conditions and lack of water supply would not make any significant difference in fire protection. Moved that this letter be filed. Carried.

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had contacted Mr. Doucet of Ha Harries and Associates Ltd. with regard to the assessment on the Blandford Grazing Reserve Mr. Doucet had indicated that the rates for assessment purposes on this type of property had been revised by the Provincial Government and it was his intention to reassess this property this coming fall. He indicated that the taxes on this property could be quite a bit less than at present. He also commented that the assessment which seems to be taking place in the County, particularly in the Lindbrook area, should be an orderly type of development and that there appears to be a certain amount of encroachment in the [illegible] subdivisions allowed in a part

some of the things which must be taken into account are roads and school bus routes. The Council decided that on good agricultural land each application should be dealt with on its own merit. It could be that the only parcel that would be taken out of the quarter would be a building site. In regard to the subdivision of marginal land, it was decided by the County Council to allow four 40-acre parcels and that we try to keep subdivisions concentrated in an area so that it cannot become a school bus problem

Mr. Sipes left a copy of a sample by-law which he wanted the Council to study in regard to development of subdivisions.

There was home discussion on the idea that we require the developer to provide an access road into the subdivided property . . this is not always easy for the developer to do and in order to facilitate the registration of subdivision it was decided that possibly the County could provide the access and receive payment from the developer.

Moved that when a subdivision is approved by the County Council that we request either an approach to the subdivision be built in a approved [illegible] payment of $100 per approach and the County would install them as it was convenient Carried.

A request to subdivide the N.W. 23-50-20-W4th into eight 20-acre parcels was presented to the Council. It was noted that each parcel was 230 feet wide and ½ mile long It was moved and carried that we approve the subdivision of the N.W. 23-50-20-W4th into four 40-acre parcels and that access to each parcel be provided by the developer or a deposit of $100 per approach be paid to the County and they would provide access as convenient to do so.

A request to subdivide the S.E. 30-50-20-W4th into eight 20-acre parcels was presented to Council. It was noted that each parcel was 230 feet wide and ½ mile long and fronted on the north and south road on the west side of this quarter. Moved that this application be approved for four 40-acre parcels and that access to each parcel be provided by the developer or a deposit of $100 per approach be paid to the County and they would provide access as convenient to do so. Carried.

An application to subdivide the N.W. 21-50-20-W4th into two 80-acre parcels running north and south was presented to the County Council. It was moved and carried that this application be approved and that access to each parcel be provided by the developer or a deposit of $100 per approach be paid to the County and they would provide access to it as convenient to do so.

An application for an extension to an electrical line by the Kingsman R.E.A. Ltd. was presented. Moved that this request be approved. Carried.

The requisition from the Vegreville Health Unit No. 15 was presented. The requisition was in the amount of $10,976.30. It was moved that the requisition be received and paid. Carried.

The Secretary-Treasurer presented a copy of an agreement which it was proposed to have approved by the members involved in the Beaver Emergencies Measures Organization. The agreement indicated the responsibilities in regard to moving equipment from one jurisdiction to another. It was moved and carried that the County of Beaver approve the E. M. Agreement

Cr Krogelnicki advised that the road which is going to be built under the Contingency Grant Appropriation has had quite a bit of gravel on it in areas and he did not like to see this gravel covered up. Some of the people in the area propose that if the Councillor would have the gravel windrowed in the centre of the road that they would haul some of it to the Horseshoe Hall parking lot The County Council agreed that this would be acceptable to the County on one mile only and that if there is large amount of this type of gravel it can be picked up with one of our graders and spread on another road.

There was no further business, it was moved that the meeting adjourn at 5.00 p.m. Carried.

From the mail bag

Dear Sir

The attached is a letter copy of a card that will be going out to all Hog Producers over the next three weeks.

It will be enclosed in the payment slips for all hogs delivered for slaughter.

You may want to use the information on your agricultural news.

Its purpose is, as stated, to outline to producers our intentions as a Producers Hog Marketing Board.

The intentions of the Marketing Board will be —

Starting November 1, 1969, to sell all hogs offered from the various accumulating stations now operating in Alberta and hogs offered direct by producers to be purchased by buyers located in Edmonton, Calgary and Red Deer as well as prospective buyers in other centres in Canada.

It is not the intention of the Marketing Board to interfere with present gathering or shipping facilities but later some may be requested to up-date their facilities to conform with Government Regulations that are already in effect.

The Marketing Board will not be setting rates charged by gatherers or by truckers as this portion of the marketing cost will be between the producer and the gatherer or trucker. It is a Hog Producers Marketing Board and has no authority to regulate accumulating or shipping procedures or costs.

Accumulators and producers will be able to offer hogs either FOB gathering points or FOB farm if numbers are sufficient or to offer delivered to any central buying point they wish to deliver to.

Tofield, Alta.

Dear Sir:

Just to add a little for Tofield's birthday celebration.

We, as home folks are so happy to have had so many visits of friends who once lived among us and are now in other parts of the land, come back to see us on our anniversary day. Some from the U.S.A., Ontario, B.C. and other provinces. Many expressed how wonderful it was to come back to Tofield. They had been received with the heartiest welcome and treated just grand. Please extend our thanks to all others they visited with. It was a real get-together in all events, the combined church services to start with, and the home coming tea was so much appreciated The wind up of the Dominion Day full of activity was great with the beginning of a very fine parade. Only one complaint, "no pavement yet" guess they didn't appreciate the dust "oh"!, oh well, the next sixty years we may have it.

A grand celebration it was, the weather co-operated most beautifully all three days, so all I can say is come again, all you good people. We will still be here to welcome you another time and I want to thank you all for coming to make it such a memorable occasion There is nothing perfect so we may even be able to improve some.

We love your friendship and hope to keep it so,

Mrs. Petra Stauffer.

Tofield

Just a little experience dirt-ification

Coming home from Cathcart July 4th in a heavy rain, little did I know we would hit a flood. Before we got out of the Lone Hill it was just like driving through a lake. Water was flowing across the road in sheets. Then we came to the Cross Creek bridge. All of a sudden I felt those familiar bumps of the front tires

NEEDED RAIN FALLS

Quite a crowd attended the gymkhana at East Side Reserve Corrals on Sunday afternoon, with several events being run off before a storm hit the area, leaving two inches of rain, which was welcomed by the the farmers. This was the first good rain for some in the district, but the second for those in a small strip across the south end of Twp. 52, which had rain and some hail on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week. Although the hail did some damage the almost two inches of moisture was evenly spread as pastures and crops in this district had been suffering.

Mrs. Ellen Eaton and her grandaughter Sherry Niemetz of Edmonton, Ontario, and Lael and Evelyn Foshaug of Hardisty district were Sunday guests at the home of Sherry's uncle George and Ida Niemetz.

On Wednesday of last week, Mrs. Jim (Lavene) Francis and daughter Pat of Viking, were guests at the home of Lavene's parents, John and Mary Wood. Pat stayed over until Monday of this week. When Jim and Lorene Francis and son Lee came visiting, she went home with them.

Mrs. Ellen Eaton and granddaughter Sherry Niemetz accompanied George and Ida Niemetz to Edmonton on Sunday afternoon, where Sherry remained with her friend Debbie Volney, daughter of Jean and Tony Volney. George Ida and Ellen were supper guests at the home of George and Ida's daughter Gail and Bar Ozubko, before returning home.

Brenda Eaton of Seba Beach, and her cousin, Linda Niemetz of Ancaster, Ontario, arrived Monday night, to spend a few days with their grandmother Mrs. Ellen Eaton

Truth in the wheat picture

Following the announcement of cuts in the price of Canadian wheat, a good deal of publicity has been attached to the complaint of the Japanese that they have not been offered the same price reductions as were tendered to other nations. And since Japan has for years been one of Canada's best wheat customers, a number of people joined in the indignation of the Japanese over this one-sided treatment.

But Japan isn't telling all the story, and the metropolitan news service haven't been doing too good a job of filling in some of the grey areas, either.

The truth is that Japan has been offered the same schedule of prices as has been offered to any other customer. However, it's also true that traditionally Japan has been a customer for the higher grades of wheat, usually Number Two. While there is a super abundance of wheat in the lower grades, there is almost a scarcity in Number Two, so market conditions indicated no price reduction for this grade.

Naturally Japan would like to get its wheat at a lower price, but nothing important is likely to be gained by publishing half truths, such as this biased treatment allegation. Nothing, that is, except persuading many uninformed Canadians that western farmers should take even lower prices than the unrealistically low figures offered today.

Farmers shifting rapidly

Notwithstanding all the suggestions that farmers keep on doing the same thing year after year without regard to profitability or market, then demanding that the government bail them out, estimates of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics released last week show a remarkable redeployment of effort on the part of prairie farmers generally, as compared with last year, and with the average for the entire past ten years.

The figures include seven grains and summerfallow, and show that right across the three Prairie provinces, wheat acreage is down almost a sixth from a year ago, and also from the ten year average.

In Alberta wheat acreage is only 82 percent that of last y ar, or roughly only four acres out of every five seeded to wheat last year, but well below the ten year average. However, every other crop, barley, rye, flaxseed, rapeseed, and even summerfallow, are up substantially.

Rapeseed seems the biggest and steadier gainer, at 181 percent of last year and 226 percent of the ten year picture.

The point is quite obvious; farmers aren't waiting to adjust their production, where this is practical and possible. There are, however, limits to the ability of some land to grow diversified crops; there are limits to the capability of machinery already on hand, and to the ability to acquire more; there are limits to the knowledge and experience many farmers have of working with other crops. And there are definite limits to the ability of the market to absorb all this extra production in some of these new lines.

Another interesting example of change and adaptability is that for every two growers of registered seed last year, this year there are three. Here, too, there is a limit to the capacity of the market, and doubtless some of this expensively produced seed will finally have to be marketed as just plain grain.

It's just too bad that the farmer faced such a combination of problems as government urging to produce more wheat, lower world prices, growing world surpluses resulting from bumper crops and no crop failures, and rapidly escalating costs for materials purchased and operating capital in the face of static prices for his products. Unquestionably, any one of these might have been taken in stride, but the combination of effects provides a situation where, like many another industry, agriculture needs a hand to ride it out.

Only a memory?

Something that evokes a good many memories for some people may itself become just a memory in the next few years, if the predictions of Philip Mathias, automobile editor of The Financial Post are correct. Observing that several American models will drop their convertibles as an option when the 1970 model year starts, Mr. Mathias suggests the fanciful car may soon hold just a parking spot in the junkyard down Memory Lane.

In a couple of decades, perhaps, the convertible may be remembered with the same affection as the Stutz Bearcat, the Auburn Speedster, the Stanley Steamer or the Cord. Probably even more, for that matter, for the convertible has always had the air of a sporty car, suggesting carefree driving with the wind blowing through your hair, and cooling anyone off even on the hottest days. For that matter, it even brings back memories of the sportster with the rumble seat, an excellent feature which is already buried with the shades of past automobiles. And a coupe convertible with a rumble seat in addition was just about the perfect model for many a year.

We don't know Detroit's reasoning, but they weren't just the most practical car in Canadian winters.

Amend if you will . . .

The Constitution of the USA people of the U.S. Including the was ratified in 1788-91. Its shortest Article, Five, gives the process by which it may be amended; in 138 words, it hog-ties the ons of those, to end prohibition, ten amendments of 1791, The Bill of Rights, there have been only twenty-five amendments. At least served to abolish another (the bone-dry) amendment.

Last February in Ottawa, federal and provincial leaders met to discuss alterations in the British North America Act of 1867, which is, to all intents and purposes, Canada's constitution. That Canada was not so hogtied is due rather to the happy chance of British governmental process than to premeditation. Canadians can rejoice in the relative freedom of constitutional choice. One or two other remarkable features of this gathering should be recognized.

It was held before the eyes and ears of every Canadian — not behind the Senate-Congress-State confusion that must attend the neighbor's efforts to bring his archaic set of constitutional rules into tune with the jet age. For this relative freedom of action, give thanks.

In the large group of people of distinction who appeared on TV screens, and among those of lesser prominence who were on the fringes of the picture, there was not one female figure to be seen. What have female emancipation and equality done for women beyond the installation of separate washrooms in the House of Commons and Senate? What price equality of sexes when, at the most important national conference of the decade, it was apparent that not a single woman had been given sufficient confidence by any electorate to be in a position to take part?

Booth-Lyons exchange wedding vows in June

(Mrs. Ruth Davies)

A lovely wedding of wide interest was solemnized Wednesday, July 4th at 5:30 p.m. in Calvin United Church at Ryley when Gail Patricia Lyons exchanged vows with Leslie Lorne Booth.

Rev. Stanley R. Bessey of Tofield officiated before the altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli, yellow mums, white spider mums and ivy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Lyons, her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland M. Booth, all of Ryley.

Entering the church with her father, to the strains of The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the bride was radiant in a floor-length gown of white chantilly lace poised over taffeta. Tiny seed pearls outlined the oval neckline and wrists of the lily point sleeves. Taffeta covered buttons and a wide bow gathered below the bodice silhouet to the back of the gown from which extended a rounded train. Her chapel veil of nylon net misted from a comb of brilliance. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of deep red Forever Yours roses and ivy.

Attending the bride was Miss Barbara Brown of Westlock and Miss Jean Booth, the groom's sister, as bridesmaids and Miss Cheryl Lyons, the bride's only sister, as junior bridesmaid. The bride's attendants were identical floor-length gowns of turquoise shimmer satin with separate overskirts of French blue georgette featuring short sleeves, empire waistlines rouched with two tiny bows to tone and falling to skirts of the A-line.

The groom's attendants were his brother Gordon of San Bernardino, California, Doug and Johnny of Ryley.

Mr Darryl Lyons, brother of the bride and Mr Roger Calrud, cousin of the groom, ushered guests to pews marked with tiny white bells tied with turquoise ribbon.

The bride's mother chose a mint green sheath dress with matching pill box hat of peau de soie, topped with a lace coat to tone and white accessories. A corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

The groom's mother chose a matching coat and dress of mauve fortrel complimented with accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the wedding, a reception for 165 guests was held in the Community Hall with Mr Paul Voogtlin as master of ceremonies. Rev Bessey asked the blessing.

Laid in white linen the bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, embossed with white and turquoise roses, silver doves and miniature white wedding bells. The cake, topped with wedding bells and white with silver ribbon chablis was baked by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs Enid Voogtlin. White tulle edged the cake base while crystal vases each held pink roses accented roses and baby's breath were at either side of the cake.

Guest tables were centered in white and were flanked with candles and white roses.

The Floribunda Rose

This article was written by the late Eugene A. Boerner, famous for his work with Floribunda roses, and sent to the office of All-American Rose Selections for publication just before his death.

The Floribunda rose is an evolution from the small Polyantha through intermediary sizes to the present size Floribunda rose which is becoming so much a part of the flower world. It was hybridized from varieties which had hardiness, firmness of color and general shapeliness in plant and flower. The rose itself is invariably a small Hybrid Tea and it has some features which make it very outstanding over other types of roses.

The plants remain clean and very vigorous rendered, have the tendency to resist blackspot and other diseases which has led to rebate many fallings down to the very ground. In fact, the Floribunda rose is the result of intensive effort to have roses for every poor yard which requires little care and have a great amount of bloom.

The present Floribunda is emerging that way and is going to stay as a definite factor in the rose family. It is going to be an influence in the use of roses just like the early French roses which bloomed only once in the olden days. I think the Floribunda rose is going to be one of the major items of decoration for yards, gardens and parks for many generations to come.

Showers during June held for July bride

An early summer bride, Deanne Kramer, whose marriage to Stanley Bontger was an event on July 5th, was widely entertained during June.

At a shock barbecue at Crystal Springs on June 19th, the Lakefield staff presented the bride-to-be with a lovely meat platter to her China set.

On June 26, her fiance's aunts of the Tofield area, entertained at a shower in the Community Center at Grand Forks with 60 ladies in attendance. Pink and white decorations including fresh rose peonies, and a Firestone sign set off the honored table.

June 28th was the scene of a shower in the Calvary Baptist Church basement where decorations included an old actual mom's desk and chalkboard besides flowers and streamers.

Neighbor ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Harry Martinoff on Sunday afternoon, June 29th. Assisting her were her daughters, and Mrs. Bert Torohl and Mrs. Lorn Torohl.

Delicious lunches were served at all the showers, and many lovely gifts were received.

The Opinion Polls

Surveys of public opinion have come a long way since the original Gallup Polls in the 1930s. The glaring errors or miscalculations that occurred in some surveys, such as the one that preceded the Truman victory, helped inject a healthy dose of skepticism in the public toward any image of itself the pollsters were projecting.

In the United States, the rise of the Harris polls has sharpened the awareness of the limitations of the technique. When Gallup and Harris came to substantially different conclusions though they surveys the same period on the same subject at the same time as was the case prior to the last U.S. elections, even a totally receptive public becomes very suspicious indeed.

The competition in the U.S. for the opinion poll market has led the American Association for Public Opinion Research to establish some standards and procedures for conducting polls. The association has also established a code of ethics governing the conduct of those engaged [illegible]

The annual baseball game between the champions of the Powerline Baseball League and an all-star team composed of players from other teams in the league has not yet been played this year.

The game, which will be between Tofield, this year's champions and a league All-Star team, was originally scheduled for a week ago Tuesday, but had to be postponed because of wet weather.

The game was re-scheduled for Tuesday of this week, but was again postponed because of wet weather.

It was not known at press-time last when the game would be played, but it was thought that the next suitable date probably would be this coming Sunday, in Tofield

Tofield Lions win Lamont's tourney

The Tofield Lions Baseball Club kept its winning ways alive last weekend as they swept the Lamont tournament.

Glen Winder started the first game against Andrew, getting relief from Ed Williams in the third inning. It took the Lions until the seventh inning, with two out, to score four runs and win the game 7-6.

On Monday, Glen Winder started again, against Edmonton Westway Automotives, but was replaced by Ed Williams in the third. Again Tofield came back in the top of the seventh to score two runs, win two out, and tie the game 3-3. To win the game in the eighth, John Thomson crossed the plate, while Westway were held in a standstill

Glen Winder was the first game against Andrew by a score of 3-0. The following day, Tofield lost a heart-breaker to Westlock 1-0. Eddie Williams went the distance, suffering his second loss of the year against 14 wins.

We erred last week

A story on the front page of last week's Mercury apparently misstated some information.

It was the Tofield Town Police who investigated the attempted break-in at Crown Lumber. The break-in was discovered by Walter Neufeld on Wednesday and not by Jack Wigle.

Thieves apparently left the building empty-handed and, according to reports, did not attempt to open the safe.

Holden man wins a Ford Maverick

David Brown of Tofield was best female with a 1935 calf in the Black Angus competition

Howard Brown of Tofield showed the best bull, born between Jan. 1 and April 30, 1968, in the Hereford competition. Elsa Hesberg, in the same category, exhibited the best female born in 1967.

Another Kingman resident, Fritz Adamson, in Percheron competition, picked up three awards as he had the Reserve Champion Mare, the best foal of the calendar year, and also had the best brood mare with foal.

Final results in other competitions were not available, and results concerning residents of this area will be published next week.

A Holden man, Mr. A. Schmidt, probably still finds it hard to believe his good luck. Mr. Schmidt had his name drawn last night (Wednesday) in Camrose as the winner of a 1970 Ford Maverick in a raffle held annually by the Camrose Rotary Club. This was the fifth successive year that the Rotarians had highlighted the final evening of the Camrose Fair by drawing the winner's name for their car award.

The competition is open to all females, 16 years of age or over, residents of the Camrose shopping area. The competition closes on Saturday, August 9th, 1969.

Simple tough job

It's amazing how many complaints are heard these days about the difficulty in telling the new twenty-five cent coins from the five-cent pieces. In "the good old days" it was easy, the former were largely silver and easily distinguishable from the nickel coin for the smaller amount.

But with the introduction of the new coinage, when both denominations are minted from nickel blanks, the difference in size isn't great enough to avoid a good deal of confusion. Oh, sure, when you put the two together it's easy to see that the "quarter" is much larger than the "nickel" but they don't always run together as much as they seem to go with other coinage.

It seems remarkable that with all the research and investigation that was spent on the problem of changing over some consideration was not attached to this difficult situation. Even if the five centers reverted to the old model with twelve straight sides, rather than the perfect circle, the job would be made easier. And surely the inventive genius of metallurgists today shouldn't be too strained to come up with different colors for the two coins.

We know hundreds of cashiers, not to mention thousands of housewives, across the country would welcome easier means of identification

MacDuff Ottawa Report

OTTAWA, Aug. 4—No sooner did the members of Parliament get out of Ottawa for their three months summer recess than Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau summoned his Cabinet into session. He has warned the Ministers that there will be some long hard days before they can take a break and enjoy a summer holiday. The ministers were meeting either in full cabinet or in special cabinet committees.

A big problem confronting the Government is where and how to cut government spending. Facing serious inflationary problems, the cabinet has to make some tough decisions to cope with the pressures plaguing the economy.

IDEA UNHEARD OF

Where and how to cut government expenditures is one of the difficult questions, said the Prime Minister He suggested in the Commons that there were two possible ways of making major cuts in spending:

1—"Lay off more civil servants."

2—"Cut back on some public works."

The suggestion that the Government lay off civil servants was a puzzling one in Ottawa. The laying off of civil servants is unheard of in governmental circles

A chuck with members of his cabinet as to just what Mr. Trudeau had in mind disclosed that he was thinking in terms of the freeze imposed on the growth of the civil service. That freeze was put into effect after the Federal celebrations of late 1967 by Pearson's government. Under the freeze the government has been trying to hold the level of staff at what it was in 1967 and keep it from expanding under "Parkinson's Law".

Disposing of old tires without air pollution

Taking into consideration the growing problem of air pollution, tire companies are looking for new ways to dispose of old tires without creating conspicuous black smoke reports Ron's Truck Transport magazine. It is estimated that more than 160 million tires are scrapped every year.

New disposal methods being tried include off-shore artificial reefs for fish and river bank erosion control.

Researchers have also found that tires melted down in ultra-hot furnaces yield several usable by-products, including natural gas.

One scientist has found an even more unique method of disposing of tires. He discovered that two organisms, a bacterium and a yeast-like fungus like to live off old rubber. They attack it until it is eventually re-composed.

BACKWARD ABOUT COMING FORWARD

There are people who abuse the Bureau to complain, but when asked to put their complaint in writing they "do not wish to become involved".

Lawrence H. Eldredge, in his book "Trials of a Philadelphia Lawyer" says: "The Truth cannot be determined and justice done in a courtroom, unless the people who know the truth come forward and play their essential roles in the judicial process. When they refuse to "get involved", the scales of justice strike a false balance and the pursuit of truth ends up in a filed affair."

Boettger-Good vows exchanged June 7th

thankets of pink roses and white gladiolus created the setting for the wedding in the Salem Mennonite Church near Tofield on June 7th at 3:30 o'clock when Wanda Darlene, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Clare Good exchanged vows with Derryl Lenno, eldest son of Mr and Mrs. Marvin Boettger. Pastor Harold Boettger performed the ceremony. A short meditation was given by Pastor Paul Voegtlin.

Entering the church on the arm of her father the bride was lovely in her floor length dress of white lace fashioned with lily point sleeves and a full skirt. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a floral headpiece and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white baby mums.

The maid of honor, Miss Leone Boettger, friend of the bride, the bridesmaids, Miss Carol Taylor, friend of the bride and Miss Beverly Good, main cousin of the bride were all in floor length dresses of pink shiffon. They carried cascades of white baby mums and entered with a pink rose.

Attending the groom were Gilbert Wideman cousin of the groom as bestman and Ken Boettger, cousin of the groom and Elwood Boettger, brother of the groom as groomsmen. Myron Good, brother of the bride, and Wallace Good, brother Paul nom served as ushers.

Nuptial music included selections by a quintette consisting of Mrs. Sanford Boettger, Wynanna Kauffman, James Boettger and Marvin Wideman. Soloist was Miss Leo Lauber who sang "Our Wedding Prayer" as the couple was kneeling and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Good wore a powder blue peau de soie suit with a corsage of yellow roses and white baby mums. Mrs. Boettger, mother of the groom chose a pink lace ensemble with a corsage of yellow roses and white baby chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a reception for 130 guests was held in the Tofield Community Centre.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake beautifully decorated by Mrs. Norman Stauffer. Mrs. Glen West served as master of ceremonies. Mr. John Sawyer, uncle of the bride, proposed a toast to which the groom ably responded. Miss Linda Sawyer was in charge of the guest book. Other assisting hostesses included friends and relatives from Camrose, Lindberg, Bittern Lake, Wetaskiwin and Tofield.

For a honeymoon trip to Eastern Canada the bride donned a navy blue dress with white accessories and a white corsage. For going away the bride changed to a pink dress with white accessories and a pink corsage.

The bride graduated from Tofield High School in 1967 and is employed at the Tofield Co-op Store. The groom graduated from Tofield High School in 1966 and is employed at Bittern Lake Co-op Store. After a honeymoon trip the couple will reside at Bittern Lake.

NOTICE

Until further notice, the Alberta Wheat Pool Elevator at Bardo will be open on Monday and Tuesday of each week, starting August 1, 1969.

Clothing may or may not make the man, woman or child . . . but one thing is certain: Clothes make a good-sized dent in the family expense sheet. According to the model budgets the U.S. Department of Labor put out this year, clothing accounts for about 20% of the total expenses.

Fortunately for consumers, however, clothing is probably the easiest item in your budget to save money on. Just by applying the simple techniques of planning and buying, you can save considerably on clothing . . . and linens and towels, too, especially this time of the year when many stores are featuring their "Big White Sales".

The only caution here is to be sure that it is regular merchandise that is being reduced and not specially purchased items of lesser quality. A cardinal rule of any sales, obviously, is whether or not you need the item. You should certainly plan the bulk of your clothes shopping during January and July-August when the big sales take place.

Other opportunities which exist include clearance and anniversary sales. And don't forget the end-of-season sales. This merchandise may not offer you the best selection, but you'll find some tremendous buys.

If you follow the ads in the newspapers you can keep up with the non-sale prices so that you can readily spot a real bargain when one comes along.

There are other ways of saving money on clothes. Regular routine care, for example, can keep your family's clothes looking their best longer, and just by hanging and folding clothes properly will preserve them.

Perhaps the most dramatic way of saving on clothes is the do-it-yourself method—sewing. An investment in a good sewing machine could pay for itself many times over.

If you would like further information about how you can save on clothing and fabrics, just drop me a postcard.

Modern etiquette

Q. May the bridegroom's family mail out announcements of the marriage to their friends, if the bride's family is not sending out any?

A. This would not be in good taste. They may, however, notify their friends and relatives by phone or personally-written note.

Q. When eating a biscuit and jelly at the dinner table, is the jelly applied to the biscuit with the fork?

A. No; this is for the knife.

Q. I am desirous of obtaining membership in a certain private club of which many of my friends are members. Would it be proper for me to ask one of these friends to get me in?

A. No. One of the big things that makes a private club private is the right of its members to selectivity. About all you can do is hint, as subtly and discreetly as possible, your interest in this club . . . and then wait and HOPE for an invitation.

Q. If a man goes out on a date with a girl who is driving her own car, does he properly offer to buy her some gasoline?

A. Indeed he does.

Q. My husband's name is George L. Fillmore, while my father is George A. Fillmore. Should my husband affix "Jr." after his name?

A. Because of the difference in middle initials this is not necessary.

Q. If you are talking with someone on the phone and the line is suddenly disconnected, who is supposed to retain the call?

A. Normally, the person who made the call should make the second call after a brief pause. However, if there is no return call in five or ten minutes, the other individual may replace the call for a change.

Better English . . .

Fantastic hearts

A tribute of Mordecai Indians has proved that the human heart and reserves of endurance beyond the most fantastic imagination, medical scientists from the University of Oklahoma Medical Center report.

But unless the Tarahumara Indians now numbering 50,000 adopt modern contraceptive practices they may be destroyed by the medical brehavance that are saving their children Up to now, eight out of 10 Tarahumara children have died before their sixth birthday Local natural resources are too limited to support a population explosion, the Oklahoma scientists fear.

Dr. Dale Groom, who headed the study team, says the Tarahumara Indians can run continuously for 100 miles or more at a speed f six or seven miles an hour without undue strain or any heart enlargement. This proves that "most of us, brought up in our comfortable and sedentary civilisations, actually develop and use only a fraction of our potential cardiac reserve."

Tarahumara runners apparently never drop out of a race or game because of chest pain or shortness of breath. However, leg cramps and kidney problems sometimes cause trouble.

Holden area population shows 10 per cent gain

The population of the Holden area has increased by 10% since Holden and Ryley began their Edmonton satellite projects a few months ago.

Seven families have moved into the town and another five families are living on farms in the Holden area, with a total of 27 new residents in both town and country.

Transportation problems to and from Edmonton are in the process of being remedied with a 12-passenger bus already in service and plans being made to purchase four smaller-type passenger cars for use by workers or students working or going to school in close proximity to each other.

No accurate figures on population increases in Ryley or Tofield were available Tofield joined the movement nearly two months after it went into operation

The Edmonton "satellite" project was a joint venture of the Ryley Lions Club and the Holden Chamber of Commerce, with the newly organized Chamber of Commerce in Tofield being responsible for bringing that town into the plan.

Basically, the idea is to offer Edmonton residents homes at reasonable rental rates or the opportunity to purchase residences at a much lower cost than would exist in the city of Edmonton.

Some of the advantages of living in smaller communities such as Ryely, Holden or Tofield are that the people can become more involved in community life, a more healthy environment for raising families and a lower cost of living

At the moment, the Satellite Committee is now engaged in conquering the transportation problem, and are asking that all residents bordering on Highway 14 and who commute back and forth to Edmonton to work or go to school, to contact the Committee so that transportation arrangements can be made by Don Mazankowski, M.P.

Communities interested can contact any of the following: Jim Ramsbottom in Tofield, Neil Reid in Ryley, Mel Warren in Holden, or phone 688-2865 in Holden

Report from the House of Commons

The great rules debate is now history. Standing Order 75-C is now in effect. It has been forgotten for the moment, but no doubt, much more will be heard of it when once again Parliament gets underway, in the Fall.

Most Canadians became familiar with the name "Rule 75-C" during a lengthy and bitter debate in Ottawa last month. But no doubt there may be many who never fully understood just what it was all about, or what effect this change in the procedure will have on Parliament and upon the country.

Standing Order 75-C is a procedural device that will permit the government to decide how much discussion is to be allowed on any given piece of legislation by deciding beforehand how much time is allowed for each stage of the Bill's program through Parliament.

This is a radical departure from the old manner of arranging House business. Before 75-C, if time were to be allotted to the passage of a Bill in the interests of speeding up business, it was arranged by general agreement between all parties in the House. Now this time allotment will be the sole right of the government, if it so desires, with no need to consider or to consult any other party or even the public interest.

With this power in its hand, the government will be able to ensure that even the most popular or controversial legislation can be whisked through Parliament with a maximum of study or protest. From today onward, the government will be able to enact laws so quickly, that the public upon whom the law will be binding, will scarcely be aware of its scope or nature.

This has been called "closure", but it is a great deal more than closure, a great deal more effective and a great deal more dangerous.

Closure is simply a means of bringing prolonged debate to an end. 75-C can stop it before it starts. It can unilaterally be imposed as a muzzle before anything happens, granting as little as four days debate on any given piece of legislation within a period of ten days.

Closure has been available to Canadian governments for many years. But it was always regarded as a drastic weapon, to be used only as a last resort—and then only after debate had been in full as to become redundant.

It was a device rarely used—so rarely in fact that closure has only been applied during debate three or four times over the past sixty years.

But the last time it was used was the most important time, for this government used closure to ram through Standing Order 75-C—hence imposing a permanent restriction on debate by closure.

The closure device was a relatively simple thing. When the government decided in its own good judgment, that debate had been long and exhaustive enough and further discussion constituted a filibuster, they could move a motion bringing debate in a compulsory end within a matter of hours of introducing the motion.

It was last used before this in 1956 to bring the prolonged debate on adoption of a national flag to a close. It was used before that in the early 1956's during debate of controversial Defence Production legislation, and again on that dealing with the Trans-Canada Pipeline.

But always closure has been used rarely and carefully, and only when there had been already considerable open discussion of the issue.

This device for terminating debate remains available to the government, but it is now obsolete. There will be no need to resort to this method when Standing Order 75-C grants the government the power to restrict debate in advance.

It makes one wonder why the government, already armed with the power of closure was so anxious to re-inforce themselves with a weapon so arbitrary and autocratic as Standing Order 75-C. Furthermore this session promised to be one of the most productive sessions ... [illegible] ... However the immediate ... [illegible] ... of opposition ... [illegible] ... allowances or at least modifies to limit the contributions of these ... [illegible] ... of the system by making ... [illegible] ... payment of the family allowance ... dependent upon a means test.

Whatever the intension of the government may be, one thing is certain—75-C will drive the ordinary Member of Parliament farther into the background and make it almost impossible for him to make the views of his constituents known in the House of Commons.

The essence of our system of government is that every taxpaying voter has the right to express his views on how his money is being spent and his business done, through the voice of those he elects to represent him in Parliament.

One of the most important effects of Standing Order 75-C is that it enables the government

Severe rationing of debate will make it impossible for any but one or two principal speakers on either side to be heard.

This is the real effect of this great rules debate to the ordinary Canadian. It is a parliamentary device forced through the House by the government majority that will short-circuit the voice of the people and places the government beyond effective criticism.

Whatever reason the government had for bringing this measure forward at this time, and in the manner in which it was done, will become fully apparent after October 22 when the House of Commons is once again in session.

Holden couple honored on 25th anniversary

On Friday, August 8th, the Masonic Hall in Holden was filled to capacity with many friends and relatives, who had met to celebrate the 25th wedding anniversary of Edith and Melvin Carlson. This worthy and respected couple have spent most of their lives in the community and the esteem in which they were held was evident by the large number of friends who had come from out of town and surrounding district to help celebrate the occasion. Mrs. Kathleen Hurum and her committee had done a wonderful job in organizing and planning the affair, making it a big success.

The hall was tastefully decorated with lovely flowers and emblems suitable for a silver wedding.

The evening was spent in a social way, those who wished playing cards while others were happy to visit.

Melvin and Edith were later escorted to the head table which was beautifully decorated with sweet peas, white candles in silver holders, the table being centered with a three-tiered wedding cake which had been made by Kathleen and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Charles Zwiarschke. Seated at the head table with the guests of honor were their former attendants and those who had taken part in the wedding of 1944. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson had been married by Rev. Gesara, the father of Mrs. Bateman who has just recently left the community.

Mr. Lyle Grosland in a very able manner introduced all the guests seated at the head table and informed all that Mrs. Kathleen Hurum who had made this wedding cake, had made the first wedding cake and organized the wedding feast also. Mrs. Campbell was then called upon to make the presentation, which was a purse of money from the community, also gifts from close friends of the bride. Mrs. Campbell remarked of the fine children this couple had raised.

Bob, who is at the coast and was unable to attend, has already distinguished himself in his line of business and their daughter Vivian, a charming girl will be in her fourth year at university this fall, taking education. Eric is still with them.

Melvin, in a few chosen words, thanked all for coming to their party. Edith also in her modest way said it had made her very happy to meet her friends. Lyle then asked Vivian to say a few words which she did very gracefully.

A beautiful lunch was then served and as ended one more happy occasion, the like of which can never be found but in the dear small towns.

Out of town guests attending the event were Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Robinson; Mr. and Mrs. Brian William; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Salk; Mr. and Mrs. Jim McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Story, Mrs. Martha Hurum and Mr. Art Seigal, Mrs. Alice Jones; Miss Vivian Carlson, all of Edmonton and Mrs. Jack Good of North Hollywood, California.

H.R.L. Mary Semotiuk of Holden Lodge OORP is shown presenting a cheque for $100 to Mr. W. G. Langford in donation towards the Holden Community Hall Building Fund. In 1968 the organization made a donation of $100 towards a number of chairs for the Community Hall, this being their project that year.

Cenotaph names lost in cleaning process

Vandalism at Hallowe'en and other occasions has resulted in the complete loss of names of veterans of the First World War from the Cenotaph in Holden.

The Cenotaph was defaced by the throwing of rotten eggs at Hallowe'en last year and later was splashed with paint, so that it presented a dismaying spectacle to the community and especially to veterans.

Arrangements were made to have the stone cleaned by sand blasting, but before anyone anyone noticed, the sand blasting entirely eroded the names of veterans of World War I from the Holden area.

Unfortunately, there is no other record in the community of the names which appeared on the stone, and as result these names are now "lost"

The hope is that someone may have a picture taken at Homecoming Day or some other period, over the years, which would show those names, and anyone with picture of the Cenotaph would be welcomed. It is suggested they call Bert Taylor of Holden about possible use of pictures. Even a picture which show a part of the Cenotaph might be useful, since a number of them might help piece the whole together.

If the list cannot be obtained from local sources, community spokesmen feel the only recourse will be to the Department of National Defence in Ottawa, where the records are all complete. Unfortunately, they are not maintained by communities, but alphabetically by name, so that reconstruction of the list through this source would be a Herculean task.

Names of the Second World War veterans were inscribed in a different manner, and suffered no damage in the cleaning process. It is thought the carving of the first names was rather shallow, and this, coupled with the fact they have weathered and eroded for almost half a century, made the obliteration easier than it might have been in a harder stone. The sand blasting process normally removes a very slight portion of the surface, but in this instance too much force was used by Mrs. O. H. Taylor

Jim Campbell of Leduc, a grandson of Mrs. Campbell of Holden, returned home from Ontario Monday. It's not all work . . .

Attending summer Bible Camp isn't all work and study, as this picture taken on the basketball court last week during the Tofield Baptist Bible Church Camp shows. Held at Hastings Lake, the camp ran from August 10 to 17, and featured an excellent attendance of 85, including supervisors. Several youngsters from Kingman joined in during the camp studies.

In answer to the inquiries for any child (3 yrs. and upwards) can take lessons. Anyone willing to try can dance — no special talent or equipment (e.g. shoes) is necessary.

Dancing helps give a child a sense of rythm, self-confidence, pride, and muscular development. These qualities are important aspects of athletic ability and co-ordination, and assist greatly during the awkwardness of teen years.

Classes will commence mid-September. In my home, 1 mile West, 1½ miles North of Lindbrook Store. The fee is 75¢ per lesson. Classes are available during the afternoon for pre-schoolers, and after school or evening for older ones. Straight highland or tap groups are available, or combination fun groups of singing, dancing, exercise, ballet and performance.

I sincerely hope that many of you will be able to give your child this added opportunity in development. Besides which, we're going to have fun learning.
